Kidnaper Is Caught; Child Unharmed

TAKE ABDUCTOR OF INDIANA GIRL IN WISCONSIN

Elkhorn, Wis., Aug. 26 [Tuesday].—(AP)—[Special.]—A man hunt that spread over three states ended here last night when Claude Dillner, 27 year old farm hand, was captured with 10 year old Betty Ann Foster whom he had kidnaped last Saturday evening from her father's farm near Valparaiso, Ind. The girl was tearful but apparently unharmed.

After hours of hard driving Sheriff Burney Maxwell of Valparaiso arrived here early this morning with a deputy and a neighbor of the Fosters, Charles Sims. Within an hour the party started back to Indiana with the prisoner and Betty Ann.

Tells Why He Took Child.

"I took her because I loved her," said the farm hand, a navy deserter and former employe of Betty Ann's father, Ernest Foster. "I thought we could go away and be happy together. I soon realized what a mistake I made, because Betty cried most of the time. I never meant what I said about killing her if they chased me."

"Lucky you didn't," Sheriff Maxwell interjected. Hundreds of Foster's neighbors, armed with shotguns, scythes, and pitchforks, had been searching the swamps around the Foster farm for forty-eight hours in belief that Dillner had carried out his threat, expressed in a note, to slay his captive if pursued.

Chicagoans Cause Capture.

Alertness of two Chicagoans, James F. Mulhearn, 937 North Ogden avenue, and Clayton Cheever, 9224 Bishop street, brought about Dillner's capture. They were on vacation at the Crane company's farm near Lake Como, Wis., became suspicious when they saw the man and girl, and notified Lake Geneva police.

The farm hand, having quieted Betty Ann soon after their departure with purchases of candy and a suitcase full of frocks, struck out for Whitewater, Wis., where he hoped to find employment with the Stone Construction company, for whom he worked in 1928 After deserting from the navy. They camped that night along the highway west of Chicago and on Sunday proceeded to Wisconsin.

On Sunday night Dillner parked his coupe along the road near Lake Como, locked Betty Ann inside, and slept in a copse beside the road. The two were washing their hands in a brook yesterday afternoon when Cheever and Mulhearn observed them. Having read of the kidnaping, they were suspicious and blocked the road with their cars as Dillner started his car.

Claims Girl Is Niece.

Asked about the child, he said she was his niece, and explained the Indiana license plates by saying he had recently moved from that state to Chicago. He was permitted to go on, but Cheever telephoned Police Chief James E. Cronin at Lake Geneva.

Patrolman Albert Exner, who is also a Walworth county deputy, was sent to investigate. The suspect, he found, had taken Highway 50 west, although it was barricaded for bridge construction. Trailing, he found that Dillner had circumvented the bridge construction by driving through a farmer's field.

Exner followed the tracks in the soil and came out on Highway 36, leading to Williams Bay. There a motorist recalled having seen a battered coupe with a young man and a child inside speeding north towards Elkhorn. Ten minutes later the siren on Exner's car brought the kidnaper to a stop, two miles south of Elkhorn.

Denies His Identity.

"You're the kidnaper," the deputy accused him. Dillner protested, gave his name as Johnson, and said the child was his cousin.

"What's your name, little girl?" asked Exner. Betty Ann gave her name in a piping voice and quavered that she wanted to go back to her father's farm in Indiana.

Dillner told how, after spending Saturday afternoon visiting the Fosters and accepting their invitation to supper, he had driven Betty Ann, her brother, Kenneth, 11 years old, and her sister, Annabelle, 8, to the nearby village of Maidea and bought them candy.

"I always liked Betty best and had resolved last spring to take her away, but I didn't have the money then," he said.

CITY TREASURER WARNED TO HOLD LA SALLE ST. CASH

City Treasurer Peterson yesterday explained that he is withholding the payment of $3,500,000 to property owners for land taken by the city for the widening of La Salle street on the advice of his attorneys that he might be held personally liable for money distributed if the attacks on the validity of the ordinance authorizing the improvement are sustained. Peterson already has paid out approximately $1,000,000 from the bond fund.

The litigation involving the improvement was started by the Moody Bible institute, which has a frontage of 558 feet on the portion of La Salle street that is being widened. The city offered the institute officials $544,838, which was countered with a demand for an additional $1,000,000. The Illinois Supreme court ruled in favor of the city, and the institute now is attempting to carry its case to the United States Supreme court.

Officials of the M. E. White company announced that they would continue the paving of the street between the old building lines and place the sidewalks, which are to go on the acquired property, after the suit has been settled.

CITY REAL ESTATE VALUATOR ROWS WITH COPS; SHOT

At the entrance of the East Side police station, 10120 Ewing avenue, last night Nels M. Wedberg, 37 years old, a realty evaluator for the board of local improvements, who had been denied permission to speak to the jailed keeper of an alleged disorderly house, was shot in the chest by Policeman Alvis Meyer. He was taken to the South Chicago hospital in serious condition.

Three hours after a raid in which 21 persons had been seized in a flat at 13251 Carondolet avenue Wedberg appeared at the station and demanded an interview with August Pedlak, booked as keeper of the raided place. His request denied, Wedberg was forcibly ejected from the station.

Officer Meyers, who had manned the patrol wagon on the raid, was starting on another call when Wedberg approached, berated him, and struck at him, according to other policemen. Meyers drew his gun, which Wedberg attempted to wrest from him. In the struggle the gun discharged and Wedberg fell.

Asks Undertaker to Call, Shoots and Kills Himself

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP)—After notifying an undertaker to come to his house, Aaron Appel shot and killed himself tonight, presumably because of ill health. He was 74 and had been a prominent clothing dealer here for many years.

Saving a Man's Life Prevents Saving Woman

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Irving S. Johnston, 25 year old artist, kept alive for a week by an "artificial lung" at the Children's hospital while suffering from infantile paralysis, was reported today to be "slowly recovering." Johnston's wife and their 14 month old son are watching the battle from outside the glass case, in which Johnston is confined.

Johnston was brought to the hospital in what virtually was a dying condition. He was immediately placed in a "drinker" respirator, a newly developed device, which forces the lungs to expand and contract by artificial action. Too weak to breath, Johnston had his breathing done for him by the machine. He gradually improved.

For One Life, the Other Death.

A week ago Miss May Jean McCulloch, 30, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McCulloch, 816 Anza street, was brought to the hospital. Her case demanded the same treatment as Johnston's. Johnston was taken from the respirator and immediately began to sink.

The hospital authorities had to choose between saving his life and that of the woman. They had to decide that one should live and the other die. They had to decide which would respond most successfully to that strange engine of artificial breathing.

There is only one of these "drinker" respirators in the west. That is in the Children's hospital, where the two patients desperately needed it at the same time on last Thursday night.

Since then a well known philanthropist of San Francisco has donated $2,000 for another machine to be installed at the hospital, and plans for still another somewhere on the west coast are under way. The ordinary pulmotor will not function in the way the "drinker" machine does.

Death Takes the Loser.

If there had been two machines it is probable that one death notice would not have appeared in yesterday's papers. Down in their summer bungalow at Mount Hermon, in the Santa Cruz mountains, yesterday the woman's elderly parents were struggling to meet the most poignant grief in life's ruthless scenario—the loss of an only child.

"It was between her and Johnston," said the nurse at the hospital. "Johnston was already in the machine. He is a young man of 25, an artist and an art director of a publishing house here. He is married, and has a baby boy just 14 months old. His wife, Ruth, is devoted to him. She has been here every minute we will allow her to stay. Mr. Johnston had been in the respirator a week when the emergency concerning the other patient arose. Both of them were stricken with infantile paralysis."

When Johnston was taken from the respirator his diaphragm would not function. He couldn't breathe. Doctors held a consultation, decided that Johnston had the greater claim, and put him back. Miss McCulloch died, there being no other respirator of this type west of Chicago.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A sharp heat wave struck this city today, sending the temperature in a few hours from 69 to the day's peak of 91 degrees at noon. Surrounding localities reported thermometer readings from 8 to 12 degrees higher. The government meteorologists blamed it on a wind from the deserts of eastern Arizona and Nevada, and said the hot weather will continue for several days.

FREEMAN STAYS AFTER HEARING ON ZUTA LOAN

Mayor Takes Action on Council Advice.

Chief of Police William O. Freeman of Evanston, whose letter seeking a loan from Jack Zuta, murdered vice lord and gang leader, was found in one of the gangster's secret safe deposit boxes, will be retained in office, it was announced last night by Mayor Charles H. Bartlett.

The mayor's exoneration of Freeman was announced at a meeting of the city council of Evanston, after Freeman's status had been discussed in a closed session of the aldermen.

Mayor Makes Statement.

Mayor Bartlett, in the presence of the aldermen, said:

"During my sojourn in Colorado, my attention was called to the fact that in the box of one Jack Zuta was found a letter of W. O. Freeman, chief of police of Evanston, and signed by him.

"Immediately I called Chief Freeman and he requested me to investigate every angle of the affair. Fortunately, I knew of Chief Freeman's financial condition at the time he had borrowed money from Jack Zuta, but I did not know it was borrowed from Zuta. I found it was used legitimately by the chief to pay off a judgment which resulted from his having to vacate his home in Chicago before he came here as chief, and for his home after he was established in Evanston.

Confidence in Freeman.

"I talked the matter over with the aldermen. It was their opinion that this is a matter that the mayor must decide. I believe they all have confidence in Chief Freeman's ability and integrity. They have criticized some of his activities at time, and I have criticized some of his activities, but they still have confidence in him.

"This is not a whitewash. This is an investigation into his integrity, honesty, and efficiency. For that reason, I state that I am retaining Chief Freeman for the remainder of his term and for the remainder of my term."

Letter Asks $400 Loan.

In his letter to Zuta, which he signed, "Your old pal, Bill Freeman," the Evanston police chief asked for a loan of "4 C's," or $400, but upon being questioned by Assistant State's Attorneys Charles F. Rathbun and Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, Freeman stated he had borrowed only $300 from the gangster. The next day Freeman announced he had paid the money back.

After the mayor's announcement last night, Chief Freeman, found in his office at the police station, said:

"There is nothing for me to say except that I gave to Evanston to the best of my ability in the past and that I will continue to do so in the future."

Warrant for Von Frantzius.

Peter Von Frantzius, sporting goods dealer, was being sought last night on a warrant issued by Judge John H. Lyle, charging Von Frantzius with being accessory before the fact of the murder of Alfred Lingle.

Chief Investigator Roche, who was assigned by State's Attorney Swanson to investigate the gang outrages which culminated in the slayings of Julius Rosenheim, paid informant of the Chicago Daily News, Alfred Lingle and Jack Zuta, said that neither he

Mrs. O'Donnell Wins Women's Pacific Derby

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Like a base runner stealing home Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell of Long Beach, Cal., scooted on to the Curtiss Reynolds airport at 3:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon in a cloud of dust, winning the women's Pacific Coast air Derby and $3,500 prize money. Her scarlet and yellow striped Waco monoplane made the 2,245 miles at an average speed of 156 miles an hour. Her elapsed flying time was 15 hours 13 minutes 16 seconds.

Almost in the propeller wash of the Waco, so close behind was she traveling on the final lap from Milwaukee, Mrs. Mildred Morgan of Beverly Hills, Cal., set down her Travelair ship a few seconds later for second place and a $2,100 award. Jean La Rene, of Kansas City, won third place over Ruth Barron and Ruth Stewart and taking a $1,400 prize.

Leads All the Way.

Her short blonde curls bobbing on the back of her neck beneath her leather helmet, Mrs. O'Donnell pushed up her goggles and smiled at the excited crowd that milled about her plane as it taxied to a standstill beside the runway. She had led each of the 17 legs of the race which started at Long Beach on Aug. 17, and she wasn't surprised a bit when she found she had won.

There wasn't a fleck of dust on her smooth, clear complexion nor a hair of her bob disarranged. Her flying costume consisted of a blue silk shirt and beige breeches. As she stood up in the cockpit to pose for the cameramen with a huge floral horseshoe of pink gladioli across her shoulders, a tall slim man pushed through to her side and she gave him an excited little laugh as she leaned over to kiss her husband, Lloyd O'Donnell.

Greets Throngs in Stands.

Microphones were pushed across the side of the ship to allow the victorious aviatrix to tell the listening radio fans what she thought about the finish. Movie men shouted for her to look this way and to look that.

Next Mrs. O'Donnell was boosted to the shoulders of a couple of men and carried in triumph to the broadcasting stand where she called her greeting to the thousands in the stands, and turned about to have more floral trophies shoved into her arms. Then she was claimed by interviewers.

"It was a fine race," she said. "I'm pretty sure we averaged about 20 miles an hour faster than in last year's Derby. I came in second in that. Louise Thaden was the winner. Just about the time we started I had a bit of motor trouble, but I got that straightened out and it's been fine this last part of the way.

Her Husband Follows.

"Am I a mechanic? Only enough to know what's wrong. But I didn't need to be. I had my husband following me to keep my motor in tune, and if he hadn't done so, I probably wouldn't have won at all."

One after another Mrs. O'Donnell's friends among the air race visitors broke through the surrounding throng to clasp hands with this popular collected young woman and to give her warm congratulations. Among them were Mrs. Clema Granger of Santa Monica, Cal.; Mrs. Mary C. Alexander of Lynchburg, Va.; Elinor Smith of New York, Sally Eilers [Mrs. Hoot Gibson] of Hollywood, Miss Marjorie Vail of Pasadena, official hostess for the feminine flyers, and a number of other women pilots and aviation enthusiasts.

Mother of 2 Children.

Mrs. O'Donnell is the mother of two youngsters—Lorraine, 7 years old, and Junior, 5. Her husband operates a flying school at Long Beach and she has been piloting planes for two years, having been instructed by her pilot-mechanic husband.

"Will women ever pilot transport planes?" somebody asked her.

SET RACE FIELD AS NEW GOAL OF GERMAN FLYERS

Pilots Add to Tricks at Air Classic.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

The national air races at Curtiss field will become the goal of the most recent airplane to cross from Europe to America, it appeared last night, as word was received from Berlin that Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau had been requested by his employers to continue his epochal flight to Chicago. The German flying boat in which Capt. von Gronau and his thre companions made the arctic crossing is now at Halifax, but is scheduled to take off for New York this morning.

This additional feature to the race program appeared during a day filled with aviation thrills, the arrival of more performers and the completion of two cross country Derbies — the women's Pacific coast Derby and the men's Pacific class A Derby. The day at the races was designated as German day, and thousands of German-Americans were present for the special events.

Officials Wire Invitations.

News of the probability of the visit to Chicago first came in dispatches from THE TRIBUNE'S Berlin bureau, which stated the Dornier company, builders of the seaplane, had cabled their American office to request the flyers to continue on to Chicago for the races.

Following this news Col. Robert R. McCormick, chairman of the board of the Chicago Air Race corporation, which is underwriting the air meet, and Earle H. Reynolds, president, immediately sent a message to the German ambassador in Washington requesting that the ocean flyers be invited to come to Chicago.

Their request was supplemented by an invitation sent to the flyers yesterday from German-American organizations attending yesterday's program of the races. If the Germans arrive they are expected to reach here late in the week, toward the close of the ten day race meet.

Blum Wins Men's Derby.

Blum ended his 2,100 mile race across the Pacific northwest only a few moments after the women's Pacific Derby got in and he had to dodge a flock of ships rounding the pylons in a closed course race. Nick Mamer, refueling transcontinental flyer of Spokane, piloting a Stearman biplane, was second to finish and Floyd Keadle of Portland in a Waco was third.

Blum's elapsed time was 18 hours 24 minutes and 31 seconds. The Pacific coast flyers, who will participate in the $7,000 prize money, started from Seattle last Thursday.

Many Thrills Added.

The army flyers uncorked a series of new tricks during the afternoon program. Capt. Frank Hawks, transcontinental record holder, arrived on the scene, the international flying team went through their paces, and the blimp Puritan floated in and hung around the horizon during the day, adding to the variety of flying craft at the races.

Race officials reported favorable replies to inquiries sent to Washington, D. C., with a view to securing a flight of the navy dirigible Los Angeles to Chicago. Navy officials at the races expressed the opinion that the Los Angeles, if it should come, would not moor here, but merely pay its respects to the races, fly about for a time and hurry back to Lakehurst.

Charles [Speed] Holman of Minneapolis, who holds many prizes for races around the pylons, finished first in a free for all race for planes of 300 horsepower, but was disqualified for cutting No. 2 pylon. The race went to Ben Howard of St. Louis, flying a Howard special, the smallest plane in the show. Evert Williams of New Orleans was second and G. L. Hart third.

Late in the afternoon the foreign flyers took off for a performance, while Lieut. Al Williams, former navy flyer who is managing their show, took the microphone to let the air fans in on what a stunt flyer thinks about while he's stunting.

Lieut. R. L. R. Atcherley, British Schneider cup racer, getting better each day, added a few new quirks to his inverted flying. Yesterday he

Fur Prices Continue Low for Remainder of Week

A couple of dancers kept going longer than any ever did before. A boy outsat all previous tree sitters. A flyer scooted across the continent faster than Lindbergh. These are some new world's records 1930 has given us. There are others. Here's one: More women than ever before have made plans during summer for keeping warm in winter.

The furriers are responsible for this last record. Thanks to lower skin prices, furriers have been offering coats at the lowest prices in memory. At Chicago fur stores reductions in price from a year ago are sensational. Results followed. A number of leading stores have already reported that a larger number of women have bought coats than ever before in August. We should note that there's another week left to take advantage of the unusual prices. It's still a great time to buy a fur coat.

Chicago Tribune

Williams worked up no little excitement over the Englishman's performance.

The thousands of Germans on hand saw their countryman, Capt. Fritz Loose, put a Great Lakes trainer for the special German day program through fancy tricks. His performance was the more commendable because the ship was the second strange craft added to him for performance in the meet. The first day of the races he washed out his Junkers and since he has been going aloft with strange American ships to try stunts that few pilots would attempt.

Williams Tests Plane First.

Al Williams tinkers with his engine all day to get in shape for a performance.

Just before dusk he took it up for the first time on a testing trip. For a half hour he went through wild maneuvers, but his performance was several miles away from the field and his Curtis Hawk was only a speck on the horizon.

Hawks, flying his speedy monoplane that bears the number 1313, hurried into Curtiss field in the middle of the afternoon, ending a fast flight from Wichita, Kas. He made the trip in 2 hours and 45 minutes, and his average time was 208 miles per hour. He considered the speed only incidental.

Late in the evening he hooked his cabin glider Eaglet to a plane, was pulled up to 2,000 feet and stayed in the air for 15 minutes finally soaring in to land. It was a test flight. Today he will take his place on the program with this feat.

Army Demonstrates Attack.

The army bombers under the command of Capt. Henry Pascale and the first pursuit group of 18 planes from Selfridge field put on a joint demonstration of aerial attack.

As the slow bombers rumbled 50 feet over the field the Hawks, for a time almost invisible in the haze 5,000 feet aloft, roared down and swept above the slow bombing craft simulating attack.

At noon the navy planes from the Lexington showed Chicagoans for the first time their trick of flying in formation with their wings tied together. They turned, climbed, maneuvered and landed without severing one of the ropes that bound them wing to wing.

Expert Glider Injured.

Kenneth Carr, 25 years old, expert glider from Detroit, was seriously injured when his ship crashed 20 feet during the preliminaries. The tow rope failed to release as the glider fell and the ship was dragged. Carr was given first aid at the field and taken to Evanston hospital, Evanston. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Carr, reside at Pontiac, Mich.

Another thrill not scheduled on the program excited the spectators at the close of the day's events. Bert White of Los Angeles, holder of the world's altitude record for parachute jumping, was headed for the middle of the stands as he floated down, sustained by two parachutes. White saved himself, and perhaps a few spectators who got tangled in the rush from under White's feet, by slipping out of his harness and hanging to the shroud lines with his hands. No one was hurt, although the soles of the parachutist's feet burned for a time from the landing on the concrete promenade.

Day's Program Complete.

Yesterday's program was a full one. The events began early in the morning and included a men's dead stick landing contest won by John Livingston, Aurora pilot; a model airplane contest, won by William Griswold of 1612 South Halsted street; strafing attack by the army fighters, and another "crazy performance" by Al Wilson of Los Angeles in his old Curtiss pusher.

Because it was governor's day Lieut. Gov. Sterling was on hand. The day was also dedicated as German day, women's aviation day, and engineers' day.

dence in them," replied Mrs. O'Donnell.

"Why should they—they don't run street cars, do they?" asked Mr. O'Donnell. Gathering up the bouquets he prepared to follow his wife as she moved toward the women pilots' headquarters.

Second Place Winner.

Some one undertook to chaff Mrs. Morgan, who climbed out of her plane in an orchid silk flying suit and pulled off her helmet to reveal dark hair bobbed close to her head. She has three children—more than any other contestant.

"Well, you're first on the youngsters but second in the Derby," teased an acquaintance.

"Yes, but I wouldn't trade places in the events for any money," Mrs. Morgan replied.

Miss La Rene revealed that her most exciting moment during the race occurred near Enid, Okla., where she headed into a storm while trying to find the airport. Lightning was striking all around her and she thought once it had struck one wing.

Lands in Wheat Field.

"Finally I found a comfortable wheat field to land in," she said. "I really prefer corn fields, but I couldn't find a single one, and it was no time to be choosy."

Mrs. Morgan's time for the Derby was 21 hours 18 minutes 35 seconds and Miss La Rene's 21:45:49.

Mrs. Mae Haizlip, who crashed in Kansas while on her way to Washington to compete in the women's Dixie Derby, has recovered sufficiently to make the trip to Chicago with her husband, Jimmie Haizlip, in his plane. They are expected to fly here today.

Amelia Dodges Luncheon.

Amelia Earhart left Women's day at the races minus one of its big moments when she passed through the airport without stopping for the famous flyers' luncheon held at noon in the hangar. About 11 o'clock yesterday morning she deftly landed her Lockheed Vega from Washington, D. C., with five passengers, including "Shorty" Cramer, who has twice attempted to fly to Europe by the northern route.

An automobile was waiting and Miss Earhart hurried to it and was whirled into Chicago to fill another engagement. Later she returned to the field, but only to take off for Indianapolis, where she was to be a guest at the dinner given for Rear Admiral Byrd by the governor of the state. Fraulein Antonie Strassmann of Berlin was another of the feminine celebrities who took off during the afternoon for the same function. Her pilot was "Casy" Jones, who on Sunday staged a big comeback as a racer.

Gallantry Wins Day.

About the time the various club members had seated themselves for the women's luncheon it was discovered that the masculine flying stars had been ushered in as guests for an engineers' luncheon, and had preempted the speakers' table it was thought had been prepared for the women.

Gallantry won the day, and the matter was settled by the honor guests of both functions mingling amiably and taking turns at the loud speaker. Dr. Irene Behnke, head of the Pioneer Women's Aircraft association, presided for the feminine contingent.

Women pilots present included Miss Strassmann, Mrs. Betty Lund, Miss Elinor Smith, Miss Lorraine Defren of Boston, president of the Wing and Prop club; Manila Davis, Opal Kunz of New York, who arrived in her Travelair biplane; Mrs. Mary Alexander of Lynchburg, Va., only woman flyer of that state, who appeared little older than her 17 year old son; Mrs. James Granger of Santa Monica, Cal., Mrs. Hoot Gibson, and others.

Mme. Elisabeth Rethberg of Ravinia and Fraulein Strassmann were guests of honor for the German day observance, together with Capt. Fritz Loose. Acting Consul General Paul Schwarz delivered the greetings of the German government.

Mrs. Charles Walgreen, wife of the chain drug store proprietor, arrived at the airport in her Sikorski amphibion plane. During the afternoon she took a number of guests on trips over the airport.

Spotlights on Aces and Other Notables

It was revealed yesterday by actual demonstration that the autogyros land more gently than do parachute jumpers. Following demonstrations by the autogyros, race executives announced the autogyros, with the aid of their revolving wings, settled to earth at a speed of 12 feet per second, while parachute jumpers land at a speed of 20 feet per second.

Dean Smith, who was with Admiral Byrd at the South Pole as a pilot, flew in from Reno yesterday. Buzz Clark, 1220 North State street, who will enter the sportsmen's pilot race Friday, saw Smith when he emerged from his plane. It was the first time they had met since they were in the 97th squadron during the war. Smith was one of the first air mail pilots in 1920.

Marjorie Stinson, who taught her brother, Eddie, how to fly, arrived yesterday and will be here all week as a spectator. An Alabama girl, Miss Stinson, taught the army how to fly—she was a civilian instructor at Dayton during the war.

Ephram W. [Pop] Cleveland of Cleveland, chief of operations at the races, is responsible for everything from dust clouds to the management of temperamental women flyers. Pop got a degree in agriculture at the University of Virginia, but he'l never been on a farm. He took up flying in 1910 and has been at it ever since. In his old barnstorming days his contemporaries included Lincoln Beachey,

Fred Clarke and Roy Wilson, the flyers in the movie "Hell's Angels," drew a big hand yesterday when in their black Travelair and white Waco they performed some daring stunting.

Last night's crowd was the largest night crowd at the races yet. Many of the boxholders who were absent during the day were there and the unreserved seats were packed.

Duke Jernigan, who towed Capt. Frank Hawks across the continent on his transcontinental glider trip, is here with him to do the towing honors again.

Two men crashed the gate at the women flyers' tea in the hangar yesterday. What is more, they demanded hot tea instead of iced tea, and got it. They were Capt. F. G. M. Sparks, formerly of England, now of Montreal, and Marshall M. Fass, director of the Montreal Light Aeroplane club. Capt. Sparks taught Lady Mary Heath and Lady Mary Bailey to fly.

The tiny white 90 horse power home made plane of Ben Howard of St. Louis developed motor trouble just before the civilians' free for all event at the national air races yesterday. His mechanic cranked and cranked. After all the other five contestants had got away Howard was able to start, but with a cold motor. The crowd cheered as he passed four of the participants, finishing behind Charles "Speed" Holman of Minneapolis. Holman, however, was disqualified for cutting pylon No. 2 and Howard was declared the winner.

Lieut. Marcel Doret is trying hard to learn English. Yesterday morning he beamed his ready smile at Mrs. Florence Williams, wife of Al, and said proudly, "Good morning, my God!" His face fell when she laughed at him. Then he explained in French he had meant to say, "My dear."

Sergt. John G. Stanton, who had 18 months in France with the 42d division, and Sergt. John Bandek, wounded veteran of 21 months' service with the 2d division, raised the German banner and the American at the flag raising ceremony.

Harte of Wichita, Kas., in a Cessna. Winner's average speed, 162 miles per hour. Charles Speed Holman, who came in first was disqualified for cutting Pylon No. 2.

Civilian closed course race [for planes of 275 cubic inch displacement; 25 miles; total purse, $750]—First—Art Chester, Joliet, Ill., in a Leblonde-powered Davis; second, B. W. Dizzle of Kansas City, Leblonde-powered Inland sport; third, Freddie Lund, Troy, C., in a Leblonde-powered Davis. Winner's average speed, 112.29 miles per hour.

Civilian's closed course race [for open planes with O. X. 5 motors; 25 miles; total purse, $1,000]—First—Art Chester, Joliet, Ill., in a Travelair; S. J. Whitman of Bryan, Wis., in a Phesant; R. G. Strahm of Americus, Ga., in a Bird. Winner's average, 102.1 miles per hour.

Men's Dead Stick Landing Contest—First, John Livingston of Aurora and Freddie Lund of Troy, O., who landed within 22 feet of the flag; second, F. G. M. Sparks and M. M. Foss, both of Montreal, 25 feet seven inches from the flag; third, R. D. Rae of Lansing, Mich., and R. M. Fessler of Marshall, Mo., 28½ feet from the flag.

Model Airplane Contest [duration contest]—Won by William Griswold, 1612 South Halsted street, whose plane remained in the air for 17.75 minutes.

Marine Corps Race—First, Lieut. L. H. Saunderson; second, Lieut. R. B. Burchard; third, Lieut. R. H. Kerr. Winner's average speed, 142.6 miles per hour.

Primary Duration Gliding Contest—First, W. B. Brunken of Maywood, in a Waco. Time, 80 1-5 seconds; second, F. W. Westphal in a Mead, time, 39 seconds; third, E. D. Palmer of St. Joseph, Mich., in a Mead, time 37 1-5 seconds.

Soaring Plane Duration Gliding Contest—First, J. E. O'Meara of Akron, O., in a Baker McMillan Cadet, time, 1 minute 38 seconds; second, W. H. Harris of Chicago, in a Chicago Gliding school glider, time 1 minute 14 seconds; third, E. D. Palmer of St. Joseph, Mich., in a Midwestern, time 58 seconds.

Parachute Jumping Contest—First place winner was Ralph Lapere of Cincinnati, O., who landed 47 feet 6 inches from the flag.

MRS. OMLIE IN SPEEDY FLIGHT TO SPRINGFIELD

Dixie Derby Flyers Due in Chicago Today.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Phoebe Omlie of Memphis, Tenn., flew the 89 air miles from St. Louis in forty-two minutes late today to hold her lead in the women's Dixie Derby from Washington, D. C., to Chicago as part of the tenth national air races.

Mrs. Omlie's elapsed time after the latest leg was 10:47:54, putting her more than two hours and 51 minutes ahead of her nearest rival, Mrs. Marie Bowman of Hempstead, L. I., who flew in second with time for the lap of 53 minutes 6 seconds.

The women will make the last hop to Chicago tomorrow morning.

Seek a Race Winner.

The refusal of Mrs. Omlie and Mrs. Martie Bowman of Hempstead, L. I., leading entrants in the Dixie Derby, to accept $300 in prize money for the lap ended at Monroe yesterday left Memphis officials puzzled today as to disposal of the prize.

The tangle was referred to Derby officials, who said they would find somebody for the $300 when the race ends tomorrow at Chicago.

Miss Walker Turns Back.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Forced out of the women's national air Derby here yesterday, Miss Vera Dawn Walker took off early today for Chicago, but turned back after a few miles because of low oil pressure.

Los Angeles Flyers Ready.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Four of the five entrants in the nonstop air race from Los Angeles to Chicago were standing by their ships at Metropolitan airport in San Fernando valley tonight, hopeful of last minute weather reports which would enable them to take off around dawn.

The four eager pilots are Col. Roscoe Turner, Lee Shoenhair, William Brock, and Wiley Post, all but Turner equipped with 190 miles an hour Lockheed Vegas, powered with 425 horse power Wasp motors.

Col. Arthur Goebel, the fifth contestant, probably will not hop off until Wednesday. His Lockheed is undergoing final adjustments.

BARON FLIES HIS WORLD GIRDLING PLANE AT RACES

PALE DRY

HOOVER STANDS FIRM ON DRY LAW, FESS SAYS

Senator Outlines G. O. P. Achievements.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—There will be no weakening in President Hoover's stand in support of the 18th amendment.

Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], the President's choice as chairman of the Republican national committee and himself an active dry, made this evident tonight in a radio speech outlining the issue of the senatorial and congressional campaign.

Senator Fess delivered his address following week-end conferences with Mr. Hoover at the latter's Rapidan camp. It was apparent that his emphasis upon the prohibition, agricultural, and tariff issues was in accordance with the President's ideas of how the campaign should be waged.

Inquire Into Crime Conditions.

"The President is uncompromising on the necessity of enforcement of law," said Senator Fess in dealing with prohibition. "No subject has appealed to him in a greater degree than the tendency toward violation of law. He appointed a commission of notable ability to investigate and report its findings on the subject of crime. He has taken a strong stand on the enforcement of the 18th amendment and has presented to congress recommendations of legislation to more effectually enforce the law, chief of which was the transfer of the enforcement division from the treasury to the legal department of the government. He has attempted to secure the best possible available talent for the service.

"In addition, he has directed efforts to reach an agreement with Canada to reduce the importation of liquor. Some of his recommendations to congress have already been enacted into law, while others remain for final action by the two houses."

Republican Achievement.

Senator Fess divided the subject of Republican achievement into three parts, thus:

"First, the obligation in domestic policies which we entered into in Kansas City.

"Second, the unparalleled accomplishment and leadership which the administration has shown in meeting two great disasters which have come to the American people in these short eighteen months.

"Third, the accomplishments of the administration in advancement of world peace."

Reviewing platform obligations Senator Fess referred to farm relief and tariff revision as the two of outstanding importance. He asserted that the farm relief bill was enacted in accordance with the platform pledges and that the farm board is making progress toward assisting the farmer to solve his own problems.

Senator Fess defended the present tariff law at some length, asserting that it will not interfere with foreign trade and that consumers will not be burdened by increased prices of protected goods.

Tells of Party Pledges.

Senator Fess praised President Hoover's handling of the situation which followed the stock market crash, described the London naval pact as a notable service toward the peace of the world" and ratification of the treaty as "the most substantial undertaking toward actual world peace and against war that has yet been concluded."

"The American people will be able to have a succinct statement of the accomplishments during the first year and a half of the Republican administration under President Hoover," said Senator Fess.

"The program completed will include party pledges, fulfilled implement in government service, and enforcement, great constructive program entailing additional outlay, economy in administration permitting a reduction of taxes to the amount of one hundred and sixty million dollars, development of inland waterways, merchant marine, conservation of our national resources, maintenance of the Republican principle of protective tariff, definite and long sustained relief to agriculture, a constructive program of social improvement and a foreign policy looking to the consummation of world peace.

World Wide Depression.

"In the face of this unparalleled accomplishment of legislative and administrative service our opponents have nothing to offer the American people beyond attack and flippant references to personality, employing expression as the chief argument to get into power.

"The economic depression was the result of a world wide condition which existed before this administration came into office. After the economic depression, came the drought, which limited the living income of many of people and entirely destroyed

"The economic depression was a result of a world wide condition that existed before this administration came into office. After the economic depression, came the drought, which limited the living income of millions of people and entirely destroyed the sources of income of great numbers. The President again called conferences for the relief of those who were suffering from the effect of the drought. Political opponents and obstructionist sneers at the efforts of the President and refer to the disasters as 'Hoover' prosperity. As a matter of fact they merely lend emphasis to the transcendental ability of the President as an organizer and all the criticism has served only to strengthen the confidence of the people in his leadership.

Calls President a Success.

"It brings before them in bold relief the characteristics of a man who has plumbed the depths of human experiences fro mthe vicissitudes of an orphan boy to the presidency of the greatest nation in the world. They see in him the engineer, the builder and the leader. The man who in the stress and turmoil of a bloody war organized and conducted the most stupendous charity in history. The man who organized and systematized the production and conservation of food on the greatest scale known to mankind.

"In all these undertakings he has succeeded. He is succeeding in stabilizing the economic condition of America. The people have confidence in him and they measure in their own minds the continued disasters which would follow the present situation if they had not in the White House a man capable of understanding where to find the remedy."

Parent Vanishes

Jackie La Mar, 19 months old, was taken to the South State street police station yesterday by Mrs. Ida Vaughan, owner of a rooming house at 1823 South Michigan avenue, who said the mother, Mrs. Julia La Mar, 21 years old, had disappeared three weeks ago after saying she was going to a hospital. She has not returned and the baby will be placed in an orphanage, probably St. Vincent's today.

Mrs. Vaughan said an unidentified man brought the mother and baby to her establishment three months ago, saying he had found both lying in the street, the woman ill and the child hungry. He paid a week's board and rent for them and left. When she recovered Mrs. La Mar found temporary work in a loop restaurant and was visited once by her husband, after whom the baby was named. Mrs. La Mar promised to return in one week when she left for a hospital, the landlady said.

2 English Ex-Officers to Girdle Globe in Tiny Car

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Two ex-officers of the British air force left London today in an attempt to travel around the world in an eight horse power sports model motor car in five months. They are Capt. Max Hay and W. E. Woolveridge. Their proposed route covers 25,000 miles.

C. G. TROUP AND CHICAGO WOMAN MARRY IN EAST

Clarence G. Troup, president of the Chicago Curb exchange, was married yesterday in New York to Miss Grace McNamara, Chicago real estate woman. He is 59 years old and she is 35.

Mr. Troup was divorced last year by his wife, the former Mrs. Dorothy Poppenhusen, who listed 21 counts in a cruelty charge. She was awarded a settlement of $30,000, of which $20,000 was in cash.

His new bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McNamara, 1648 East 50th street, were reluctant to discuss the marriage.

2 BEACONS FOR FLYERS TO BE IN USE THIS WEEK

Lindbergh Light Will Flash Tomorrow.

Two lofty guideposts for night flying airmen will be dedicated here this week as a part of the ceremonies attending the national air races. One, the Lindbergh beacon, will begin its nightly circling of the horizon from atop the Palmolive building following its dedication tomorrow evening. The other, the sun flash beacon perfected by Architect A. N. Rebori, will be lighted the following night on the roof of the La Salle-Wacker building.

It appeared problematical yesterday whether Col. Lindbergh would be present at the ceremony for the beacon named after him. He was first reported as not intending to visit Chicago this week, but yesterday a report was current that he would arrive early today, or perhaps tomorrow. He has been invited to attend the ceremonies.

Gift of Elmer Sperry.

This beacon is the gift of the late Elmer A. Sperry, who presented it to the city of Chicago as a tribute "to the pioneer spirit that dares its life to vindicate man's mastership of nature." It consists of two lights, one mounted above the other, the upper light having an output of eleven hundred million candle power and so fixed as to direct airmen to the municipal airport.

The upper light is of 2,000,000,000 beam candle power, according to Engineer R. Bohmfeldt of the Sperry company, the "beam" designation indicating that the finger of light has been amplified by being cast into an an inflector and its source multiplied. At its height of 602 feet it can be distinguished in good weather by flyers more than 250 miles away, if the aviators are flying at 3,000 feet, Mr. Bohmfeldt said. It is set to revolve twice each minute, and is canted two degrees above the horizon.

A person on the ground can easily distinguish the beam from a distance of twelve to thirteen miles, the engineer said.

Useful in Daytime.

The light perfected by Mr. Rebori is a stationary beam and will be useful to aviators in the daytime as well as at night through reflecting the sun's rays by the utilization of mirrors. At night, the arc of the light covers an angle of 180 degrees, Rebori said, and he believes its beam, shining upward, will be visible for more than 100 miles.

A steel framework for the mirrors and the lights has been placed on the roof of the La Salle-Wacker building and will support eight 36 inch parabolic cross section mirrors, five feet in height, to catch and reflect the sun's rays. At night, neon tubes will perform the same service.

TWO FALL TO THEIR DEATHS.

Mrs. Myrtle Skoglund, 31 years old, 6102 North Mozart street, fell down the back stairs of her home and died in the Swedish Covenant hospital. Paul Kasten, 57 years old, a waiter, stumbled on the stairs at 541 North Clark street and was found dead an hour later.

GIANT GERMAN PLANE TO FLY TO NEW YORK IN 4 HOPS NEXT MONTH

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Aug. 25.—The Dornier DO-X, Germany's monster flying ship, will make an Atlantic flight to New York in four stages—one of which will end at a ship cruising midway between the Azores and Bermuda, according to the plan finally agreed upon here today. The actual Atlantic flight, which will commence at Lisbon some time in September, will be entirely a daylight affair.

A decision has now been reached to charter the salvage ship which is stationed at Bermuda and sail her to a point half way to the Azores. The DO-X will then make a daylight flight from the Azores and land alongside the vessel, where it will spend the night riding to a sea anchor. In the morning the plane will take on extra gasoline and take off for another daylight jump to Bermuda.

If things go well, passengers may be taken from Bermuda to the statue of Liberty. The purpose of stationing the ship at the half way point of the longest stretch is not because any doubts are entertained of the huge craft's ability to make the full distance, but to enable it to carry less gasoline and hence a greater useful load.

ASK MODERNIZING PLAN FOR ARMY, NAVY AIRCRAFT

The closing sessions of the meeting of the National Aeronautic association were held at the Hotel Sherman yesterday. The association adopted resolutions advocating a five year program for modernizing the aircraft of the army and navy. The delegates also urged construction of a national airport, which "national dignity demands" on the banks of the Potomac, and a closer coöperation between commercial and military aviation.

A resolution to instruct the national air race committee to inform cities of the location of the yearly races two years in advance was unanimously adopted by the association.

Governors for the state branches of the national association were elected in the afternoon. Dwight Morrow, United States ambassador to Mexico and Republican candidate for senator from New Jersey, by long distance telephone from Mexico City, accepted the governship for New Jersey. Col. Philip Kemp, former head of the Chicago Aero commission, was elected governor for Illinois.

ONLY 3 AVIATION CONCERNS BID ON AIR MAIL ROUTES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Three major aviation companies were the only bidders on contracts covering the newly designated transcontinental airmail routes, one from New York to Los Angeles, and the other from Atlanta, Ga., to Los Angeles.

On the New York-Los Angeles route, the Western Air Express and the Transcontinental Air Transport submitted a joint bid of 97½ per cent of the maximum rates, while the United Avigation company of Pittsburgh submitted a bid of 64 per cent of the maximum. Atlanta-Los Angeles route was submitted jointly by the Robertson Aircraft corporation and the Southwest Air Fast Express at 100 per cent of the maximum rates.

TO SAVE YOUR EYES

THE EYE—is one of the most complex, delicate and easily injured mechanisms of the human body.

Eyeglasses must be made to very exacting, scientific standards—involving as in the Almer Coe Laboratories from 15 to 29 separate operations and no less than seven verifying tests for accuracy.

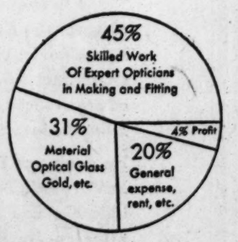
WHEN about to purchase eyeglasses it is well to give a little thought to the possibilities of helping or injuring your eyes, which such a purchase involves.

Eyeglasses are not merchandise to be bought and sold in stores at prices depending solely upon the wholesale cost of certain standard lenses and parts.

It is most important that the lenses be ground with scientific accuracy to the requirements of each individual's eyes and the glasses fitted so as to hold lenses at exactly the correct position before the eyes and at precisely the right distance—or serious and injurious strain will result.

In this professional work, for almost half a century Almer Coe and Company have held a position of leadership. And yet for correctly made and fitted glasses of dependable quality Almer Coe charges are extremely moderate.

HOW THE DOLLAR SPENT FOR ALMER COE EYEGLASSES IS DIVIDED



NOTE: Largest item of cost is for expert, scientific making and fitting, without which one might better not have eyeglasses. The small profit is multiplied by large volume.

FLYER TELLS HOW HE FLEW OCEAN VIA NORTH ROUTE

Von Gronau's Own Story; Hampered by Fogs.

BY WOLFGANG VON GRONAU

(Chief pilot of German plane, which flew by northern route from Europe to America. The plane will fly from Halifax, N. S., for New York today.)

[World Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times company and The Chicago Tribune. Copyright in Germany by Ullstein A.-G. All rights reserved.]

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 25.—Many people have been wondering why I kept my plans for this flight a secret. The reason was that such a flight necessarily involves complications that may prevent its success, and as a pilot I did not want to be blamed if the formally announced plans were to miscarry.

Our object was to get training in long distnce flying for myself as head of the state commercial aviation school at Warnsmuende and for some of my pupils, the present members of my crew.

Flew from North Sea.

We took off from the most northern island of Germany, the Isle of Sylt. Weather conditions were rather good when we started. We had waited three days for a heavy storm to clear, but as soon as we were near Shetland islands we came into a depression.

Here we met a strong wind and heavy rain. This rain lasted until we came to the Faroe islands so that it was difficult to find the entrance of the small harbor, where we intended to refuel. Only the fact that I had been there twice before made it possible for me to get in. We alighted in torrential rain and were forced to cover the engines and the plane to prevent the equipment from being ruined.

Next morning the weather had changed to fair and we flew on towards Iceland, thinking we would have a good flight. But hardly had we left the port when we met thick fog and clouds reaching up to 6,000 feet. We had to fly the whole time in fog or over clouds.

Shortly after our arrival in Iceland the weather got bad again and we could not go on, but had to wait another day.

Plane Once Used by Amundsen.

Now we faced the most hazardous flight of the whole trip, as we were traveling in an old plane—a plane, in fact, which had been used in the northland by the late Roald Amundsen—and we had not a large supply of fuel. Moreover, on this hop we had to fly over a great waste of icy northern sea. There were no ships below to cheer us and we knew that if we had to descend it would mean our deaths.

During the whole of our flight to Greenland there raged a heavy storm and the water below was rough. It rained nearly the whole way. We had to fly very low.

Because we could not take any astronomical observations and could not get any bearings we had to trust to our compass, our navigation, and estimate drift as well as we could.

Coming to the west coast we had marvelous visibility and it was not so very difficult to find the place where we had our fuel stored—Invigtut, in the Arsuk fjord. It was just good luck, for the place is very small and we were worried for a time.

The next day the weather was clear but hardly had we taken off for the jump to America when we were again confronted with our old enemy—the fog. Before we had flown very far we were in another storm with heavy rain, nevertheless after seven hours' flying we passed over the wireless station of Gready island, Labrador. From there we had only to fly a few minutes to reach our fueling base, Cartwright harbor, Labrador.

The next morning we made an early start intending to fly to Halifax.

Wireless messages told us that visibility was better on the west coast of Newfoundland. So we steered for it, then along the coast down to Sydney, Nova Scotia, which we recognized by the huge smokestacks of the steel plants.

Weather reports from Halifax told us that weather conditions were bad on the south coast of Nova Scotia, with fog and rain around Halifax. Nevertheless, we tried to go on, but did not succeed, as we were always in danger of crashing on the rocks which loomed below us, as the rain forced us to fly low. Therefore we decided to retrace our course a little way and came down at Queensport, in Guysborough county, 130 miles from Halifax.

We spent the night at Queensport harbor and this morning set out for Halifax. Fog loomed up again, and we were forced down at the beautiful little village of Marie Joseph, still 100 miles from the city. But a small plane from the Halifax Aero club came to our assistance and led the way to the city.

And here we are, mighty glad to be in America and feeling that the worst part of our trip is over.

[Copyright: Drake Studio Photo.]

Announcement was made yesterday of the remarriage of Lloyda Smith Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd James Smith of 448 Barry avenue, to George W. Shaw. The wedding took place on Saturday at Tonawanda, N. Y. The couple will make their home in the east after a motor trip.

The Smith-Shaw wedding in July, 1918, in St. Chrysostom's church, 1424 North Dearborn parkway, was one of the fashionable marriages of the war period. The Shaws went to Mount Clemens, Mich., where Mr. Shaw, a lieutenant, was stationed with the aviation corps. Mrs. Shaw's mother, Mrs. Smith, said last night that the couple were divorced after a secret hearing in Chicago seven years ago.

Mrs. Shaw, a member of the Junior league, has been active in the Chicago branch of the Arden Shore association, having been Chicago chairman for the last six years. She is secretary of the Chicago branch of the Northwestern university settlement.

TEARS, NOT BOOPS AS HELEN TELLS OF THAT $50,000

Posner Receiver Is Kind, but Wants Money.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—When Helen Kane, musical comedy and motion picture actress, was called upon this afternoon, at a hearing into the bankruptcy of Murray Posner and Jack Eisen, dress manufacturers, to turn over to the receiver $50,000 paid to her by Posner recently, she broke down and wept.

Her attorney, speaking in her behalf, turned down the demand, declaring that the $50,000 represented money which Miss Kane had entrusted to Posner to invest in Liberty bonds for her.

Asks for Adjournment.

When Miss Kane had recovered from her crying, C. Edward Benoit, attorney for the Irving Trust company, the receiver, resumed his examination of her gently, but broke it off after a few minutes and asked Referee Olney, before whom the hearing was held, for an adjournment until Sept. 15 out of consideration for her artistic temperament. This was granted. Mr. Benoit, however, declared that the receivers would insist that the $50,000 be paid back.

Miss Kane explained she had always thought that Posner was a "very rich and very prosperous man" and that it was only when he called on her in Chicago Aug. 13 that she learned from him he was in trouble. He asked her, she said, to say the money represented a loan and to forget about the Liberty bonds, and when she refused, she testified, he became so abusive she had to call the hotel detective.

The payment of $50,000, alleged to have been made with the bankrupt firm's money, was discovered last week by Benoit.

Miss Kane explained in answer to questions that she had engaged a safe deposit box in the Foreman National bank in Chicago in the name of Mary Marks, she had put $90,000 worth of Liberty bonds, which she purchased last Monday, in this box. Mr. Benoit asked why she had not used her own name.

"I'm afraid of the people of Chicago," she said. "They are so tough out there."

Miss Kane had testified previously that Posner had first recommended that she buy Liberty bonds with her earnings two years ago.

Accordingly she gave him at various times in two years a total of $46,000.

Miss Kane said that she was unable to find all of her checks given to Posner but she did produce checks totaling $26,000.

CHANEY PASSES RESTFUL NIGHT; CRISIS IS TODAY

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—After passing a restful night last night, Lon Chaney, film star, napped again this afternoon, and his physician in chief, Dr. John Webster, said the two periods of rest may put Chaney on the way to recovery. The actor will reach the crisis tomorrow in an attempt to fight off anemia and a complicated infection of the bronchial tubes.

"He passed his best day in three days," Dr. Webster stated. Chaney's wife, the former Hazel Hastings, was at St. Vincent's hospital with him.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

PERU PRESIDENT FLEES AS ARMY SNATCHES RULE

Sails Away; Several Are Slain in Riot.

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Peruvian cruiser Almirante Grau steamed into the Pacific ocean today, carrying into obscurity President Augusto B. Leguia, the 67 year old man who seized the Peruvian government by a coup d'état in 1919, and since had ruled the country as a dictator. He resigned before dawn this morning in compliance with the demands of a military junta.

Following his departure violence broke out. Several members of a mob which ransacked the Leguia home were killed. Martial law was decreed by the provisional government here after the disturbance.

Servants Shoot at Mob.

The mob, part of great crowds which roamed the streets all day shouting for vengeance against the fallen politicians of the dictatorship, broke in the door of the former president's home with a motor truck. They were repulsed by servants, who fired the shots ending in the casualties. Another group attacked and ransacked the home of the former foreign minister Pedro José Rada Gamio.

When political prisoners at central prison heard of the governmental upset they demanded to be freed. The warden refused and fired two shots into a crowd of men. They attacked him and the resultant confusion caused a fire. Several were taken to a hospital.

Ponce New President.

Upon President Leguia's resignation the junta immediately established a new government, headed by Gen. Manuel Ponce. The new government then guaranteed safe conduct out of the country to the former president and the journey to Callao, port of Lima, began. At 5:15 a. m., accompanied by his son, John his son-in-law, Alfredo Larranaga, and the remainder of his family, Leguia went to the dock and walked aboard the Almirante Grau, which immediately steamed out.

The cruiser was scheduled to connect with the British steamship Orduna, which is due in Panama Aug. 29, at sea. Some of his supporters were at the pier and cheered him farewell as the cruiser pulled out, while catcalls were heard from others.

The dramatic events which unseated one of the strongest rulers of South America began only a few days ago. Late last week the garrison at Arequipa revolted under the leadership of Lieut. Col. Sanchez Cerro, and the revolt soon spread to other districts in the southern part of the republic.

Nothing occurred in Lima, but the city had a restless air yesterday. This grew into excitement when the cabinet resigned in view of the southern movement.

Meanwhile students began demonstrations during the morning, shouting "Down with the dictator! Long live liberty!" In the face of this the president followed his usual Sunday custom of going to the St. Beatriz race track. He left the track about 6 p. m. and his motor car, escorted by police, was followed by students who shouted against the dictatorship. The cries were taken up by great crowds, who by this time were being disgorged from the motion picture theaters. The party reached the presidential palace without incident, however.

Leguia conferred with his military staff and announced the resigned cabinet would be replaced by one headed by Gen. Pedro Pablo Martinez. Military men refused to accept Martinez and the president designated Gen. Fernando Sarmiento to head the new government. After the new cabinet had been sworn in at midnight the military committee refused to accept the president's choice and Gen. Ponce declared the junta would not accept Sarmiento.

Rebel Leader War Chief.

The president thereupon went to his private rooms and wrote his resignation, saying:

"I hereby close another chapter in Peru's history."

The junta then drafted a communique telling that a new government had been formed, saying that Sanchez Cerro, the man behind the revolt, would be given the post of minister of war. Gen. Ponce was named president.

Orders President's Return.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 25.—(AP)—A dispatch from Arequipa, Peru, today reported that the Peruvian cruiser Almirante Grau, aboard which former President Leguia and his family took refuge after his resignation, is believed to be steaming back to Callao.

Col. Sanchez Cerro, leader of the insurgent movement, ordered the warship by wireless to come straight to Mollendo, port of Arequipa, and deliver the fleeing president to him. Sanchez Cerro threatened to hold the ship's commander responsible if the message were not complied with.

The report also says that the southern revolt commander conferred by telegraph with the military junta in Lima. In response to an invitation from Gen. Ponce to come to Lima, he replied that he did not recognize the junta.

"The only government is that of Arequipa," he said. "If you wish, you may send two officers whom I shall name to confer with me, giving them full powers to negotiate. We cannot lose any time."

American Aviators Held.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The state department is not unduly concerned about the safety of two American aviators reported in the hands of Peruvian revolutionists. Officials expressed the opinion tonight that the two men, Capt. H. B. Grow of Greenville, Mich., and Elmer Faucett of Savona, N. Y., soon would be released. It was felt that President Leguia's resignation had largely wiped out the cause for further disorders.

Grow is a former American naval flyer and Faucett is an official of the Faucett Aviation company. He was seized at Arequipa. Grow was captured Sunday at Camana.

Fred H. Bartels, proprietor of the grocery and meat market at 435 Main street, Glen Ellyn, has just acquired a $4,000 membership in the rapidly expanding Joseph R. (Yellow Kid) Weil Town and Country Confidence club, it was learned yesterday. He will appear this morning in Municipal Judge John A. Sbarbaro's court to see that a warrant is served on George Lutz.

Lutz, Weil, and Fred Buckminster three weeks ago were accused by Joseph Kindelberger, head of the Kalamazoo (Mich.) Vegetable Parchment company of swindling him out of $15,000 in a fake copper mine deal. Since then Mr. Kindelberger has had a change of heart and is writing a monograph. He says Weil and Buckminster have returned part of the money and given him notes for the balance.

Same "Come On" Used.

Mr. Bartels read about the Kindelberger case in THE TRIBUNE last Saturday. He remembered that ten days previously he had been approached in much the same manner as had Mr. Kindelberger, whose confidence the swindlers won when they offered to buy his parchment plant. The swindlers convinced Mr. Bartels that they wanted to buy his grocery business.

"Name your price," they had replied.

So he had named what he considered a fancy figure. The following Tuesday the swindlers phoned him to meet them in Peoria to close the deal.

Lutz, veteran confidence man of the Weil gang, and another man met him at the station. They went to a hotel. They handed him what seemed to be a certified check. It was for $4,000 more than his price. Would he give them a check for the difference? He would. Next day the certified check bounced back on Mr. Bartels.

Asks Chief for Help.

After Bartels read of the Kindelberger swindle he went to the office of Chief of Police Fred R. Onthank of Glen Ellyn. He wasn't in. He was visiting in Evanston. Mr. Bartels finally established communication with him and they visited the bureau of identification in Chicago, where Mr. Bartels indicated the picture of Lutz. He wasn't so sure about Weil.

Lutz is to be arraigned in Judge Sbarbaro's court this morning for the Kindelberger fraud, despite the fact that Mr. Kindelberger said he had decided to drop criminal proceedings because he had arranged a "settlement." Kindelberger was censured for his action by the Chicago Better Business bureau on the ground that Weil would get the money to repay Kindelberger by swindling others.

TRICKED OUT OF $7,000

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fillwock, farmers of Spinks Corners, north of here, are out $7,000 of life savings because they listened to two slick strangers, who had twenty-four hours' start before authorities were informed of their loss. Mr. Fillwock, 60, and his wife wanted to sell their farm. A stranger heard of it, visited them, and gained their confidence.

While he was there another tall, blonde man arrived, telling a weird story of how his father years ago had robbed a farmer in Berrien county and later became rich in the Texas oil fields. He told the son to find the man named Schultz and pay him. If he could not find Schultz he was to distribute the money—$10,000—to three honest Christian farmers.

The blonde stranger and the dark haired farm buyer became friendly at the Fillwock home and told the Fillwocks they would put the $10,000 in a box in exchange for their $7,000 for the farm. They did so and were not seen again. The box contained paper.

RUSSIAN FLEES SOVIET PRISON 'SLAVERY CAMP'

Reaches Finland and Tells of Red "Inferno."

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 25.—I have just been talking to a "refugee from hell." His name cannot be told, for although he has escaped from the central "hell" of the Solovetski islands, members of his family, still in the outer "hell" of Russia would probably be sent to the inferno from which he escaped. I will therefore call him Alexis Nicolalevitch, a Russian of the middle class.

Every word he told me rang true and is a damning indictment against the slave labor system, under which lumber, now flooding the American and European markets, was produced. He said it is little exaggeration to say that every log represents a human life, and no exaggeration that every log produced is the result of the deepest depth of human degradation and suffering.

Cellar Is Palace to Refugee.

I saw Alexis in a bare cellar here, where he had just arrived after an eight day hike through the forests covering 100 miles with one companion. He regards the cellar as a palace. He is 24 years old, alert, intelligent, rather small of size, and fair, and, until more than a year ago, was a student in a Leningrad military medical school. He admits he was never a communist, but declares he never took part in any political movement.

In June of last year he was seized by the Cheka on the charge of being a counter revolutionist. Although he was not tried, he said he was sent to the Solovetski camp, which now, instead of being confined to a single island, covers the whole district and contains more than 250,000 slaves, who, he said, are being worked to death in order that Moscow may be able to undersell the products of free labor on world markets.

With a number of other victims, Alexis declared, he was herded into a prison railway van like a large freight cars with the doors and windows unglazed but heavily barred. He was first taken to the island of Popoff and set to work clearing forests. As soon as the guard discovered he was a medical student he was made sanitary officer, which meant that, although he was unqualified, he was the sole medical attendant in a camp of more than 500 persons.

Both Doctor and Nurse.

It meant no additional privileges, he said, only release from the severe physical labor, which, however, was exchanged for exhasting toil as doctor, nurse, and everything else to a community rotten with disease.

In his particular section the prisoners, most of whom were peasants, who had resisted farm collectivization, and a few intelligent persons like himself, were put to work hauling logs out of the lake to the sawmills. The work had to be done by hand, or with such primitive ropes and levers as the prisoners themselves could improvise from grass and timber. The men were forced to go in the water up to their chest in all seasons, and most of the logs had to be lifted out by main strength.

The work began at 5 a. m. without food, and tasks were set for each man. The strongest and most skillful were able to finish by 11 p. m. but the weakest of them were working continuously until 2 a. m. The first food of the day came at 4 p. m., when a bowl of coarse porridge and three and one-half ounces of black bread was served.

Meat Never Served.

The only other food was supper, on return to camp. It consisted of barley soup, the proportion being about 50 grains of barley in two quarts of hot water and a few pieces of rotten fish floating in it, with a small ration of black bread. Meat was never served.

If the men became too weak to work, Alexis said, they were beaten with clubs or rifle butts by the guards, and the favorite punishment, if the victim was a small man, was for a huge Chekist to hoist him above his head and dash him to the ground. Several men died of rutpured intestines under this treatment, the refugee explained. In summer the men were punished by being stripped and tied to a tree where mosquitoes tortured them for hours. In the winter the men were exposed to the bitter frost without clothing. In order to escape many men mutilated themselves by cutting off fingers, or even their whole hands, and there were some who died of gangrene, when the Cheka refused surgical treatment.

During the autumn and winter, typhus raged and no medicines and few disinfectants were allowed. If it was not for the fact that the Cheka agents themselves were afraid of infection nothing would have been done. Alexis estimated 60 per cent of the camp's population suffered from typhus during the year and more than half of them died. Scurvy was also prevalent, and chest disease rife.

Expectant Mothers Shot.

About 20 per cent of the prisoners were women, and for them it was a "special hell," Alexis continued. They were chiefly employed to clean offices, but were also compelled to accept the advances of Cheka agents, he said.

The Chekists did not want children born in prison camps and expectant mothers frequently were taken to the forest and shot while 'trying to escape,'" the refugee said. "If they had children, they nearly always were reported to be still-born."

Alexis told a story of one intelligent girl of 20 who refused the demand of a Chekist that she become his mistress. He threatened to send her to a military camp for the common use of soldiers and she took poison. Doctors revived her and the story was told to the Chekist's superiors, but nothing was done to punish him.

Alexis estimates that in the whole northern prison district there are 1,000,000 such slaves and they are all employed in getting out timber for export.

Alexis now has a temporary job sweeping the streets here and hopes to save enough money to get to Paris, where he says he might get help to finish his medical education.

BURGLARS STEAL FIFTY PISTOLS FROM ATTORNEY SHORT

Attorney Benedict J. Short, Criminal courts lawyer, returned yesterday to his home, 2552 North Kedzie boulevard, to find that burglars had taken his most valued possession—a collection of firearms—while he was away on vacation. The police were concerned because it places in the hands of criminals approximately fifty revolvers and pistols.

The attorney has for years made the collection of revolvers and pistols his hobby. The collection included nearly every make of firearm known.

The burglars not only took the firearms, but also carted away three fur coats and some jewelry valued at $4,000 belonging to Mrs. Short. The bars on a rear window were sprung some time Friday, it is believed, because the tools were left behind and were wrapped in a newspaper of that date.

WOMAN ADMITS HIRING 'GUNMAN' TO KILL HUSBAND

"Slayer" Proves Policeman in Disguise.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Admitting she had agreed to pay $750 to have her husband killed, Mrs. Ella Bartel, 41, today told police a story of alleged cruelties since her marriage in 1911.

Her plot failed when a "Chicago gunman" she had hired to kill her husband, Albert, a blacksmith, 45, turned out to be a patrolman.

Mrs. Bartel is charged with conspiracy to murder, as is Robert Hahn, 32, who resides with his parents above the Bartel flat. They were arrested after she had made an offer to kill her husband to Probationary Patrolman Charles Calcaterra.

Reports Case to Police.

Calcaterra, acting on information supplied by Roland M. Hughes, a painter, called with Hughes on Mrs. Bartel, representing himself as a Chicago gunman. Hughes had been requested by Mrs. Bartel to commit the crime, he said, and he reported the case to the police.

According to police, both Hahn and Mrs. Bartel signed a promissory note for $750, payable after Sept. 1, to Calcaterra, "for services." Mrs. Bartel also gave Calcaterra her husband's photograph and a description of his automobile, advising him to kill Bartel soon after the latter had left his place of employment to give her and Hahn time to visit relatives and establish an alibi.

Loves Husband, She Says.

"My husband has always been cruel to me," Mrs. Bartel said. "The only way I can explain my decision to have him killed is that I was just getting over one of his beatings. The idea never occurred to me until last Friday. I am glad it didn't happen, because I love him, although I was never able to convince him of it."

Bartel's life is insured in his wife's favor for $2,657. It was out of this money, she said, she expected to pay for having him killed. She exonerated Hahn, but he was ordered held.

compares 33 different toothpastes and tells why Colgate's has "greater ability"

THIRTY-THREE modern toothpastes on trial! On trial for cleansing properties, for reputed claims and actual accomplishment!

Dr. Hardee Chambliss undertook this exhaustive study—and he now proclaims Colgate's superior! His reasons? Here they are. The reasons of an eminent educator and scientist:

"Colgate's has greater ability than other dentifrices to get down into tiny crevices and fissures of the teeth, flooding away decaying particles.

"Colgate's cleans the surfaces safely because of its very effective wetting power and its low surface tension (penetrating foam)."

Colgate's—undoubtedly because of its high standing among dentists—has been used by more people than any other dentifrice ever made.

Dr. Hardee Chambliss says:

"I have tested and compared thirty-three different dentifrices with reference to their cleansing qualities. I find Colgate's not only cleans the surfaces safely, but also because of its very effective wetting power and low surface tension (penetrating foam) it has greater ability than other dentifrices to get down into tiny crevices and fissures of the teeth, flooding away decaying food particles. Other dentifrices, because they are sluggish, lack this power.

Hardee Chambliss

Agreeing with Dr. Chambliss are such eminent authorities as Doctors Shirley W. Wynne, Commissioner of Health, New York City, and H. H. Bunzell, Ph.D., University of Chicago, and other prominent authorities, who were retained to make analytical tests and to render their expert opinions

LAKES TO GULF ILLINOIS LINK GIVEN PRIORITY

U. S. Plans Completion by Summer of 1934.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—The Illinois link of the lakes to the gulf waterway has been placed at the top of the list of federal projects to be pushed to completion.

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley said today that the department plans to have a nine foot operating waterway between the great lakes and the gulf within the next three years and a half. Plans now under preparation by the corps of engineers call for allotment of funds at a rate which will complete the Illinois state waterway, taken over by the government on July 3, by June 30, 1934.

Some Sections Must Wait.

War department officials said, however, that while their plans called for having barges operating on the lakes to the gulf route in 1934, this did not mean that the whole Mississippi system would be completed by that time. It was said that much work would remain to be done on sections of the Mississippi system and that additional work probably would be necessary on the Illinois section of the lakes to the gulf route.

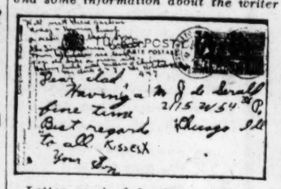
The Illinois river and the state waterway projects, now at a standstill while efforts are being made to find funds to carry on operations, were discussed at length by President Hoover, Secretary Hurley, Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, and Col. George Spalding, upper Mississippi river division engineer, over the week-end. The question of how fast funds should be allotted for this project was dealt with.

Fund Is Being Audited.

As the river and harbor bill was approved after the appropriation bill carrying $55,000,000 for river and harbor development had been signed, war department engineers ruled they had no authority to utilize any federal funds this year for the Illinois waterway project. No funds will be available prior to the passage of the next army appropriation bill. An independent audit is being made of the Illinois waterway fund left over when the project was turned over to the government to see if any surplus is available for immediate operations. Approximately $3,000,000 will be reserved by the state to build bridges. Any balance is to be used to begin construction on the waterway this fiscal year.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.



Letter received by Mrs. A. DeGerald, 2115 West 54th place, Chicago.

This postal card was mailed from Georgetown, capital of British Guiana, to Mrs. DeGerald by her 11 year old son, Hartley DeGerald, who left Chicago unescorted on July 1 for various islands of the West Indies, British Guiana, and South America.

The Southwest News, telling of Hartley's trip, says:

"It is not the first time Hartley has made long trips from home unattended, as he went to the South Seas in his latest. He became a prime favorite aboard ship, sharing the captain's quarters and being chaperoned by a number of prominent travelers who took a great interest in him.

"Hartley did not bring home a monkey to his younger brother, as he had been commissioned to do, for various reasons. However, the latter was reconciled completely when he heard the recital of Hartley's adventures on his voyage."

Georgetown is situated on the left bank of the mouth of the Damarara river. The name was changed to Georgetown in 1812. Prior to that time, during the Dutch occupation, it had been known as Stabrock.

The streets of the town are wide and straight, intersecting each other at right angles, and many of them have double roadways, with lily covered canals between them. The main structure is known as the Public buildings, wherein the executive offices of the colony are located. Other buildings include the town hall, Anglican and Roman Catholic cathedrals, a public hospital, an almshouse, and several churches and banks.

41 DIE AS TRIBE ATTACKS BRITISH TROOPS IN INDIA

English Captain and 8 Soldiers Among Dead.

SIMLA, India, Aug. 25.—(AP)—A sharp encounter, in which a British army officer and eight infantrymen were killed, was reported today to have taken place between British troops and Hathikhel warriors of Waziristan in the northwest frontier province.

With the Afridi attack on Peshawar, key city of the province, repulsed, Waziri tribesmen to the southwest have suddenly become active. The Afridis attacking Peshawar urged them to take the field against the British.

A force of Hathi Khels, led by a mullah named Fazal Quadar, suddenly advanced upon the remote city of Bannu, situated in the mountains 100 miles southwest of Peshawar and the Khyber pass. A British force under Capt. Ashcroft was sent out to parley with the tribesmen, who had announced they were rallying at a spot on the Bannu-Kohat road.

Captain Shot in Back.

As the conference began Capt. Ashcroft entered into an argument with one of the tribal leaders. Suddenly another tribesman shot him down from behind, killing him instantly.

Immediately a hand to hand fight began. The mullah was seriously wounded in the British onslaught and subsequently died. Eight British infantrymen were killed and ten injured. Thirty-two of the tribesmen were slain, 14 wounded, and 70 taken prisoner.

The British force included regular infantry, frontier constabulary, and native police. Its object was to forestall the tribal rally and to arrest the mullah.

BOMB BRITISH CHIEF

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 25.—While bombs were exploded in Calcutta, all India tonight awaited the outcome of the peace negotiations which began in earnest today at Simla.

As Sir Charles Tegart, police commissioner of Calcutta, was driving to his office this morning two bombs were hurled at his automobile. Sir Charles escaped uninjured, but fragments of one bomb injured his driver, killed the student who hurled it, and wrecked the police car. Another assailant was injured when a third bomb exploded just as he was about to throw it. Several extra bombs and revolvers were found among those arrested. Sir Charles stated that the police are preparing for an outbreak of new terrorist activity in Bengal province.

Discuss Peace Terms.

Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, Indian moderate and peace negotiator, arrived at Simla, the capital, with his colleague, M. Jayakar, and was closeted for five hours with Viceroy Lord Irwin tonight, discussing Mahatma Gandhi's peace terms. No statement was made, and both government and Nationalist spokesmen predicted an early breakdown of the negotiations.

THE TRIBUNE is informed that Gandhi has demanded a definite pledge of a dominion status within a fixed time, as well as immediate abolition of the salt tax and release of 30,000 political prisoners, and Great Britain is unwilling to grant any of these demands now.

Police today fired into a crowd near Shahapur, killing one, after 5,000 villagers had attacked constables and forest guards, injuring five. The police tried to disperse the crowd with bamboo sticks and, when this method failed shots were fired. The villagers objected to the arrest of one of their number for breaking the forest grazing laws.

BROOKLYN GANGS FEAR INVASION BY AL CAPONE'S MEN

Arsenal Found Regarded as Ready for War.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A murder car became late today the sequel to the discovery in a Brooklyn apartment of a gangster's arsenal of deadly weapons and bulletproof steel vests, believed to have been gathered by Jack (Legs) Diamond and Charles (Vannie) Higgins for an impending war with Scarface Al Capone, Chicago gangster, over control of the beer racket in Brooklyn.

The automobile, which one man now under arrest has admitted he had been promised $50 to drive into the river, was found in a garage in Brooklyn, a few blocks from the arsenal flat, with bloodstains on the upholstery. It belonged to Harry Western, owner of a roadhouse at Lake Kaprine, near Kingston, N. Y., who, according to his wife, drove off in the car Friday and has not been seen or heard of since. The police believe he refused to buy Diamond's beer and was "taken for a ride."

Want Diamond in Irons.

A radio message was sent to the liner Baltic of the White Star line, requesting the ship's commander to arrest Diamond, who is supposed to have left on the vessel Saturday for Europe. The message asked that Diamond be put in irons and returned to this country, but police admit they are not at all certain that the oft arrested gangster is actually aboard the vessel. He is supposed to have embarked on the ship after canceling reservations on the Europa Thursday and after the police had been warned that he would never step on the ship alive.

Harry Klein, 26 years old, a beer runner for Diamond and through whom police stumbled on the supply of bombs, machine guns, tear gas, hand grenades, and fountain pen guns in the Brooklyn apartment, admitted he had driven the blood-stained car into the garage owned or controlled by Higgins yesterday, and had planned to drive it into the river that night.

Infers Diamond Involved.

Klein told Capt. of Detectives John J. Ryan in Brooklyn that he had been given orders Friday night to drive the coupe from Acra, Diamond's summer home in Greene county, N. Y., to Brooklyn and park it in the garage. He would not admit that Diamond had given him the orders, but he inferred that was the case.

Mrs. Western, with the sheriff of Kingston, was on her way to New York tonight to confer with the district attorney in Brooklyn. Over the telephone Mrs. Western said her husband told her Friday night that he had an appointment that night. She said he left the roadhouse, where they also lived, at about 8 o'clock.

Pair Reported on Spot.

Both Higgins and Diamond are said to have been put on the "spot" by Capone, and last Thursday night when Diamond was scheduled to sail on the Europa, police headquarters was tipped off that Diamond was to be taken for a ride as he boarded the vessel.

Capt. John J. Ryan sent fifteen detectives to the pier, but Diamond did not put in an appearance. Inquiry showed that he had canceled his passage only a short time before.

AUTO CRASH FATAL TO BOY.

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Fractured ribs which pierced his lungs proved fatal to Robert Miller, 5 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Miller of Philo, Ill., in a local hospital today after an accident last night when the car in which he was riding with his parents went into the ditch to avoid a collision.

nor Prosecutors Rathbun and McShane had any part in the issuance of the warrant, and that apparently Judge Lyle was acting on his own initiative.

It was pointed out by the prosecutors that Von Frantzius is a witness against Foster, and that prosecution of the gun dealer at this time might interfere with the conduct of the Foster trial.

Judge Lyle last night admitted he had conceived the idea of bringing Von Frantzius to trial. The judge issued the following statement:

"The case of Peter Von Franzius will furnish an opportunity to legally test out how far the state law on accessories will go to reach and hold a seller of machine guns and revolvers who furnishes such to well known gangsters, and who file off the numbers and identification marks to prevent the detection and identification of murderers.

"Since the day it came to the attention of the public that Von Frantzius sold the machine guns for the St. Valentine's day massacre and the five revolvers to Foster, one of which was used to kill Lingle and was found by his body, and that Von Frantzius had filed off the number of this particular revolver to prevent detection, I have felt that Von Frantzius' action should not be passed without some official challenge.

Judge Takes Responsibility.

"The longer the lapse of time the less apt there is to be any official action against Von Frantzius. Since his place of business is located in the police district where I happen to preside as judge I felt it my duty and I have prepared and directed Sergt. Frank Casey to file the complaint, and I take full responsibility for the same.

"There should be a trial if the information is correct, and if Von Frantzius is legally within his rights he will be discharged."

Judge Lyle has the power to issue warrants, and to conduct a preliminary hearing to determine whether there is sufficient evidence upon which a defendant may be held to the grand jury. At this point the case comes within the jurisdiction of the grand jury, the state's attorney, and the judges of the Criminal court.

$55,725 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,725 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

Acquit Father on Charge of Slaying His Daughter

Martin Klynowski, 40 years old, 2320 South Homan avenue, was acquitted yesterday by a jury in Judge Daniel P. Trude's Criminal court on a charge of murdering his daughter, Jennie, 12 years old. He tried to end both his own and his daughter's life on June 10 by turning on the gas while despondent over the death of his wife. He revived, but the girl died, and the police charged him with murder.

JURY TO SCAN VILLAGE BOOKS IN AUTO PROBE

David McHale, presidept of the village board of North Riverside; Joseph Densfield, treasurer, and Arthur Andresen, village clerk, were named in a subpoena issued yesterday by the grand jury calling for all the books and records of the suburb on automobile violation cases. They are to produce the records today.

The announcement of the issuance of the subpoena followed a conference between Assistant State's Attorneys William A. Rittenhouse and Edward H. Markham and Attorney Joseph Braun of the Chicago Motor club. The motor club official told the prosecutor that more than $2,000 in fines and court costs has been collected by the village from motorists from April to August.

Police Magistrate Alonzo T. Ulrich, Chief of Police Otto Martinek, and Lieut. Edward Emons have already been questioned about the motor club charges that a speed trap was operated in the suburb.

CRUSADERS O. K. PARTIES' PLANKS ON PROHIBITION

Executive committeemen of the Chicago division of the Crusaders, organized to oppose the present form of prohibition, are to meet this week to prepare their views on the prohibition planks adopted by the Democrats and Republicans at their state conventions last week.

Col. Ira L. Reeves, executive secretary of the Chicago Crusaders, said the two planks, particularly the Democrats', "were highly gratifying." However, he said his organization would endeavor to have the Republicans clarify their proposal to abide by the state prohibition referendum by stating definitely whether the mandate of the people would be followed despite the size of the referendum vote.

Col. Reeves said the loop membership campaign this month had added 8,000 names to the Crusaders' roll, and he predicted the group would have a chapter, or battalion, in each of the city's fifty wards and a membership of more than 50,000 by the November election.

Cost Varies from Tahi... to Montreal.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Living quarters, heat, light and fuel are more expensive in Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Montreal, Singapore and Tokio than in any other cities in the world, according to survey published by the state department today.

The state department statistics of living costs abroad were made in compliance with the act passed by the last congress which provides that civilian officers and employes of the government having a permanent station in a foreign country may be furnished living quarters, including heat, fuel and light, or the equivalent in cash. The survey was made to determine the allowances which should be paid in the various cities.

Makes Five Classes.

To facilitate the work of the department, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson divided the various foreign posts into five classes, according to the relative cost of rent, heat, light and fuel at each place. Allowances for foreign service officers, not chiefs of missions, ranged from $1,700 for married men at the most expensive posts down to $725 for bachelors in the cities where living costs are the cheapest.

According to the state department classification, foreign service officers should find living costs cheaper in Tahiti, the largest and most important of the French Society islands in the Pacific, than in most of the other places where this country is represented abroad.

Other posts included in class 1, where the lower allowances are paid due to the lower living costs, are: Algiers, Danzig, Martinique, Newcastle, Nogales, Mexico; Ghent and Bordeaux.

Not Quite the Highest.

Paris and London, Rio de Janeiro, Calcutta, Vienna, Yokohama, Madrid, Ottawa and Berlin were placed in class four, just below class five, which included the Buenos Aires and Tokio group. Living quarters for American consular and diplomatic representatives at these posts were listed as almost but not quite so high as those in the most expensive posts.

The class three posts, which rank next to the London-Paris group in high living costs, included Brussels, Bucharest, Colon, Glasgow, Plymouth, Trinidad, Warsaw, and Tunis.

6 TIMES BIGAMIST WITH 15 ALIASES GETS 15 YEARS IN PRISON

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—J. W. Orton, 58, bigamist wanted throughout the nation, was sentenced to serve 15 years at hard labor at Jackson prison by Judge Leonard D. Verdier in Superior court today. He had pleaded guilty to absconding with $2,000 belonging to Mrs. Addie Grewett, Pellston, Mich.

Orton, known to have 15 aliases and suspected of concealing a dozen more, mumbled as he was led away, "That's an awful sentence to give a fellow." It was the maximum penalty.

Orton refused to admit more than six marriages despite the fact that he asserted he wished to make a clean breast of his life. Mrs. Rena Felger, Chicago, was named by Orton as one of the women.

"If we had further information it probably would refresh your memory as you have confessed to each act we have discovered," the judge said.

From the six marriages Orton is known to have profited $25,000 officials declared. It is suspected that he gained three times that sum. He was sought as a marrying embezzler from Chicago, Milwaukee, Nebraska, California, St. Louis, Minnesota and Michigan.

BUSINESS GROUP FROM SCOTLAND TO ARRIVE TODAY

A party of thirty-six members of the chamber of commerce of Aberdeen, Scotland, will arrive in the city this morning for a three days visit as guests of the Chicago Association of Commerce. John S. Yule, secretary of the Aberdeen chamber, heads the group, which includes manufacturers, engineers, and municipal officers. The Scotch visitors will be given a luncheon tomorrow at the Palmer house. While in the city they will stop at the Bismarck hotel. They leave Thursday night over the Baltimore and Ohio for Washington.

BABY IS CARRIED FOR MILE ON CAR BUMPER, UNHURT

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Ygnacio Parin, 2, carried in the arms of Mrs. Barbara Lopez, was picked up by an automobile bumper when a hit and run driver crossed a safety zone last night, knocking down five persons, including Mrs. Lopez. When everything was unscrambled little Ygnacio had disappeared. After police instituted a city-wide search he was found an hour later, a mile away, uninjured.

SWANSON BRINGS 250 TAX SUITS TO COLLECT MILLION

State's Attorney John A. Swanson yesterday started 250 suits in Circuit court to collect more than $1,000,000 in unpaid personal property taxes which were due on July 10.

The suits filed yesterday are only a part of the actions to be filed. It was announced that henceforth an average of 500 similar suits will be filed each week until every important delinquent taxpayer has been cited. The exact amount to be involved in all the contemplated suits could not be estimated by the prosecutor yesterday.

It was announced that the tax suits probably would all be kept together in the court of Chief Justice Stanley Klarkowski of the Circuit court. The suits filed yesterday involve 100 banks and 150 business concerns.

"Never before have there been so many of the banks delinquent in the payment of their taxes," said the statement issued by Mr. Swanson.

Patrons Seized in Raid on Club Pay Small Fines

Eight patrons who were arrested when Capt. Michael W. Delaney and a squad of policemen raided the Club Nagel, 1038 North State street, late Saturday night, were fined small sums yesterday when they were arraigned before Judge John H. Lyle. The manager, Russell Chickring, was fined $100.

KIRK'S JAP ROSE SOAP

Apartment Hunters!

want SAFE Automatic Refrigeration?

Then look for ELECTROLUX in the kitchen

DEMAND for your kitchen a simple, soundless box that makes constant, endless cold, freezes ice cubes automatically—in absolute silence and with perfect safety!

That's exactly what Electrolux does. And best of all, the operating cost of this magically simple box is far less than the cost of ice—no more than a few cents a day, even for the large sizes. No wonder so many fine Chicago apartment houses have installed this refrigerator—no wonder the same thing is happening the country over.

In Electrolux, a tiny gas flame and a tiny flow of water take the place of all machinery. Very little of either is used. In fact, the Chicago Bureau of Water has set a flat rate of only $2.50 gross a year for each Electrolux installed in homes without water meters.

With no moving parts, Electrolux, of course, has nothing to wear, vibrate, or ever make a sound. Its operation is constant. There is no stopping and starting, so the temperature remains constantly, evenly low.

Absolutely safe

It is also reassuring to know that you have an absolutely safe refrigerator when you own an Electrolux. Its refrigerant is merely three and a half pints of ordinary ammonia, so little stronger than household ammonia that you could breathe the entire contents in a closed room with no ill effects. Furthermore, the refrigerant is hermetically sealed within rigid steel—no openings or valves of any kind; no renewal ever needed. Even the tiny gas flame is protected by an automatic shut-off. Should the flame ever go out for any reason, no gas can flow until you are ready to light it again.

If you are renting an apartment, look for Electrolux in the kitchen. If you are buying an automatic refrigerator you will want to see Electrolux before deciding.

Prices are from $205 to $430, with liberal purchase terms. Complete line of models on display. Come in today; or, if not convenient, use coupon to bring complete illustrated information.

FRENCH EYE FOES ON BORDERS; PUT ARMY ON WHEELS

Motorized Units to Guard Rhine and Alps.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Under the title of "Necessary Revision," the semi-official newspaper Le Temps tonight prints an editorial calling on France to arm herself adequately before it is too late.

The papers of the extreme right have been filled for some weeks with pessimistic prophecies and lurid descriptions of the storm clouds on the eastern frontiers. But Le Temps so far has contented itself with restrained denunciations of the speeches of Gottfried Treviranus, minister of occupied territories of Germany, and Premier Mussolini.

Oppose Briand's Peace Moves.

Today's article was all the more curious because it reflects the Nationalists' disapproval of the conciliatory policies of Foreign Minister Briand.

"This is no longer the hour for dreams," says Le Temps, "and without definitely pronouncing Geneva a failure, it must be recognized that we are far from having attained a mutual comprehension upon which is founded all sincere accords. We, in consequence of the Rhineland evacuation, see rising before us Treviranus, Loebe, Gen. Von Seeckt, and others, brandishing threatening fists. When one adds these menaces to the periodical rumblings in the Alps, the time has come when we must ask ourselves if we are properly equipped to protect ourselves against a tornado from the east."

Wants Army on Border.

Le Temps then analyzes the fighting strength of the French army and finds its coverage insufficient to check a sudden attack by a well trained German army. Unlike the critics of the French army, Le Temps does not suggest matching the German professional army with the French one. The paper urges a complete reorganization of the border forces so as to have an adequate number of trained troops concentrated at strategic points along the frontiers ready to meet an attack at any moment without waiting for general mobilization.

While confessing the difficulty of guarding a 500 mile frontier with an army of only 180,000 incompletely trained conscripts, Le Temps thinks it may be possible to do so by the application of War Minister Maginot's program of intense motorization of the covering forces.

French Motorize Army.

Under the leadership of Gen. Weygand, the mechanization of the French army has been progressing rapidly during the last few years, but no particular effort has been made to apply this to the problem of rapid covering of all border points.

It is said that M. Maginot's plans call for putting France's army on wheels to a higher degree than any army in the world. Even tanks will have to give way to high speed light automobiles and motorcycles, thus surpassing—at least on paper—the mobility of the reichswehr.

German Army Head Quits.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Gen. Wilhelm Heye, commander in chief of the German reichswehr, resigned today, the resignation to be effective Nov. 1. A successor has not yet been appointed.

Gen. Heye, who visited the United States in 1927, succeeded Gen. Von Seeckt as commander of the reichswehr in October, 1926.

BYRNES MAY DEFEAT COLE BLEASE TODAY IN SENATORIAL RACE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Defeat of Senator Cole Blease [Dem., S. C.] in primaries in his state tomorrow is regarded as a possibility. The picturesque South Carolinian, whose vitriolic speeches have entertained senate galleries, has two opponents, former Representative James F. Byrnes and Leon W. Harris, a prosecuting official.

Reports reaching Washington are that Mr. Byrnes, who attained a place of prominence during his 14 years' service in the house, may lead the field in tomorrow's primary, but that he may not receive a majority. Failure of any candidate to receive a majority will necessitate the holding of a second primary.

Senator Blease's defense of lynching has figured in the campaign. Mr. Harris, who is prosecuting a lynching case, has severely attacked Senator Blease on this as well as other issues.

California G. O. P. Votes Today.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 25.—(AP)—A three cornered contest for the Republican nomination for governor, in which personalities figured rather than issues, featured California's primary campaign which closed tonight. Tomorrow some 300 candidates for federal and state offices will receive the verdict of most of the state's two million registered voters. The fight for governor centered around O. C. Young, incumbent; James Rolph Jr., mayor of San Francisco, and Buron Fitts, district attorney at Los Angeles.

Gentlemen Prefer Them SLENDER!

Yes, and the ladies prefer themselves slender, too! And now, girls, that you can eat so many things you like—even potatoes and ice-cream, provided you balance your diet with non-fattening Welch's—there seems to be no reason why you shouldn't keep your figure always trim and youthful!

An agreeable way to start is by serving Welch's Grape Juice as your breakfast fruit. Diluting with ⅓ to ½ water, as most people prefer it, makes the cost less than 5c a glass.

IMPORTANT

It takes the best grapes to make the best grape juice. Welch's is made from the choicest selected Concords. It is full strength—pure and unadulterated. In ordering Welch's from your dealer, always ask for it by name. Otherwise you may get a cheapened quality of grape juice and wonder why it does not taste like Welch's.

Write today for Welch's weight-control menus—FREE. Prepared and sponsored by a nationally famous dietitian, head of the Forecast School of Cookery. Find out how Welch's in the diet helps you to reduce gradually, and healthfully, and pleasantly. Address Welch's, Dept. WC, Westfield, N. Y.

UNABLE TO FIND BOY AUTO THIEF, BUT HE'S IN JAIL

Sentenced While Capias Is Still Unserved.

CRIMINAL COURT.
Albert Marcle, crime against nature, sentenced to one to twenty years in the penitentiary by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

Alphonse McPhillips, aged 16, was ordered to jail last May 2 when he was unable to furnish bond on a charge of stealing an automobile. On May 26 his case was called by Judge Francis Allegretti, but Alphonse could not be found. He was not in jail and no bond had been filed, so Judge Allegretti, perplexed by what had become of Alphonse, issued a capias for his rearrest.

Two months later, on July 3, after another automobile had been stolen, the records show that Alphonse McPhillips, aged 16, was arrested for larceny and taken before Judge John H. Lyle in Municipal court. Judge Lyle sentenced him to a year in jail for theft of the car and held him to the Criminal court on charges of driving an automobile without the owner's permission and stealing its accessories.

Six Months Added to Term.

On July 25 Judge D. J. Normoyle in the Criminal court listened to young McPhillips' plea of guilty and added six months to his term in jail for unlawful driving of the automobile. The other charge was stricken off, with leave to reinstate. The judge upheld defense counsel's contention that ample punishment had been given the 16 year old boy.

No Service in Capias.

Up to the time McPhillips was sentenced by Judge Normoyle, the records show no service having been made of the capias issued by Judge Allegretti. An investigation at the county jail also disclosed that no warrant was on file there for the youth, and there was no record to show that the capias has yet been served.

McPhillips almost escaped the second time he was caught, the police at that time reporting he eluded them and endeavored to flee on foot, but was caught after they fired several shots at him.

PERTH, Australia, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Prime Minister James H. Scullin today sailed for London to attend the imperial conference. The prime minister has been ill with bronchitis and pleurisy, but his sailing was approved by physicians.

JAIL EX-PROFESSOR FOR DUPING 150 GIRLS EAGER TO BE MODELS

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Edwin F. Bamford, 40 years old, a former assistant professor of sociology at Pennsylvania State college, was arrested in a hotel this afternoon charged with obtaining money under false pretense. He told detectives that, failing to receive a contract renewal as assistant professor of sociology at the end of the last academic year, he had turned to operating a movie actress and clothing model exchange to support himself.

Before his arrest Bamford had exacted a $1 "registration fee" from at least 150 young women eager to obtain employment in the movies or as clothing or artists' models. Many of them went with the detectives to the city hall to give affidavits against Bamford, who insisted that he had intended operating a legitimate booking agency after he had "got on his feet" and obtained a sufficiently large list of applicants' names.

Bamford represented himself as the head of the National Motion Picture and Modeling Employment agency and had fitted up a two room hotel suite. After filling out blanks testifying to their age, health, and physical characteristics, the young women were instructed in each case to obtain bathing suits and to return.

When arrested Bamford had $280 in his possession, the bulk of it in $1 notes. He told detectives he had a wife and two children in Manhattan, Kas.

He will have a hearing in central police court tomorrow.

U. S. FILES LIENS ON PROPERTY OF GENE G. OLIVER

Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge, collector of internal revenue, yesterday filed liens on the property of County Assessor Gene G. Oliver, claiming income taxes totaling $108,701.05 with interest and penalties.

Oliver was convicted recently of evading the payment of income taxes and sentenced to eighteen months in Leavenworth penitentiary and fined $10,000 by Federal Judge Woodward. He is at liberty on bond pending an appeal.

The liens, served on Oliver and filed with the federal court and the county recorder, allege that Oliver owes $5,198 for 1924, $26,084.62 for 1925, $11,599.47 for 1926, $31,624.95 for 1927 and $34,193.43 for 1928. Robert E. Neeley, deputy collector, estimated that Oliver's total income for the period was $500,000.

Girl, 4, Plunges Off Fire Escape; Fatally Hurt

Sitting on the top rail of a fire escape at her home, 6240 South Kedzie avenue, 4 year old Georgina McGinnis yesterday lost her balance and fell to the ground, fracturing her skull. She died early this morning at Holy Cross hospital.

WESTERN INDIANA RESISTS CITY IN OUSTER DEMAND

The Chicago and Western Indiana railroad yesterday filed a petition with the Illinois commerce commission asking for an order authorizing the railroad to continue its present service in Chicago with reference particularly to its mail, freight, and passenger business over the tracks laid in Plymouth court, Taylor street, and four city alleys in the vicinity of the Dearborn street terminal.

The filing of the petition was interpreted in the city hall as the first step in a fight to restrain the city from carrying out its order to the railroad to remove its tracks from those streets.

Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe, who issued the vacation order two weeks ago, is awaiting an opinion from Corporation Counsel Ettelson as to a reasonable time to give the railroad to carry out the order before tearing up the tracks with city workmen.

"The railroad wants an order from the commission, I believe," said one city attorney, "so that its right to use those tracks will be so firmly established that it can obtain an injunction in court to restrain the city if any attempt is made to tear out the tracks. The question of whether the railroad is trespassing on city property must be settled in court and not by the commission."

The city ordinance which authorized the railroad to lay tracks in Plymouth court and Taylor street expired in 1920. By its terms the railroad agreed not to resort to any court or commission to delay the removal of the tracks at the expiration of the ordinance.

"Those tracks serve the Dearborn station annex and their maintenance is necessary," said J. R. Barse, vice president and chief counsel of the railroad, "for proper railroad service to the public. We filed the petition in order that the commerce commission, as the final authority, may decide whether or not proper service necessitates our continued use of those tracks."

A hearing on the petition will be held by the commission in Chicago on Sept. 9.

Anti-Cruelty Society Given New Dog Trucks

Two new trucks for transporting homeless dogs to the headquarters of the Anti-Cruelty society have been presented to the society by Mrs. George M. Wisner, vice president. The first of the two was put in use yesterday. The trucks have separate compartments for dogs. A separate gas chamber is in readiness for emergency disposal of injured dogs. The cars will replace those worn out in taking stray animals to the haven, which is at 155 West Grand avenue.

A HYPOCHONDRIAC NATION.

By and large, business today can be compared with business in 1928 without much disparagement either way. Some industries are better off than they were then and some not so well off, but the averages of production, consumption and turnover throughout the country are fairly close to what they were two years ago.

Nevertheless, the business men who thought 1928 was a pretty fair sort of a year go about now with long faces as if the gloom were unrelieved and unrelievable. Many of them are so sure that business is bad that they have decided not to fight for it.

We do not wish to minimize present difficulties. Business is not as good as it was last year by a considerable margin. Unemployment is serious and profits are down from last year's peak. The depression is not confined to one industry or even one country but is world-wide, and, accordingly, recovery to last year's levels may take some time. These are facts that must be accepted, but, depressing as they are, they do not justify the spirit of unbroken gloom which has swept the country like an epidemic. The London Economist a few weeks ago could predict that America would be the first nation in the world to recover from the depression and that forecast comes from a conservative and experienced source, but it would take a powerful amplifier to pick up the echo of it in this country. America used to be distinguished for its optimism in the face of far graver situations than now confront us. What has become of that optimism today is a question worthy of inquiry.

It was not present, certainly, at the time of the Mississippi flood. The loss suffered at that time was considerable, but there had been other floods in the bottom lands which were not heralded as national calamities of the first order. The area, population, and productive capacity affected by the flood was all but negligible in its relation to the national economy. The flood was serious enough to warrant extensive measures of relief and dramatic enough to justify many columns of newspaper publicity, but it was not a national calamity of the order of the Black Death, though it was in that manner that it was dished up to the American people. No doubt, the bottom land farmers were amazed. From long experience they had expected to be flooded out from time to time—and regarded that as a reasonable price to pay for possession of the most productive corn land in the world. Under the leadership of the government at Washington the flood damage was exaggerated out of all relation to its real significance. The calamity howlers howled without check.

The federal government has an angel-of-mercy complex. It fancies that its principal mission has to do with misfortunes of one sort or another. It exults in them as an old lady with a favorite salve rejoices in the presence of rheumatism in the neighborhood, and, like the old lady, the government enjoys exaggerating the condition of the sufferer under treatment. In other financial panics the victims have been permitted to denounce Wall street and lick their wounds, but not this time. The government was issuing hourly bulletins from the bedside. The heart was weak, the liver was dormant, the legs were paralyzed, the patient was in a state of coma.

The angel of mercy in Washington has made a hypochondriac of the rest of the nation. The country had been told repeatedly that its great misfortune was bumper crops. In the past a fat yield was regarded as a cause for rejoicing and a national holiday recalls that primitive notion, but latterly we have been taught to fear a good crop more than a poor one. We had scarcely learned that lesson when a period of hot dry weather reduced the probable yield of corn substantially. Thereupon the old notion was brought out and revived. It is not bumper crops but short crops which are calamitous. And, to leave no doubt about it, the damage, serious as it no doubt is, has been exaggerated in the public mind out of all relation to the facts and their significance. The ordinary citizen might be forgiven for supposing that another Egyptian famine was in progress.

No one who has observed the course of the typical business cycle can doubt that low spirits rather than external causes commonly delay the inevitable revival of business. We are beginning to wonder what hope there can be for a business revival while the rejoicers in misfortune continue to hold the center of the stage.

EUROPEAN BAYS.

The nomination of former Secretary of State Kellogg to a seat in the league court is naturally gratifying as evidence of the respect felt by other nationals for a distinguished American. It is not disregardful of this aspect of the event, nevertheless, to remark that from the American viewpoint it must remind us that there are not a few Americans in public life who do not look upon American office or service as offering the highest distinction. There is still a glamour to European preferment which makes service under European auspices—service in effect to European masters—more honorable or at any rate honorific than office or service within the United States. Honors abroad are for these Americans the glittering prizes which lie at the end of the race, the crown of the highest career.

THIS SUMMER IN CHICAGO.

The music festival of Saturday night at Soldiers' field was a success of such proportions that its repetition in the years to come is a matter of course. THE TRIBUNE takes this opportunity to thank all those whose help made the festival possible. They may take pride in the thought that they have created a new institution to enrich the life of Chicago and the neighboring states.

This has been a remarkable summer in Chicago, and it is only reaching its climax now. The Bar association convention was a high spot. Its delegates and distinguished guests were still with us when the great festival of song was held, and now Chicago has the international air races, which have attracted the attention of the world. On Wednesday night a track team, the best that could be assembled in the British empire, will compete against America's best athletes at Soldiers' field.

These are in addition to opera at Ravinia, Chicago's championship ball team, which is home again, the western amateur golf tournament, the Field museum, aquarium, planetarium, and Art institute; the universities, parks and beaches. No other city on the continent and no other city in the world, we venture to say, offers as many attractions in summer as does Chicago.

MODERNIZING THE ARMY.

Report of plans modernizing our infantry, to take full advantage of new inventions and new practical devices, is a gratifying indication of progressiveness in our military establishment. It is fortunate that lack of means for new equipment and even for the most extensive experimentation has not discouraged study and military thought. The army is going ahead as far as it can under existing conditions to experiment and to plan a modernized force and is not waiting until it can be fully supplied with new instruments but is preparing to make use of them. A general modernization program is in process of development, including a remodeling of the infantry unit to take advantage of new weapons and motorization. This is highly desirable and will accomplish something substantial toward lessening the disadvantages of our habitual unpreparedness. It is the more to be commended that we are in one of those post-war periods when apathy and resistance to proper defense measures have always been most obstructive and discouraging. It is encouraging to know also that the new chief of staff will not fail to carry on the policy of his able predecessor, but on the contrary will advance it with energy and resourcefulness.

PERILS OF EXAMPLE.

We learn from British newspapers that Sir Ronald Lindsay, their ambassador at Washington, has been favored by a citizen of Virginia named Samuel Woods with a protest against the importation and use of alcoholic beverages by the embassy. Citizen Woods declares that it is "doing much to weaken the friendship of the United States for Great Britain." Sir Ronald's predecessor, Sir Esme Howard, received a similar admonition, also from a Virginian, Mr. James Carter (not, we hope, a descendant of Col. Carter of Cartersville), who informed Sir Esme that he was encouraging the "lawless element" that resides in the "foreign cities and states who are enemies of Britain."

Why the exercise of a right recognized by all civilized nations should encourage the lawless is not explained in either of these communications, but the rule of ambassadorial conduct they propose suggests some picturesque possibilities which Citizens Woods and Carter should explore. The responsibilities of example implied if accepted by all diplomatic emissaries and the logic of the theory followed would bring to the diplomatic career some interesting problems.

For example, to our minister to Turkey. Would not an insistent and flagrant adherence to monogamy imply an open and insolent rebuke to the Moslem institution of polygamy? It is true a Turk may cleave to one wife and eschew the privilege of concubinage, as many if not most do, and still be within the law. The American example, therefore, would not be directly an encouragement to lawlessness, but it certainly might be taken as a criticism of the ordinance of the prophet, and therefore as an insidious assault upon the religious faith of Turkey. In these days of skepticism, can such an influence be rated as less harmful from the viewpoint of the Moslem than the exercise of a lawful international privilege and the practice of a lawful British custom by the British ambassador to the United States?

Editorial of the Day

ALIBI ARTISTS.

[Hartford (Conn.) Courant.]

The untimely death of Mr. Jack Zuta, the Chicago racketeer and pay-off man for the Moran-Aiello gang, has led to interesting and unexpected results. It seems that Mr. Zuta was a cautious soul, with a way of preserving evidence against those with whom he had business, presumably as a protection against the double cross. But whatever the purpose of the bundles of checks and the various memorandum books that the police have found in one of the dead man's numerous safe deposit boxes, the result of their exposure by the state's attorney has already been startlingly evident. For the names in the documents include prominent judges, members of the police force, with at least one chief of police of a suburb, members of the legislature and newspaper men. And since the publication of the documents there has been a steady stream of visitors to the office, each with a wonderful explanation of his dealings with the dead racketeer.

There is an unfortunate lack of originality in the stories presented to the investigators that will be deplored by those who have followed the narrations of masters in the art of alibi spinning. The usual story makes one wonder at the charitable instincts of Mr. Zuta. He was, apparently, a gentleman of the old school, dispensing hospitality and largess over the protests of, should one say, his victims? For most of the recipients of his generosity protested, and violently, against the gifts. Some, it is true, tried to make him accept repayment of loans and failed, and others asked him indignantly why he didn't cash the checks they gave him. But Mr. Zuta pursued his benevolent way, passing out "4 C's" to a police official here, a $50 bill to a newspaper man there, and a $500 check to an impoverished political club yonder. If the police officials, the newspaper men and the politicians hadn't been so anxious to avoid his gifts it would have been philanthropy. Actually it seems to have been a form of exquisite cruelty.

MAKEUP OF THE BLOOD.

THE first request this morning is for an article on the blood. The important formed elements in the blood are the red and white corpuscles. The unformed constituent is the plasma. In each cubic millimeter of blood, a quantity too small to measure with any instrument in common use, there are five million red cells. These cells are masses of protoplasm without nuclei.

They are nothing more than vessels for carrying such gases as oxygen and carbonic oxide. The chemical which combines with these gases is hemoglobin. When the red corpuscles contain the normal load of this coloring matter we say the blood contains 100 per cent hemoglobin.

If the amount of hemoglobin is low the blood does not carry oxygen and other gases up to its full capacity. Used up hemoglobin goes partly to form the coloring matter of bile and urine. The white blood corpuscles, also called leucocytes, are only about seven thousand in number in each cubic millimeter of blood. The leucocyte is really a group of cells having somewhat different appearances, coming from different sources, and having different work to do.

Among them are the polynuclears, the large mononuclears, the small mononuclears, and some others. The one which multiplies to resist pus infection is the polynuclear. These masses of nucleated protoplasm have unusual powers of wandering into and out of the blood stream and of traveling to different parts of the bodies.

Even more important than the blood cells is the blood plasma. This is a watery solution of different substances. Some of these substances are easily thrown out of solution and, in doing so, convert liquid blood into a solid. The chemical substance which does that is known as fibrin. The plasma is alkaline in reaction. In fact, whatever else happens, this reaction remains always just the same, or else life promptly comes to an end. Acidity of the blood in a live man is not conceivable. Death would occur long before the blood became acid.

In addition to the plasma, the fluid minerals, and the red and white corpuscles, the blood contains a varying amount of varying ingredients. It always contains sugar, sometimes more and sometimes less; perhaps some bile or some bilelike pigment capable of causing jaundice, sometimes more, usually less; some urea and some uric acid; and, at times, something of almost every chemical that needs to be carried from one part of the body to another. The blood is the great waterway of the body. It is the one transportation route. The lymph route is merely a feeder for the blood route, the one and only great trunkline.

SUN'S RAYS IN ATTIC.

S. M. N. writes:

What part of the rays are reflected when the sun's rays strike an outside window? It is an attic window in an adjoining house, and the afternoon sun is reflected on my bed.

REPLY.

Probably all parts of the rays are reflected, but in varying degree. Since the light and heat end of the spectrum passes through glass best, light and heat are least reflected from the windows described. Inversely the violet end is most reflected. The reflected light passes through the glass of your window that obstacle stops the violet in the reflected rays.

CHINS BORN, NOT MADE.

Cyrano writes: I would like to know why some people have receding chins, and the cause. Is there any way in which such a chin could be developed or cured? Would massage or ray treatment help?

REPLY.

The human animal inherits a certain chin pattern. Some people depart from type by overdevelopment; some by underdevelopment. In childhood and adolescence wearing appliances may modify the chin development somewhat. Certain diseases of the mouth and jaws, and certain constitutional conditions operating in that age period affect the size and shape of the chin somewhat, sometimes. After adolescence but little can be done. Possibly surgery or dentistry may help; massage will not.

CANCELS SUMMER COTTAGE.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The early part of the summer we made a deposit on a cottage at a nearby lake. We were expecting to receive some money with which to pay for this cottage. As yet we have not received the money, and do not know now just when we will get it. As the summer is nearly over and we would not be able to use the cottage after this month, we wish to cancel our agreement, which was merely a letter. 1. Can the owner hold us to the agreement and force us to buy the place? 2. Can he keep the deposit? He has been living in the house himself all summer.

M. W.

1. Depends upon whether the letter covered enough points to satisfy the statute of frauds.

2. As long as he is ready to carry out his agreement and you are not ready to carry out yours, you are not in a position to force him to return your money to you.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

REQUEST FOR REZONING.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—[Friend of the People.]—Please advise me if the lot I recently purchased will be rezoned into business, east of Fairfield avenue, on 55th street. West of Fairfield is now business (the 2600 block on West 55th street). J. S.

With regard to the rezoning of property for commercial purposes on Garfield boulevard east of Fairfield avenue is a matter entirely for the property owners in that neighborhood to be taken up with the city council. CHRISTIAN P. PASCHEN, Commissioner of Buildings.

BROKEN LEASE.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A tenant broke his lease. He has property in his wife's name. Since both lived in the apartment, can the landlord collect from the property? The lease was signed by the husband. F. R.

The mere fact that the property is in the wife's name would not defeat the landlord if the property can be proved, in fact, to belong to the husband.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

ANYHOW, IT LOOKS PRETTY SOFT!

This airplane thing that the crowds are raving about in Chicago is a great show and worth all the attention it gets, but, after all, is guiding an airplane around in the space above the earth nearly as hard as learning to drive an auto? The space above the earth is billions and billions of miles across and two or three times that straight up. Now, very often you have to drive an auto along a narrow street where there is a car parked in front of every house and three milk wagons standing in the middle of the thoroughfare. Then up in the air an airplane chauffeur isn't bothered to death by catching a wink of the yellow light just as he is about to drive happily past the green. He doesn't have to worry whether he ought to stop and get a big kick in the tail lights from the car behind him or to assume that he was already past the light while it still showed green and get a ticket from the traffic cop.

But the main thing, look how many miles it is to the moon or the sun or almost any of the planets you can think of. Take the Boul Mich any day. It's just so many feet from one side to the other and filled to the guards with cars, policemen, buses, taxicabs, jay-walkers, and street repairs. If the airplanes go up just a little way they have nothing on the east, say, but Saturn, and nothing west of them but the Milky Way. It would take several years before the airplane got near enough to Saturn to have to turn out, and as for the Milky Way, we'd lots sooner bump into that than a milk wagon. The Milky Way wouldn't climb out of its place and chase you with a monkey wrench and yell: "Why don't you learn how ter drive? Do you want to be a farmer all yer life?"

Well, driving an airplane may be a good deal harder than driving an automobile, but it all depends on where you sit and whether or not you try to throw the transmission into second without throwing the clutch out.

BEAUTY PLUS.

Grown calloused somewhat? . . . yes, perhaps;
One does, you know, as one grows old.
Enduring life's successive slaps
Makes one grow cynical and cold.

Yet Beauty is the same to me
As it was in my hopeful days—
I still can feel the ecstasy
Of lilacs down old English ways.

Beauty in man or beast or bird,
Women or sunsets, godly gleam
Of old cathedral windows, blurred
Moonlight on ocean's breast adream.

Beauty and I are bedmates still;
Let wife desert, let children flee,
I still retain the wish and will
To worship Beauty God gave me!

ARCHDUKE ALBRECHT has renounced his claims on the throne of Hungary and is preparing to emigrate to Brazil, where he has bought a farm. Albrecht, old top, you are quite right in giving up the throne idea, as the king business is now very bad and the list of able bodied, first class, A1 kings who are out of employment is the largest ever known. But, Albrecht, look up the price of wheat. If you take a good look at the wheat market you may decide that the farm business isn't so much right now, either.

IS THE OLD ANIMAL TRAINER LOSING HIS NERVE?

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 26, 1914.

LONDON. — Austria has declared war on Japan. A Vienna dispatch by way of Amsterdam says the Japanese ambassador was handed his passports on Aug. 25 and the Austrian ambassador to Tokio was recalled.

WASHINGTON.—Italy will declare war on Austria within twenty-four hours, according to information received in official quarters here.

ROME.—The American embassy has advised all Americans in Italy to return home now while communications between Europe and the United States are free and warning them that they remain at their own risk.

LONDON. — The Times correspondent, describing the fighting in and about Charleroi, says: "Already Charleroi has been captured and recaptured five times, and the streets are filled with the slain. French infantrymen describing the ferocious fighting declared the roads so jammed with dead that those killed remained standing up, resting on their dead brothers."

PARIS.—The war office issued this bulletin: "The commander in chief, requiring all available forces on the Meuse, has ordered the progressive abandonment of occupied territory. Muelhausen (the capital of Alsace) has again been abandoned. A new battle is in progress between Maubeuge and Donon. On it hangs the fate of France."

LONDON.—The Belgian royal family will abandon the temporary palace, establishing itself in a secret place in the city as the result of an attack by a Zeppelin airship, the Antwerp correspondent of the Morning Post says. The airship dropped six explosive bombs evidently designed against the palace and the royal family. One of the bombs narrowly missed wrecking the Antwerp cathedral.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 26, 1900.

CHEFOO.—It is rumored on good authority that Russia, Germany, and Japan have declared war on China and invited England and the United States to retire.

PEKING.—It is rumored that an army of Boxers is just outside the city. The telegraph line between Peking and Tungchow is reported to have been cut. The American and other cavalry will patrol the lines of communication hereafter.

CHICAGO.—Civil war music of the fifes and drums was heard in Chicago's streets yesterday and 45,000 people arrived to participate in the opening tomorrow of the 34th annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

LONDON.—Lord Roberts wires from his headquarters at Wonderfontein: "Buller reports the Boers laid a trap for his cavalry on Aug. 23, opening with several guns at fairly short range. The British guns silenced the Boers, but by some mistake two companies of the Liverpool regiment advanced into a hollow out of sight of the main body where they were surrounded by the Boers and suffered severely."

CHICAGO.—Charles G. Dawes, controller of the currency, arrived here from Washington, bringing reports of Republican gains everywhere. He said the situation all over the country looked favorable for increased majorities for President McKinley over 1896.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 26, 1865.

DES MOINES, Ia.—The Rev. Dr. O. H. Tiffany of Chicago will lecture on "The Life, Character, Public Services, and Death of Abraham Lincoln" at Marshalltown, Ia., on Sept. 1.

WASHINGTON.—Maj. Gen. Crocker of Iowa, well known throughout the west as commander of Crocker's division in Grant's army before Vicksburg, is lying at a hotel here very seriously ill with brain fever. His friends fear he will not survive.

NEW YORK.—The steamer Ocean Queen brings San Francisco papers of Aug. 3. The steamer Brother Jonathan, from San Francisco, July 22, for Portland, Ore., and Victoria, with between 200 and 300 passengers aboard, was totally lost near Cape Lincoln, Ore., July 30. Only 14 men and women were saved.

THE MUSIC FESTIVAL.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 24.—I was one of the "150,000" to attend your Chicagoland music festival last night and I want to tell you that I and my friends enjoyed this important event to the utmost. It was a magnificent spectacle—and the high lights of the evening were the colored choristers. I cannot find words to express my feeling for their wonderful work. The lighting was excellent and we could hear clearly in the south end of the field, thanks to your system of transmission.

We have never had the privilege of attending anything like it, and we're for that 1931 festival, but doubt that it can be any better. You certainly had a grand idea when you started the festival. D. C. BUTLER.

STOCK MARKET TOUTING.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Various stock brokerage houses seem to be permitting their employés or salesmen to call people on the telephone with the information that they have certain hot tips on the market and asking whether the person to whom they are talking is doing anything in the market.

Personally, this sort of solicitation is very annoying, and I was just wondering whetner this practice is very general or not. I, for one, would certainly not patronize an organization that uses this manner of trying to get business and that permits its people to approach a person in the manner they do.

The other day a certain individual called the writer on the phone and said, "Mr. Bredemeier, you remember me—my name is Bill Smith. I am with So and So on La Salle street." As a matter of fact I did not know Bill Smith, nor the firm he represented, yet he was absolutely sure that he knew me well enough to address me by my first name, and told me what to do in the market.

As stated before, I would like to know if this practice is general, and am also writing in the hope that some houses which practice these tactics may read this and discontinue this method of trying to obtain business. I try to be discourteous as possible to any one who approaches me in this manner, and I shall continue to do so.

E. W. BREDEMEIER.

GREAT WEALTH.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Your editorial anent America's 59 rulers, intended as an adroit piece of propaganda, when scrutinized a little bit critically, is neither profound nor adroit; in fact, rather stupid. Even the direct impression you wish to convey, that wealth is very transitory, is not borne out by the facts, as the Swifts, the Armours, the Marshall Fields, the Belmonts, the Rockefellers, etc., etc., have been very wealthy for many generations, if I mistake not, but the difficulty in the premises lies not in the fact that Tom and John or Jim and Bill holds great wealth for such a long time, but in the fact that the Toms and Johns and Jims and Bills are increasing in number at an alarming rate each year and their fortunes are increasing in magnitude at about an equally alarming rate.

THE SLEEP OF THE UNEMPLOYED.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Last Sunday afternoon, while sitting at the pedestal of the Logan monument, at Michigan boulevard and 8th street, I was accosted by a middle aged American man of decent appearance with the remark, "It's a cruel world." He told me, that for the last three weeks he had passed the nights sleeping in Grant park. The last couple of nights had been very cool, he said; and the rain during the night had soaked and drenched his clothes. He had not had anything to eat the whole day, he added, except a sandwich which some other man of the army of unemployed who had two of them, had shared with him. He was on the road for the last four months, he said, trying to find employment. On asking him how many men he thought were passing the night similarly, sleeping in Grant park and under the viaduct of the adjacent main road, he estimated the number to be eight and nine hundred.

"Do the police interfere with you sleeping here," I asked. "Not until about 5 o'clock in the morning," he answered. "Then the motor cops come around and start clubbing us at our feet, cursing and swearing at us while driving us away."

There is, I believe, a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals. Would it not at least, be equally proper to organize one for the prevention of cruelty to the unemployed American workingmen? JOHN BERNSTEIN.

V.'s benefit I will state that the Viking boat in the day and has for many years occupied one of the most beautiful sites at Lincoln park, where it is viewed daily by hundreds of interested visitors, and also I might inform M. V. that the gallant Capt. Magnus Andersen, who sailed the little Viking boat across the Atlantic as one of the great attractions for the World's Fair of 1893, visited Chicago about six years ago, as the guest of the Norwegian National league, and we also hope that he will be one of Chicago's visitors in 1933.

M. V. finishes his letter by saying, "I wonder how the New York Statue of Liberty would have fared here in our harbor?" I feel free to say that it would have fared just as well here as in any other harbor. I believe you would find very few citizens of Chicago who would willingly make any other city their home. We feel assured that every person who visits Chicago for the Century of Progress Exposition will be amazed at the growth, the progress, and the beauty of our wonderful and incomparable city. FARES FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Why can we not have a five cent fare for high school and technical school pupils who must use the surface lines and bus extensions? The "L" has a half rate fare for students, but we all are not living near the "L" lines. It would mean quite a bit to parents who can hardly afford to send their children to high school.

LEAGUE BLAMES BRITAIN FOR 200 HOLY LAND DEAD

Finds Neglect in Umpiring Jewish-Arab Trouble.

GENEVA, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The whole case for and against Great Britain's exercise of her mandate over Palestine under the league of nations mandate commission was laid before the world today in an official report and a supplemental memorandum issued with it by the British foreign office.

Great Britain replies with asperity to the charges of the commission of negligence in having inadequately provided policing which would have averted last year's bloody wailing wall conflicts and their consequences to the development of the Arab executive's plan as well as the enlargement of the activities of the Jewish National home.

Approves Curb on Emigration.

Besides holding the mandatory power responsible in large measure for the disorders in Palestine, the commission discusses lengthily the question of Jewish immigration, in this latter instance viewing "with approval the mandatory power's intention of keeping Jewish immigration proportionate to the country's capacity for economic absorption."

The report discusses the charges of the Jews against the Palestine government that it did not fulfill by deeds the obligation to encourage the establishment of a national home. It points to the "fact that the government has shown itself unable to provide the essential condition for development of the Jewish National home—security for persons and property."

Zionism Alarmed Arabs.

The commission report points out that the unprecedented phenomenon of the Zionist movement, with the intensive colonization which resulted in so vast a scale, was bound to cause a profound disturbance in the lives of that section of the population not concerned in the movement. The report adds that, faced by a strongly organized Jewish body under a single control and with considerable capital at its disposal, the Arabs, with no organization and no financial resources, were bound before long to have legitimate apprehensions regarding their economic future.

When the disturbances of last August occurred, resulting in more than 300 deaths, the mandatory powers had sufficient warning to have prepared adequately to prevent in large measure such disturbances.

British Deny Charges.

This criticism on the part of the technical body which advises the council of the league of nations regarding operations of the league's mandate is not taken meekly by Ramsay MacDonald's government. Replying for the mandatory authority, Arthur Henderson, on whom responsibility for execution of the mandate rested, challenges the accuracy or justice of many of the league's findings and defends the British Palestine authorities against imputations of inaction and lack of foresight.

Upon one thing the mandate's commission and the mandatory power sorrowfully agrees: The job of acting as umpire between the Jews and Arabs in Palestine is not an easy one.

PRINCETON MAN'S MURDER LAID TO TRIO IN HOLDUP

Cleveland, O., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Three holdup men tonight faced charges of murdering Miller Wilkison, 23, Princeton university senior, in a holdup early today of 40 guests at a fashionable party in the Shaker Heights home of Ray S. Dunham.

Those held for the shooting were Angelo Bell, 20; his brother, Mike, 16, and Ross Valone, 18. Police said the Bells confessed to the holdup and named Valone as the engineer of the plot, and that Angelo admitted firing the fatal shot.

In addition to the three charged with murder, the police held for questioning the Bell brothers' father, Andrew Bell, 39. They found three revolvers, two rifles, and 500 rounds of ammunition in his home.

Wilkison, who was a manager of athletics at Princeton, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Wilkison of Shaker Heights. The elder Wilkison is a prominent investment securities dealer. Dunham, who was giving the party, is a prominent dealer in real estate.

LOVE WINS OUT IN WEDDING OF TITLED COUSINS

Bridegroom's Ma Loses Italian Court Fight.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Aug. 25.—A series of court cases over the marriage between titled cousins, which for six years has stirred aristocratic circles in north Italy, has finally been adjudicated in favor of the bridal couple, Count Gottardo Frisiani Parisetti and Signora Fausta Odescalchi, of the princely Odescalchi family.

An additional complication to the case was the fact that they were married in the world's smallest republic, San Marino. In 1924, when the count announced his intention of marrying his cousin Fausta, his mother, Marchessa Teria Varini Frisiani, filed suit in a Milan court asking that the wedding be legally forbidden. Count Parisetti and Fausta contested the suit and won.

Rule in Favor of Couple.

The marchessa then took the case to the Court of Appeals, declaring her son was out of his mind. But the court upheld the son. The case then went to the Court of Cassation, and thence to the tribunal, which ruled in favor of the young couple.

While the case was under appeal to the Supreme court the count and Fausta were married in the cathedral of the republic of San Marino Dec. 29, 1928.

The act of marriage was transcribed on the civil register of Milan in January, 1929, by order of the procurator of the king.

Decree Marriage Valid.

At this instance the marchessa filed a new suit, asking that the marriage be annulled on the ground that it was concluded while the case was still under appeal. Now the whole matter has been ended by the judgment of two divisions of the tribunal that the marriage was valid. The marchessa's suit has been dismissed and she has been ordered to pay all costs.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR VIADUCT AT NEW LINK BRIDGE

A contract for the construction of the superstructure of the Ohio street viaduct, running from Ohio street to the Ogden slip, was awarded to Paschen brothers yesterday by the board of Lincoln park commissioners. The bid was $258,585, $72,000 lower than the estimate of the board.

The viaduct will be part of the new outer drive connecting the present Lake Shore drive with the bridge across the Ogden slip. Construction of the substructure, to cost approximately $250,000, has been underway for several weeks.

JURY DISAGREES

[Pacific and Atlantic Photo.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Unable to reach a verdict, the jury which heard the trial of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich for the slaying of her husband, Fred Oesterreich, wealthy Milwaukee manufacturer, was discharged late today.

The jury had deliberated since Saturday morning. The six women and six men told newspaper men the voting stood 10 to 2 for conviction of second degree murder, with two voting for acquittal.

Mrs. Oesterreich was indicted, with her "attic sweetheart," Otto Sanhuber, for the slaying of Oesterreich Aug. 22, 1922. Sanhuber, tried separately, was convicted, but freed by the statute of limitations.

KEEP COOL With Kruschen

It's the acid and toxins in your blood that causes it to boil in hot weather.

You can keep free from acid and toxins and at the same time gain in vigor, ambition and keenness of mind by taking half a teaspoonful of Nature's Own Magic Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Ask for Kruschen Salts—at any drug store in the World—Not just one salts, mind you—but a combination of six vitalizing and rejuvenating salts that Nature put into the Human body at the beginning of creation—And demands you keep there or good health will not be yours.

Kruschen Salts is what you need to keep your stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys in fine working order. A bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents and before the bottle is half gone you'll feel the spirit of youth within you—Your bright eyes—your clear skin—your very walk and great power of endurance will mean but one thing—Good Health—Life will be well worth living.

JUSTICES TAKE OVER N. Y. QUIZ OF MAGISTRATES

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Acting upon the request of Gov. Roosevelt, the appellate division voted today to investigate magistrates and magistrates' courts in Manhattan and the Bronx, while United States Attorney Tuttle, delving more deeply into the Ewald case, unearthed what he believes is another instance of office buying.

Mr. Tuttle, who has forwarded his new information to Attorney General Hamilton Ward for use in the latter's investigation into charges that George F. Ewald paid more than $10,000 to Martin J. Healy, a Tammany leader, just before his elevation to the magistracy, declared that Jacob Cash gave Healy $2,000 in cash the day he was appointed a city marshal by Mayor Walker.

In an interview, Cash admitted that he had given Healy $2,000 in addition to a diamond and emerald bracelet which he gave Mrs. Healy.

MILLION FEWER AUTOS MADE IN U. S. THIS YEAR

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The number of automobiles manufactured in the United States for the first seven months this year was more than 1,000,000 below the output for the same period last year.

This was announced today by the commerce department, which said the comparative figures were 2,481,911 and 3,726,283.

Production last month was placed at 262,363 cars, compared with 335,477 for June and 500,840 for July, 1929. It was the lowest figure since last December when the output was 120,007.

The total for last month included 222,458 passenger cars, 39,663 trucks, and 241 taxicabs.

CANADA STEAMSHIP LINES operate from the head of Lake Superior, via the St. Lawrence River, to the Saguenay. Their cruises include the seven day trip from Detroit to Duluth and return; Niagara to the Saguenay, including the Thousand Islands, and shooting the rapids; excursions from Toronto, the Queen City, to Niagara, the Thousand Islands and Rochester. They operate a fleet of 106 steamers, freight and passenger, and are the largest fresh water transportation company in the world. The famous Saguenay trip includes visits to Montreal, metropolis of Canada; Quebec, the historic walled city; Murray Bay, "Newport of the North" and Tadoussac, Canada's oldest settlement. The Saguenay Canyon is one of nature's masterpieces.

Our steamers may be boarded at Lewiston, Rochester, Duluth or Detroit in the U.S.A., or Sarnia, Queenston, Toronto, Montreal or Quebec in Canada.

HAVE you ever seen a genuine camera-shy "Mountie" in a smart red tunic? You will probably run across one or two of this famous corps as you journey through French Canada. This lower St. Lawrence country—the cradle of Canadian history—is brimful of new and interesting sights.

The habitant woman spinning at her door-step, or baking huge loaves in an outdoor oven, the woodsman shouldering his axe and striding along in soft moccasins, the little boys driving their big dogs at a gallop in home-made carts—these are part of the delightful, simple life of French Canada's beloved habitants.

Our large modern steamers ply from Niagara, via the St. Lawrence river to the distant Saguenay. Air that stirs the blood like a bugle call, the grandeur of mountain scenery, new congenial friends—all go to make up a memorable vacation cruise, as delightful as a trip abroad.

Please write at once for illustrated folder, which describes in detail the pleasures of this wonderful vacation cruise.

"SMOKY TASTE"

...like awakening in a forest of chimneys

Dust-filled air...foggy nights... humid nights...city dwellers know them well...they must sleep through them. Morning tells the tale, better than words, with an unclean "Smoky Taste".

Don't let it linger longer than from bed to bathroom. Simply brushing your teeth will not banish it. Let a quick GLYCO-Thymoline mouth-rinse gently awaken the drowsy membranes of your mouth, arouse normal action and restore clean taste—pleasantly and effectively.

GLYCO-Thymoline is different. An alkaline solution, without sting or harshness, it penetrates between the teeth, flushes out food particles and neutralizes harmful acids. Do not confuse GLYCO-Thymoline with highly flavored mouth washes that merely replace one taste with another. Too, GLYCO-Thymoline deodorizes, not merely disguises your breath. Also relieves irritated throats and husky voices.

Chicagoland Music Festival Draws Record Crowd of 150,000 to Soldiers' Field

Again the Chicago Tribune Does the Job Alone!

On Saturday night, August 23, 1930, the largest audience that ever came together for any cultural event in modern times gathered at Soldiers' Field on Chicago's lake front.

More than 150,000 persons packed the huge stadium from upper rim to cinder path. 20,000 surged about the gates outside.

They had come to listen to a colossal concert, the Chicagoland Music Festival, conceived and directed by the Chicago Tribune.

It was the largest crowd that Soldiers' Field had ever accommodated.

Attendance records established at boxing and football contests were shattered as the music-loving people of Chicagoland joined to see and hear this most spectacular performance in the history of music.

Eight windows had been opened for the sale of tickets. But when the ticket lines began to stretch out for city blocks, all ticket sales were stopped and the gates thrown open so that the eager thousands would not miss the program.

From all over the five states which are Chicagoland came the singers, bandsmen, and instrumentalists who provided the music. Thirty-four newspapers outside of Chicago co-operated with the Tribune in selecting the talent.

The job of selling this superlative show to the people of Chicago and suburbs the Tribune assumed alone.

With the result that the largest gathering place in America couldn't begin to hold the crowds that wanted to attend. The Chicago Tribune's selling messages had reached practically everybody who could be expected to respond. And they did respond—in overwhelming volume.

Have you a product to sell to this responsive audience?—to this responsive market?

Then get this tremendous crowd to descend upon the stores and dealers that sell your product! Put across your selling messages to the great Chicago market in the one medium that can do the job alone—the Chicago Tribune!

DROUGHT BOARD TO CONFER WITH BANKERS TODAY

Farmers Will Require 20 Million, Hyde Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—President Hoover and members of his drought relief committee completed arrangements today for their conference tomorrow with the banking representatives of state committees upon plans for extending financial aid to the stricken agricultural areas.

Twelve, and possibly more of the state committee members, most of them prominent bankers, will attend the White House meeting which was called following the President's first conference ten days ago with the governors of the most seriously affected states. At that time the ground work was laid for the federal state and county relief organizations.

Set Up Credit Corporations.

Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, chairman of the federal group, indicated that the plan to be laid before the bankers will closely resemble that used in the Mississippi flood relief program. Briefly, he explained, it will mean that "local communities will furnish the credit and the federal intermediate credit banks will furnish the funds."

The tentative arrangement is for each state group to set up a credit corporation with branches in the counties. To this corporation farmers will apply for seed or feed loans, their notes being taken on collateral not ordinarily accepted by banks. The credit corporations in turn will rediscount the notes at the federal banks, obtaining from the banks amounts up to ten times their capitalization. Secretary Hyde has calculated roughly that $20,000,000 will be needed from the banks, the remainder being furnished locally.

Details of this arrangement will be discussed at the conference, together with ways and means of speedily putting it into effect.

Traylor Will Attend Parley.

Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago banker, named by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, will represent Illinois at the conference. Committeemen from other states who have accepted invitations are:

Indiana—Elmer Stout, Indianapolis; Ohio—Edward A. Seiter, Cincinnati; West Virginia—F. D. Drumheller, Charleston; Maryland—Hugh S. Mackey, Baltimore; Alabama—Clyde Hendricks; Arkansas—J. H. Stanley; Mississippi—M. J. Bouldin, Clarksdale; Missouri—Arnold G. Steifel, St. Louis; Kentucky—Nicholas Dosker, Louisville, and Texas—F. H. Fuqua, Amarillo.

Louisiana will send a representative whose name was not disclosed.

In order to be on hand for the conference, Secretary Hyde returned to Washington today from a drought inspection trip which carried him through five states and as far west as Indianapolis, Ind. He visited Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, and Virginia.

Hyde Finds Corn Loss Heavy.

"Three things made the deepest impression upon me as I studied the farms," said Mr. Hyde. "First, the loss in grain crops, corn especially, appears to be greater than we had anticipated; second, the recent rains have brought the pactures back, and third, the farmers everywhere seem to be determined to take care of themselves and are showing marvelous spirit in the face of the bad conditions."

Mr. Hyde said that he saw some evidences of acute human suffering among farmers, especially those of the mountain regions who will need Red Cross assistance.

Further downward revisions in forecasts of production of canning crops of sweet corn, tomatoes and snap beans were announced today by the United States crop reporting board.

MURDER IS FOUND MYSTERY.

A verdict of murder by persons unknown was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday in the case of Joseph Terravecchia, 44 years old, killed by shotgun slugs Sunday night in an alley near his home, 3405 South 59th avenue, Cicero.

Traylor Goes to Capital for Conference on Draught Relief

BY PAUL POTTER.

Methods of financing the relief of farmers in drought ridden areas, to come before a conference of banker members of President Hoover's national committee, were discussed by Gov. L. L. Emmerson's Illinois relief committee here yesterday.

The meeting adjourned at noon in order that Melvin A. Traylor, chairman of the Illinois committee, might catch a train to be at the Washington conference called by Secretary Arthur M. Hyde. Organization plans will be made in Illinois as soon as the type of financing is decided, he declared.

Get Plan Under Way.

"We have discussed the possible methods of organizing relief work for the thirty southern Illinois counties in which we understand the drought is serious," stated Mr. Traylor. "But first we must know when and how the money is to be secured, if by business or by outright charity means."

A meeting of the committee held in Springfield Saturday resulted in the naming of Mr. Traylor as chairman, and the issuing of instructions to farm advisors in the southern Illinois counties to prepare for the state committee an up to date report of conditions in their areas. These men will undoubtedly be the contacts for localized relief plans, Mr. Traylor believes.

The third meeting of the Illinois committee is called for Thursday at 10:30 in the chairman's Chicago office. By this time it is hoped to have the county agent reports on hand and to know the results of the Hoover conference to enable immediate proceeding with local organization plans.

Rain Aids Some Areas.

"Just how much help we will be called upon to give in Illinois is a matter of conjecture," said one member of the state committee. "Some areas report rains or cooler weather which have relieved them from outside need, while in other sections of the state the drought continues to cause further deterioration in crops and pastures."

Dean H. W. Mumford of the University of Illinois, named by the governor on the committee, attended yesterday's conference. Others present were Earl C. Smith, president, Illinois Agricultural association; Harvey Sconce, Siddell farmer; L. A. Downs, president Illinois Central railway; Stuart Pierson, state secretary of agriculture, and E. N. Hurley, Chicago manufacturer. V. C. Olander and John Grebs, other committee members, could not attend.

CHICAGO YOUTH SLAIN AS BANDIT IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A young man shot and killed as a bandit here today was identified as Harold Nessell, 24 years old, of Chicago. Policemen E. Maney and W. L. Chase went to Nessell's apartment on information they would find a trio who robbed a party of $1,900 in jewels and furs in a north St. Andrews place apartment last Thursday night. Two victims of the robbery, Mrs. Betty Ryan and Miss Marie Lewis, identified Nessell's body as that of one of the robbers.

Both officers fired, they said, when Nessell, instead of raising his hands, made a move toward his waist. Nessell carried the alias of Daniel Craemer, and had been convicted of a charge of forgery here this year, being out on probation.

AL SMITH GUEST WHEN SARATOGA CLUB IS RAIDED

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—All Saratoga today was wonedring what prompted a raid of prohibition agents upon the exclusive Brook club here Saturday evening, when the club was filled with an array of distinguished guests, none of whom was molested.

Eight prohibition agents, headed by Lowell Smith, deputy administrator for this division, made the raid. The raiders seized what they said was 360 quarts of assorted liquors and arrested, on charges of violation of the prohibition law, four persons, among them T. J. Mara and Charles A. Faisole.

Among those who were present when the raid took place were former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Mack, Chauncey Olcott, the singer, and P. J. Kenny, New York contractor.

Firemen in Ohio City Will Be Policemen, Too

Lima, O., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Lima city firemen became policemen today. The 39 members of the fire department, in a petition to City Manager Fred C. Becker, agreed with Becker that they would perform police duties as well as their fire fighting work. They will be subject to call at any time for police duty. The action was taken when it became known that city finances would not permit the engaging of extra police help.

SEIZE THREE AS YOUTH DIES OF BULLET WOUNDS

James Blaine, 27 years old, wounded in the abdomen Sunday night while at work in a refrigerator car of the Chicago fruit exchange at 37th and Wood streets, died yesterday and the Brighton Park police arrested as his slayer Vernon Nelson, 24 years old, of Schiller Park, son of Nels Nelson, ex-policeman, who is also being held.

Blaine's deathbed statement at the county hospital was that the elder Nelson, formerly an employé of the fruit exchange, had been discharged for drunkenness, and that he blamed Blaine. He accused him of being "a stool pigeon."

With his son, Vernon, and a son-in-law, Frank Smith, Nelson appeared at the exchange two days after his discharge. Blaine was summoned to the door of the refrigerator car. Vernon Nelson fired both barrels of a sawed off shotgun at him, wounding him in the abdomen, he said. Then he quoted the elder Nelson as saying, "That's from me."

All three men have been arrested. They declined to talk. The police say they have witnesses to identify them. Blaine just before he died said he lived at 1252 North Clark street, but the police could find no one of that name that had ever lived there.

2 WOMEN SHOT TO DEATH; BABY LOSES FINGERS

Cambridge, Md., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Two women were shot and killed tonight and two fingers were blown from the hand of a baby. County officers formed a posse and search was started for the husband of one of the women. A double barrel shotgun was used.

The women were Mrs. Nettie Booze, whose husband, Gorman Booze, was sought, and Mrs. Nancy Wilson. The injured infant, 15 months old, belonged to Mrs. Booze. The shooting occurred at the Wilson home.

Booze and his wife separated a few weeks ago over a church argument and since then the woman had been living with members of the congregation.

Arraign Released Convict on Charge of Woman Today

Joseph Dailey, 34 years old, released a few weeks ago from the Chester asylum for the criminal insane, will be arraigned today in the Stockyards court on complaint of a young woman, who accuses him of trying to attack her Sunday evening. She said as she was passing an alley Dailey seized her and tried to pull her into it but she broke away and ran to her home. She notified the Chicago Lawn police, who arrested him at his home, 5224 West 63d street.

CITY WELCOMES WORLD TRACK STARS TODAY

VOLTAGREEN SETS TRACK RECORD AT LINCOLN FIELDS

BEATS FAVORITE BY TWO LENGTHS AT 5½ FURLONGS

12,000 Attend First Day's Program.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Voltagreen, from the Nevada Stock farm stable, ran 5½ furlongs faster than any other horse has ever sped over the Lincoln Fields course yesterday and won the Thornton purse, which featured the opening of the season at the Crete track.

The daughter of Volta-Shamrock Green was rolling up her fourth straight victory, and after shaking off one stiff challenge after another in the stretch she went on to win by two lengths from the 6 to 5 favorite, Doris Jean, owned by Jake Lowenstein of Chicago. Fair Missie, a Kentucky filly, finished third after running head and head with the winner for most of the journey.

Voltagreen Pays $13.20.

Voltagreen ran the 5½ furlongs in 1:05 3-5, which was a fifth of a second faster than Dr. Washington's track record hung up three years ago. During the plunge on Doris Jean, Pittsburgher, and Harry Payne Whitney's Elysium, Voltagreen was overlooked and paid $13.20 to win. Doris Jean was at 1 to 2 place. Fair Missie would have been a 14 to 1 shot had she kept her nose in front during the desperate drive down the stretch.

The Lincoln Fields autumn season opened under ideal conditions. The weather was perfect. The track was never better. About 12,000 were in the first day crowd. The form players were off to a flying start when Dr. Parrish, a Kentucky 4 year old, backed to the exclusion of the others, was in front all the way as he won the six furlong dash which opened the program.

Most of the crowd traveled to the track on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois special trains, but there were some 2,500 automobiles parked at the course when the program opened, and others came out on the Illinois Central trains which connect with buses at Homewood. Flags were at half mast out of respect to Clifford R. Trimble, Aurora racing chief, who passed away yesterday.

Fair Missie Away First.

Eight of the leading western 2 year olds took part in the Thornton purse. Fair Missie was first away from the barrier, but Voltagreen was right behind her and had taken the lead a furlong out. Voltagreen led from there until the finish, but she had a desperate time doing it, for she never was more than a head in front until the last sixteenth of a mile.

Fair Missie pressed her for a time. Then Doris Jean took up the running. Plutarch offered a challenge and so did Pittsburgher and Elysium. But after Voltagreen had withstood all these drives she had more left than any of the others and was going away as she galloped past the line of finish.

Seven high class sprinters clashed in the six furlong third race, and the heavily backed Hot Time, at almost even money, gave his public a terrible jolt when he finished unplaced. Princeton was in front from start to finish, and Theo Rochester ran second most of the way. The Tartar got up in the last strides to snatch third money away from Hot Time.

Princeton had his backers despite the heavy support for Hot Time, and paid $4.34 for a two dollar ticket. He ran the three-quarters in 1:11 2-5, and was ridden by Jockey B. Hanford.

Eleven Sixty Wins Fifth Race.

That old Chicago favorite, Eleven Sixty, scored in the mile and a sixteenth fifth race. Barney Kauffman tried to wake up Shady Rest in the race, and Shady did fairly well, winding up second after running well up with Eleven Sixty in the early stages. Vandal got third money. Eleven Sixty paid more than 5 to 2. Mr. Kauffman has a habit of trying to wake up Shady Rest when the price against Shady Rest is long.

The judges began to rule with an iron hand in the seventh race when Royal Son was disqualified after he had finished first. The race was awarded to J. A. Weil. On the disqualification Honest John got second money and Shift, the favorite, was placed third.

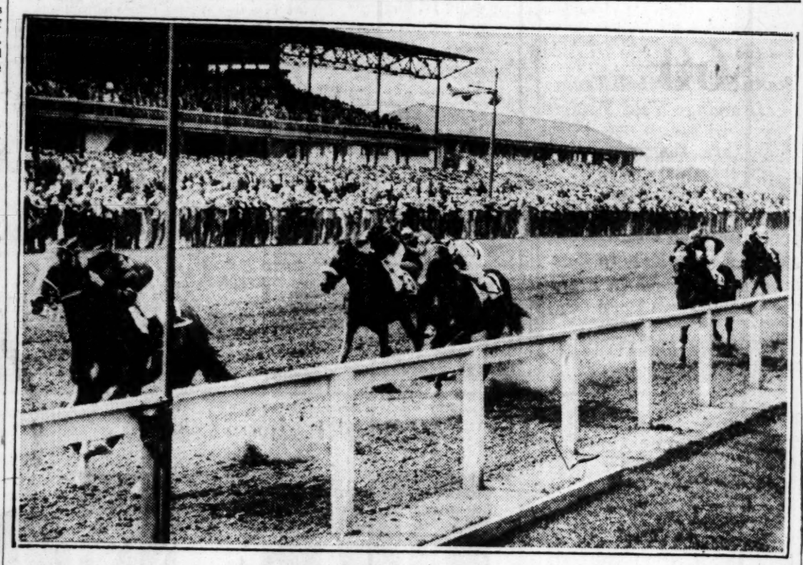
TOUCHDOWN FOR PRINCETON



Princeton, four year old son of Light Brigade-Paris Queen, didn't have much trouble scoring in the third race on the opening card at Lincoln Fields yesterday. Buddy Hanford took the Pollard gelding into a lead which he held all the way, beating Theo Rochester by three and a half lengths, with The Tartar third. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Cubs Open 2 Game Series Against Bucs

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who are playing with desperation to get in the first division before the split of the world series dough, are in town today to play the first of a two game series with the Cubs.

The Pirates haven't been in the second division since 1918 and as a consequence have received a piece of prize money for a dozen years, including, of course, the major chunk of the National league allotment in 1927.

Remember Last Series?

The Pirates weren't so nice to the Cubs when they were here the first of the month. Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say the Cubs were very good to the Pirates. You remember the Cubs won the first game of the series on Aug. 1, 10 to 7. But adversity arrived the next day. The Pirates won 14 to 8, and on the Thursday Root was breezing along to a potential 7 to 4 victory when suddenly the team blew up in the eighth, the Pirates chased across eight runs and won the ball game, 12 to 8.

The Pirates in the last ten days have been going better than at any time this year and the two game series will afford nothing soft, especially if Ray Kremer, the National league's ranking pitcher, is elected for one of the games. Kremer probably will pitch today. The Cubs expect to use Blake.

Cards Come Next.

St. Louis will follow the Pirates here for four days ending Sunday, when the Cubs conclude their long home stand and jump to Cincinnati for Labor day festivities. Next Sunday's game will be the last at Wrigley field until Sept. 26, excepting Sunday, Sept. 7, when the Cubs jump back here from Pittsburgh for one contest. The champs then journey to Brooklyn to open their final seaboard invasion.

BUSH PICKS CUBS

CUBS' PENNANT DRIVE.

BEFORE the Cubs faced the eastern clubs on the latter's final western invasion of the 1930 season they were asked by admirers to acquire a four game margin over either Brooklyn or New York, whichever was closest. They went that one better and have a five game advantage.

While nothing may be called certain in baseball, the north siders appear to be "in," mathematically, unless they fall into a wide open slump. Look at the figures for yourself. With 74 won and 48 lost, the Cubs have only 32 more games to play, of which three each are against New York and Brooklyn, principal contenders.

If we assume that McCarthy's men average only as high a percentage for the remainder of the season as they already have amassed—although right now the sluggers are slugging and the pitchers are pitching—they would take at least nineteen of those games, which would leave a final standing of 93-61. To tie such a performance, New York must take 27 out of 34, an almost impossible feat with Cubs, Pirates, Cards, and Robins among their opponents.

Even if the Cubs slumped badly and won only half their remaining games, they would end with 90-64. To tie that percentage, the Giants must win 22 and lose only 12. That they will do that well is improbable, although not impossible, with the good pitching they have been getting. Brooklyn may come again, but it looks as if the long awaited "cracking" has arrived.

New York lost its great opportunity in the record breaking series just closed. Theoretically, at least, results count twice as much when two contenders are meeting each other. New York has only three more chances against the Cubs. If McCarthy's men do not repeat for the pennant from this point, it will be a decided "upset."

FIELDS DISCARDS ROONEY AS PILOT; SEEKS KEARNS

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Jackie Fields, former welterweight champion, has parted from his manager, Willie [Gig] Rooney, and Fields is reported here as being engaged in negotiations which may add him to the fight stable of Jack Kearns. Fields and Rooney terminated their business arrangements yesterday.

Ralph Volke, Fields' trainer, left the ex-champion's company to stay with Rooney, whose headquarters hereafter will be in San Francisco.

Differences between Fields and Rooney date from the period in which Fields was training for the Jack Thompson bout, in which he lost his title.

BRITISH POLOISTS WIN IN TEST, BUT FAIL TO IMPRESS

Barney Balding Added to Visitors' Lineup.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Glen Cove., L. I., Aug. 25.—The British polo challengers won a practice game from a team of veterans this afternoon at Piping Rock club, but again failed to produce any playing that would tend to cause anxiety in the American ranks. As a team, the four lacked coördination, hit erratically, and missed frequently. In the end, the British players won, 12 to 8, but turned in a game that lacked the speed and zest of the recent American test matches.

A new player was introduced today. Until this afternoon, Barney Balding, younger brother of Gerald Balding, the rangy British No. 2, never had been considered international polo material, but he played the last three periods at No. 1 in place of Capt. Richard George and now is ranking contender for the team.

Pedley Worries Britons.

A long distance telephone call to Chicago brought Barney to Long Island. Aidan Roark has been having trouble with a head injury and is on the hospital list; Capt. George has been missing more balls than he has been hitting and with Eric Pedley, the American No. 1, playing brilliant polo, that position has been keeping the Britishers awake nights.

Barney has been spending his summers in Chicago for several years. He is well known as a steeplechase rider, both in this country and in his home in England, but he has not played much polo in the east. He is a five goal player. Last year he played at Rumson with the midwest team which was defeated in the semi-finals by an army team.

The British rode faster and hit harder than they did in their first practice game, but most of the improvement was shown by Pat Roark and Gerald Balding. Captain George was topping when he was not missing today, but his supporters found solace in history. He looked bad in practice in 1927, but he turned in a splendid game at No. 1 in the second international match of that year. Young Balding did as well as could be expected when he was shoved into George's position, but he is light and bounces about in the saddle like a rubber man. Lewis Lacey, at back, was off his hitting.

Play 28 Goal Team.

The invaders were met by a twenty-eight goal team which included Watson Webb, former internationalist, at No. 2, two members of the American international squad, Harold Talbott, Jr., at No. 1, and J. C. Rathborne at

BY ARCH WARD.

AVERY BRUNDAGE.

For the eighth time this year Great Britain tomorrow meets the United States in an important sports event. The finest athletes of the British empire meet America's best at Soldiers' field in the first night track meet attempted in Chicago.

The international contest was arranged by the Amateur Athletic union. It was an undertaking involving financial risk. A crowd of 20,000 will be necessary to meet expenses. Chicago never has turned out half that many to a track contest and it has had several of the best attractions the sport provides.

Avery Brundage, president of the A. A. U., and Joseph Maccabe, chairman of the foreign relations committee, who brought the meet to Chicago, are optimistic over prospects of a record breaking attendance.

In addition to the opportunity of seeing the greatest athletes in the world fans have been aroused by the international angle. Uncle Sam tomorrow has a chance to square the year's score card with John Bull.

Barring the Sharkey-Scott and Stribling-Scott boxing matches, in which no championship was at stake, the United States and England have met seven times this season on the athletic field. The British were victorious in the women's golf matches and Wightman cup tennis play. Betty Nuttall Sunday waltzed away with the American women's tennis title at Forest Hills. It was the first time in its 43 years of existence an alien had won the meet. Diana Fishwick defeated Glenna Collett in the British women's golf finals.

Bobby Jones has kept Uncle Sam in the running by his triumphs in the British amateur and British open golf tournaments. The Walker cup matches provided the other American victory.

That makes the score 4 to 3 for the Britons. Tomorrow night is our chance to get even.

Trying to See the Game.

Time—Sunday afternoon, Aug. 24, 1930.

Characters—Joe Blow, ardent National league fan, and Gus J. Fan, American league devotee; peanut, ice cream and candy vendors.

Joe—It looks like them Cubs are in. They broke Brooklyn's heart last week and if they win today they'll crack the spirit of Manhattan and the Bronx.

Gus—Looks like you're right. But wait until they go up against those Athletics.

Joe—Yeah. Just wait. Hey, there, you peanut salesman, will you get out from in front of me so I can see the batter?

Joe—As I was sayin', just wait. Mack himself said that a coupla plays would have changed the result of the 1929 series. Can't expect the sun to shine in Hack's eyes forever, can yuh?

Gus—Didja see that catch Cuyler just made? Wow! What a play.

Joe—How could I see with this big ice cream fellow standing in the way. Funny that Mr. Wrigley permits those peddlers to ruin the game for cash customers. Wonder if they ever sell anything?

Gus—Tough luck Dazzy Vance is having, isn't it? See where he allowed only five earned runs in last 45 innings and lost three of the five games.

Joe—The Cubs have the best outfield in the major leagues. Where can you find a man in the American league who can field like Cuyler? Stevie and Hack cover a lot of ground, too, and they all can hit.

Gus—Stevie is too fragile. He's on the bench more than he is on the field. And they tell me his sub, Taylor, can't peg any too well.

Just then Taylor made a remarkable throw to cut down Reese of the Giants at the plate.

Joe—O, he's got a weak wing, huh? What about that toss?

Gus—Must have been good, but I couldn't see it. This fellow selling pop can tell me all about it, though. He stood in front of me long enough to observe the details.

Joe—Where you going, Gus? Not walking out on a game like this, are you?

Gus—I'm going up to see Wrigley or Veeck or somebody and tell 'em if they want to do something to please the fans they'll limit the working hours for their pop and peanut salesmen. Who wants to buy anything when a player is trying to score or when a fielder is making a brilliant catch? Couldn't they get all that business between innings when no one would be disturbed?

Hutchison's an Odd Golf Pro; He Gets Fun Out of Tourneys

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Jock Hutchison of Glen View is one of the few professionals who seem to have any fun during a golf tournament. The boys who are out there shooting for a reputation or for car fare home usually assume a severe cast of countenance upon stepping to the first tee and preserve it throughout the round.

In the midst of so much austerity, the gallery finds something refreshing in Jock's carefree way of clowning through a tournament and climaxing it by swallowing his ball—to all appearances—before walking off the last green.

Unlike so many of the boys, Jock doesn't have to worry much about a reputation any more, and so far as the car fare home is concerned, he probably has found the game sufficiently remunerative to give him the wherewithal to go a long ways and still get back without earning his passage by doing odd jobs.

Sometimes There's a Reason.

Occasionally this clowning of Jock's has a purpose, which shows him to be much more clever than his more somber opponents. One of his numerous campaigns carried him down to Florida for the Miami open, and in the course of play his ball landed in such a position that a branch of a tree was in line with shot he would have to play toward the green.

Jock killed all the time he reasonably could by studying the situation from all angles and then for some reason known at the time only to himself he stalled along still further by amusing the gallery with two or three wise cracks. Suddenly he jumped over to the ball and slapped it hard. He was still laughing when the applause abated.

"Ye don't know what I was waitin' for," he chuckled in his broad Scotch brogue. "I was after a double puff

BRITISH, YANKS VIE TOMORROW IN NIGHT MEET

Honor Athletes at Noon Luncheon.

Today's Program

10 a. m.—British Empire squad arrives at Illinois Central station.
10:15 a. m.—Parade of athletes and officials to Hotel Sherman. Route of march: North on Michigan avenue to Jackson; west to La Salle street; north to Randolph and east to hotel.
12 noon—Luncheon for athletes at Sherman given by Rotary Club of Chicago.
3 p. m.—Practice at Soldiers' field.
8 p. m.—Reception for athletes at Medinah Athletic club.
8:30 p. m.—International boxing bouts at Medinah.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Chicago will be host today and tomorrow to the best track and field athletes of the English speaking nations of the world. Save for the quadrennial Olympic games, no greater group of stars has been brought together.

Tomorrow night at Soldiers' field America will defend its international honors for the fourth time against the British empire. In ten years since the series started the empire's athletes have failed to defeat the United States, although the first meet ended in a tie.

Today the approaching tests will be forgotten while Chicago welcomes defender and invader. The United States team, 66 strong, chosen after Saturday's tests in the National A. A. U. meet at Pittsburgh will arrive at 9 o'clock this morning at the Grand Central station. They will go immediately to the Illinois Central station where at 10 o'clock the Empire squad detrains from Hamilton, Ont.

Hold Parade Today.

The athletes, officials and welcoming committee will parade to the Hotel Sherman. They will be guests of honor at a noon luncheon given by the Rotary club of Chicago. The route of march to the Sherman will be north on Michigan avenue from the Illinois Central station to Jackson boulevard. Thence the caravan of buses and limousines will go west to La Salle street and north to Randolph.

The parade will be headed by the drum and bugle corps of the Board of Trade post of the American Legion and the Kiltie band of the Stock Yards post of the Legion.

Knute Rockne, whose fame as an after dinner speaker is comparable to his record with Notre Dame football teams, will be the principal speaker at the Rotary luncheon. Gov. Emmerson will be a guest of honor at the speakers' table.

Other guests are Gen. John V. Clinnin, A. A. Stagg, K. L. Wilson, Judge Walter Steffen, George Getz, Samuel Insull, Avery Brundage, Baron Bailliet-Latour, president of the International Athletic federation; Hon. Godfrey, Haggard, British consul general in Chicago; Hon. J. F. Wadmore, chairman of the Empire games committee; William R. Castle Jr., assistant secretary of state, who will represent President Hoover, and Joseph Maccabe of Boston. Mr. Maccabe is chairman of the foreign relations committee of the A. A. U. and with Mr. Brundage was responsible for the games being brought to Chicago. He arrived yesterday.

Britons at Medinah A. C.

After the luncheon program the athletes will visit their quarters. The Empire squad will be the guests of the Medinah Athletic club. The Americans will be lodged at the Chicago Athletic association and the Illinois Athletic club.

In the afternoon, presumably after 3 o'clock, many of the stars will visit Soldiers' field, limbering up after their long journeys in preparation for tomorrow night.

At 6 o'clock both squads will be guests at a reception at the Medinah, where at 8:30 a series of international boxing bouts will be held. The card was arranged by H. F. Keator, chairman of the athletic committee of the M. A. C.

The Empire boxers competed in the games at Hamilton and all have long lists of victories. T. N. Smith, South Africa's flyweight champion, meets Johnny Lunetto.

Meet Opens at 8:30.

The track meet tomorrow night, the first ever held under flood lights in Chicago, will start at 8:30. It will be preceded by a parade patterned after the Olympic games. Dorothy Childers and Edith Pierson will be the color bearers for the English and American flags.

Avery Brundage, Joseph Maccabe and J. F. Wadmore will be the referees of the meet.

In the event of rain the games will be postponed until Thursday night. The Empire squad will sail Saturday from Montreal, thus permitting a one day postponement if necessary.

BRITISH TRACK TEAM PROTESTS ROCKNE, STAGG

Says Professionalism Bars Them as Officials.

Indian Wins Decathlon

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Wilson Charles, Oneida Indian from Haskell Institute, won the national decathlon championship this afternoon, coming from behind in the final event, the 1,500 meter run, to beat out Jim Stewart of the Los Angeles A. C. Harlow Rothert of the San Francisco Olympic club, and Joe Hall of the University of Florida, both competing in their first decathlon, finished third and fourth, respectively, with Forest Munger, also of the University of Florida, fifth. Charles had a total of 7,313.343 points, while Stewart had 7,119.605.

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—More than a hundred British envoys of good will and friendly challenge started an invasion of the United States here tonight when the Empire track and field team entrained for Chicago in a special ten car section.

American officials today agreed to accede to a British demand that no professional coaches serve as referees, starters, or judges. The British also had raised an objection to Johnny McHugh, New York starter. McHugh was protested by the Canadians, who hold him responsible for Percy Williams' defeat in the United States two seasons ago. Other countries agreed to back the Canadians. McHugh was to have been the American starter.

Object to U. S. Coaches.

Objection also was raised to the presence of K. K. Rockne of Notre Dame, Lawson Robertson of Pennsylvania, Dick Templeton of Southern California, Sherman Finger of Minnesota, A. A. Stagg of Chicago, John O'Connor of Purdue, and John Castleman of Ohio State.

The British contended the international meet to be held Wednesday night on Soldiers' field was to be conducted under Olympic rules, which make Rockne and his colleagues ineligible to serve as officials because they are professional coaches. The A. A. U. agreed not to use them and provided a substitute list of officials.

Britain's hopes were somewhat depressed as the squad entrained, when Williams, the Canadian flash, hobbled aboard on crutches as a guest and not a competitor. He will not be able to run for several months as a result of pulling a tendon on Saturday. With Williams out the Empire team foresees little chance in the 400 yard relay, the event with which they hoped to clinch the meet.

Despite Williams' absence, however, the British are sending to Chicago one of the strongest track teams ever assembled under one banner for international competition. In the field events they are weak, but on the track they loom strong.

Strong Trio in Hurdles.

In Lord Burghley, and H. Q. Davies and J. H. Viljoen, both of South Africa, they have the greatest hurdle trio ever enrolled on one team outside of Olympic competition. Burghley defeated both the Africans in the final Saturday, but was pressed to the limit even after jumping the gun. Viljoen defeated the British captain in Thursday's preliminary.

The United States cannot match the two English middle distance runners. Nowhere in the states, as far as is known, is there a man who can equal R. H. Thomas' 4:14 over a waterlogged track for the mile.

T. Hampson won the half mile run as he pleased in 1:52 2-5 Thursday, setting a new Canadian record, and coming within four-fifths of a second of Nurmi's world record.

Woman Sprinter Betters Record for 1,000 Meters

BERLIN, Germany, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Lina Radke of Germany, women's Olympic 800 meter champion, bettered the world's record for 1,000 meters today when she ran the distance in 3 minutes 6 5-10 seconds.

[The listed world's women's record for 1,000 meters is 3:08 1-5, set by Miss Trickey of England at London in 1924.]

In the Sunday morning edition of THE TRIBUNE it was reported that Sam Alpert had won the Cook county golf championship at Garfield park from J. Woods Sr., 10 and 9. This report was erroneous. Woods defeated Belden Morgan, Lincolnshire, 10 and 9, for the title.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Roy Parmalee, New York Giants' right hander, stopped the House of David baseball team on one hit here today as the Giants scored a 7 to 1 victory. Five thousand witnessed the game. Lindstrom of the Giants hit a home run.

Fog, Lack of Wind Defer America's Cup Yacht Test

Newport, R. I., Aug. 25.—(AP)—A thick fog and an almost entire absence of wind caused today's scheduled race between the yachts Yankee, Enterprise, Whirlwind, and Weetamoe to determine a defender for the America's cup to be called off. While various contenders remained under tow and made no attempt to sail, many small craft, including the press boat, were lost for a time in the fog.

"That fellow was 28 years old," Craft said, "and had been knocking from town to town trying to pick up the price of his meals as they came along. He borrowed carfare to get out to the course and all day long he toted a bag without having had his breakfast. That night I met him in a Miami restaurant.

"'What did you do, strike oil?'

"'Naw,' he replied, pulling bill after bill from his pocket. 'I caddied for Jock Hutchison and we took second money. Don't tell me that guy's a Scotchman.'"

Tiger Rookie Walks 12, but Beats Browns

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Tom Bridges, rookie right hander making his first major league start today, held the St. Louis Browns in check for eight and two-thirds innings to give the Detroit Tigers a 7 to 5 victory, although Waite Hoyt had to come to the rescue of the former Three Eye league ace. Hoyt pitched to the last batter after the Browns had rallied to score four runs in the ninth.

Bridges was in trouble most of the time because of 12 bases on balls, but tightened in the pinches, holding the Browns to seven hits. Hoyt went to the mound after Ferrell had cleaned the loaded sacks with a triple.

CRONIN, JONES HELP SENATORS BEAT MACKS, 3-2

Defeat Breaks Grove's String of Victories.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Joe Cronin's timely hitting in support of Sad Sam Jones' brilliant pitching gave the Washington Senators a 3 to 2 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics today and at the same time cut the first place lead of the world champions to six and one-half games.

Lefty Grove, seeking his ninth straight and twenty-second victory of the season for the Mackmen, also was in rare form but he caught Jones on a day when the 38 year old Washington ace had the Athletics swinging wildly at his curve ball, while Cronin was connecting with hits when hits meant runs.

Cronin's first part in the Senators' victory came in the fourth inning, when he drove in Heine Manush with a homer into the left field stands. The A's were not long in tieing the score, however, coming back with two runs in their half of the inning. Successive doubles by Bishop and Summa, followed by Foxx's sacrifice fly, were responsible for the two runs.

In the eighth, Cronin came to bat again and this time Sam Rice was on third with the score still tied. A single to right scored Rice with the winning run.

Senators Worry Mack; Sends to Minors for Aid

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Just a little bit panicky, perhaps, at the way the second place Senators persist in trimming the first place Athletics, Manager Connie Mack has sent out a hurry call for reinforcements.

While Washington was cutting down the A's lead to 6½ games at Shibe park today, Mack told newspapermen that Jim Moore, a big outfielder with the Dallas club in the Texas league, would be on hand Thursday to give the champions a helping hand. He goes on the active players' list at once, Mack said, and is to remain the rest of the season.

Haas' injury and the erratic playing of Summa against Washington yesterday are believed to have caused Manager Mack to send a rush order for another fielder.

MRS. HILL SHOOTS 7 BIRDIES; LEADS WOMEN GOLFERS

Tours Kansas City Course in 75; Mrs. Lifur 2d.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, stroked a magnificent 75 today to win medal honors in the 28th annual woman's western golf tournament and start impressively the defense of the crown she won a year ago at Cleveland.

Seven birdies and eleven holes in par placed Mrs. Hill seven under women's par of 82 and only two over men's par on the Hillcrest Country club course. She was medalist at Cleveland last year with a 77.

Mrs. Lifur Stroke Behind.

A stroke behind the Kansas City woman, who took up golf for her health a few years ago and developed into one of the nation's leading players, was Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Los Angeles. Last year Mrs. Lifur was runner up to Mrs. Hill, forcing the champion to take an eagle on the 37th hole to win the title. Mrs. Lifur also had seven birdies, but went one over par on the 12th.

The only other golfer to finish under 80 was Miss Dorothy Page, Madison, Wis., who had a 79. Twice on the last nine Miss Page's putts stopped on the lip of the cup.

Others to equal or best perfect play were Miss Florence Beebe, Chicago, 80; Mrs. Lee Mida, Chicago, 81; Miss Jean Armstrong, Chicago, 81; Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, 82; Miss Helen Lawson, Los Angeles, 82.

Young Players Qualify.

Four women who competed abroad for America this year against Great Britain qualified: Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Mida, Miss Van Wie, and Miss Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wis.

A group of young links stars gained admission into the select 32 qualifiers who will begin match play tomorrow. The group included Mary Elizabeth Ford, Kansas City; Betty Bruen, Kansas City; Lucile Robinson, Des Moines; Miss Florence Beebe, Chicago, and Miss Nelson, Chicago.

The championship pairings:

Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City [75], vs. Miss Adams, Indianapolis [86].
Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago [83], vs. Mrs. J. I. Raymond, Chicago [89].
Mrs. Lee Mida, Chicago [81], vs. Mrs. R. J. Pollard, Springfield, Ill., [88].
Virginia Van Wie, Chicago [82], vs. Mrs. J. T. Nichols, Chicago [89].
Mrs. Roy Green, Los Angeles [85], vs. Mrs. Nathan Reiger, Kansas City [91].
Mrs. Gregg Lifur, Los Angeles [76], vs. Miss Beebe, Chicago [87].
Miss Nelson, Chicago [83], vs. Mrs. D. W. Taylor Jr., Kansas City [89].
Betty Bruen, Kansas City [84], vs. Gladys Cousins, Kansas City [91].
Florence Beebe, Chicago [80], vs. Bernice Pol, Oshkosh, Wis., [88].
Lucille Robinson, Des Moines [84], vs. Mrs. Curtis Sohl, Columbus, O., [90].
Helen Lawson, Los Angeles [82], vs. Mrs. Milan Zech, Chicago [89].

SEEDED DOUBLES TEAMS WIN AS U. S. TOURNEY STARTS

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The return of tennis to normalcy appeared a sight today when 32 teams engaged in the opening round of the national doubles championship play on the Longwood courts without registering anything resembling an upset.

Nine of the ten seeded teams, led by George Lott and Johnny Doeg, the defending champions, won. The other team did not play because Sydney Wood, New York youngster, paired with Frank X. Shields, arrived too late to take the courts against Richard Lusch and Keith Werner of Los Angeles. They will play tomorrow.

Lott and Day defeated Albert and Robert Turner of Newton, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5. Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, the Davis cup doubles team, drew another pair of brothers, Leo and Charlie Lejeck, and made short work of them, 6-3, 6-0, 6-2.

Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter had an easy time defeating the middle Atlantic champions, Dooley Mitchell and Robert Considine of Washington, 6-1, 6-4.

Berkley Bell and Gregory Mangin, the Davis cup alternates, had a struggle with G. Lyttleton Rogers of Ireland, and Watson Washburn, veteran New Yorker, before downing their taller rivals, 14-12, 7-5, 8-6.

Three Pairs Tie with 69 in Pro-Amateur Tourney

Three pairs were tied for first place with scores of 69 in the pro-amateur best ball medal play yesterday at the Beverly Country club. They were J. A. Middleton Jr. and Jack Duray, Don Hamilton and Harry Nelson, and Gus Novotny and Guy Paulson. Next came Eddie Kirk and Bill Lain, with 70. Art Sweet and Jim Meehan, and Gray Turhill and Jim Wilson each had 71.

MOON MULLINS—SMALL CHANGE

I COULDN'T HARDLY BELIEVE MY EYES WHEN I SAW THAT TELEGRAM SAYING THE COMMODORE HAD INHERITED ALL THAT MONEY, MOONSHINE, IMAGINE HIM WORTH $250,000,000?
TWO HUNNERT AND FIFTY THOUSAND AND TWO DOLLARS TO BE EXACT, EMMY. I'M GONNA PAY HIM BACK A COUPLA BUCKS I BORRYED FROM HIM LAST MAY.
MY STARS! AFTER ALL THIS TIME, WHY ALL THE STAMPEDE TO GIVE IT TO HIM TODAY?
SO HE'LL REMEMBER THAT I'M THE KIND OF A GUY WHICH ALWAYS PAYS MY DEBTS—WHEN I TOUCH HIM FOR A TEN SPOT TOMORROW.
NO THANKS, MULLINS. YOU'VE KEPT IT SO LONG NOW THAT I HARDLY THINK IT WORTH WHILE CHANGING MY OPINION OF YOU FOR TWO DOLLARS NOW.

There were a lot of good words heard around the score board for little Earl Hopping, the American internationalist who snapped out of a slump last Sunday and at No. 2 hit his way back to stardom.

The Americans are to play another practice match at Piping Rock on Wednesday and Hopping will be seen on the Hitchcock team at No. 2, where the Texans, Rube Williams and Cecil Smith, have been fighting it out.

Remembering Hopping's past deeds in international play and figuring his recovery from his slump and bad physical conditions, those who know Long Island polo are betting the American team that goes against the British will be made up of Pedley, Hopping, Hitchcock, and Guest. It looks like the cowboys will be on the reserve list.

There is one thing to be said of the British team this year—its members know more of what they must expect from the Americans than any team that has been here seeking the cup. Pat Roark learned his polo in the United States, or rather he perfected it here. He had been a polo player in Ireland and had played in the British army but it was not until Laddie Sanford, scion of the Amsterdam, N. Y. carpet makers, "Imported" him to play on the Sanford Hurricanes that he developed into England's top polo player.

Brother Becomes Star, Also.

Finding things to his liking in this country Roark sent for his younger brother, Aidan, who was known as a wizard with horses. After a couple of years on Long Island Aidan developed into a real polo threat and was sought after by the Polo Angels, for he not only was a good rider but a good trainer as well. Gerald Balding, another Irishman on the British team, has walloped many a ball across an American turf. Today's lineup:

ENGLAND [12].		ROSLYN [8].
Capt. George	No. 1	H. Talbott Jr.
G. Balding	No. 2	J. Nelson
Capt. Roark	No. 3	J. Webb
L. Lacey	Back	J. Rathborne

Score by periods:
England ..... 2 2 1 2 2 1 1 1—12
Roslyn ..... 1 2 2 1 0 2 0 0— 8

Substitutions — J. B. Balding for Capt. George in sixth period. Goals—England: Capt. George, J. B. Balding, G. Balding [4], Capt. Roark [6]. Roslyn: Talbot [2] Nelson, Webb [5]. Time of periods—7½ minutes each. Referee—Capt. W. J. White.

BOYS OPEN PLAY FOR JUNIOR CUE TITLE TOMORROW

The first match for the national junior pocket billiard title, which opens at the Hyde Park branch of the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow, will be at 300 points, played in six blocks of 50 points each.

C. A. Storer, director of players for the National Billiard Association of America, decided that instead of playing the match in three blocks of 100 points each that it would be better to shorten each block due to the extreme youth of the contestants. The title aspirants are Robert Moore of Grand Rapids, Mich., age 13, and Charles Cacciapaglia of Rockford, Ill., age 12. The table will be 8 feet long and 4 feet wide.

Clifford R. Trimble, Pioneer in Illinois Racing, Dies

Clifford R. Trimble, 44, secretary-amanag and one of the founders of the Central States Fair and Exposition association, died yesterday at the Aurora hospital. He had been ill seven weeks of streptococci, which followed an infection of the teeth.

Mr. Trimble is survived by a widow, Bernice, and two children, Robert, 16, and Betty Jane, 14, and two sisters and three brothers.

Services will be held at the home on the Lincoln highway north of Aurora tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. and at the home of a brother, William, in Princeton, Ill., at 3 in the afternoon. Interment will be at Princeton. The Trimble family home was in Princeton, Ill.

Edited Bureau County Tribune.

Trimble was the editor of the Bureau County Tribune, printed at Princeton, before he became allied with fairs and eventually with horse racing.

He was the pioneer of pari-mutuel betting in Illinois, opening the Aurora track five years ago with a modified mutuel system after oral betting, at a long test meeting at Hawthorne, had proved a failure. The system he introduced was known as the certificate form of betting.

A year later Trimble led the fight for the legalization of pari-mutuel betting in the state, which developed into a victory for the racing people and the passage of the Lager racing law, permitting either "certificate or mutuel" betting at tracks which paid $2,500 a day license fee.

Born at Princeton, Trimble got his first taste of racing when he sold score cards at the trot meets in central Illinois 25 years ago. Later he developed into a harness track manager and for a time was the dictator of the Great Western trots held at Peoria, Galesburg, Decatur, and other cities in the central part of the state.

Manages Aurora Fair.

After he successfully managed the downstate trotting meetings he went to Aurora as general manager of the Central States fair, which under his direction threatened to rival the popularity of the Illinois State fair at Springfield.

While endeavoring to put over the fair with harness racing as a feature, Trimble's attention was brought to the popularity of the runners in the near Chicago territory. It was then that he deserted the trotters and devoted most of his time to the running race meetings, which followed each spring and fall at his little track in the Fox river valley.

He also was a director in the Illinois Turf association.

Thinks Cubs Should Win.

"When Taylor made it three out of four over the Giants by stealing home he gave the Cubs a five game lead," Bush said today. "Had that Sunday game been lost the Cub lead would have been only three games. With that slim advantage and the schedule against them from now to the finish, I doubt whether McCarthy's men could have stayed in front. But the two extra games given them by their Sunday victory should be enough, provided there is no letdown, and I am certain McCarthy can avoid that.

Another thought on which Bush has expressed himself is that the Cubs, if they get into the series with the Athletics, will be a hard team to beat. He doesn't say they'll beat the American league entry, but will admit that what happened last fall will not mean a thing. He believes the Cubs are better now than they were a year ago at this time.

BOB DISCOVERS PLENTY OF BASS IN UNNAMED LAKE

BY BOB BECKER.

LAKE OF THE WOODS, Kenora, Ont., Aug. 25.—Two o'clock in the afternoon of a hot, sunshiny August day is no time to test the merits of a new lake with rod and line. Fish usually are not striking at that time of the day. But it was under such circumstances that we started to explore the unnamed lake [christened Lake Suzanne last night] at the end of one of the most exciting bass days that we have ever had in the course of our fishing travels.

We were on another bass lake at the time. From the surface of this fishing hole, which already had yielded six beautiful fish [one a 3 pound 6 ounce specimen caught by Mrs. S. J. Campbell of Mount Carroll, Ill.] we could see an opening in the trees which indicated another lake.

Keith Hook, operating the stern paddle in our canoe, was eager for a look at this unnamed lake. We also were keen to try it, so the lady joined us and all of us started looking for some sort of a trail. We located a well traveled deer trail and had decided to use it to portage a canoe when a faint portage route was found.

The three of us followed this and after walking 125 yards we stepped out of the forest to look down the unnamed fishing hole, a narrow sheet of water about five-eighths of a mile wide and not more than a mile and a half long, with one beautiful little island hugging the shore on the east side.

A pair of loons gave us the merry ha-ha as we paddled down the lake to see if there were any small mouth bass available and if so, how many and how big. Following the west side of the lake where birches, spruces, balsams, and some jackpines made a wall right down to the water's edge, we found a small bay lined with tules and an underwater weed bed which broke off sharply at the beginning of the deep water.

Two minutes after striking this bay pandemonium broke loose. We had made a gold strike because the bay was filled with bass. Strike, strike, strike—that was the story. We could look down into the clear water and see fish by the dozens. The quiet of this hidden lake was shattered by the crack and smack of leaping bronze backs. Keith was at one time behind in stringing some of the 2½ and 3 pounders which fell for our lures. The little unnamed lake was a wow.

BULLS GET SET FOR ROMP WHEN BEARS APPEAR

Nip Move to Run Chicago Stock Prices Up.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

An attempt to bull stocks on the Chicago exchange yesterday proved successful in the case of a few of the active favorites, but the great majority of issues were unable to make the grade and ended the session slightly beneath the level of last week's final prices.

It was the selling, which developed at the day wore on, that frustrated the ambitious plan to bolster prices. Singular success, however, rewarded the supporters of A. M. Castle, a stock which has had a pretty dull time of it in recent weeks. Emerging from its obscurity, the issue enjoyed a turnover of 1,750 shares, as compared with a bare 400 shares which were dealt in all last week. At the height of its popularity the issue touched 46, but later receded to close at 44, with a net improvement of 3 points.

Majestic Continues Active.

Castle, however, was by no means the speculative favorite. Majestic Household continued to hold the leadership in point of volume which it has enjoyed for the last several weeks. It ran up about 3 points to above 55, but settled back on later dealings and finished only a fraction higher. Grigsby Grunow also made a show of strength selling up to 15 for the first time in days, but the close found it not far from its previous close.

B. J. Grigsby chairman of the board of both the Grigsby and Majestic companies, who has just returned from a two months' European trip, issued a statement yesterday touching on the suit of his company against the Radio corporation, and discussing conditions in the electrical and radio industry in Europe.

Suffer Minor Losses.

In contrast with the few shares that did advance, however, there was a long list of stocks which sustained moderate losses. Jefferson Electric was one of these, and perhaps the most conspicuous. The issue fell off to 20¼ retrieved part of its loss, but closed down more than a point.

The trend among the utility stocks was toward lower levels. Middle West Utilities was an exception, with a slight advance. Missouri-Kansas, selling ex rights, dropped to 19⅛ and Cities Service shed a fraction.

Club Aluminum Utensil company whose stock has had an erratic career on the exchange, with trading in its stock temporarily suspended at one time, yesterday issued a report for the year ended June 30.

An Additional Deficit.

The surplus account shows an additional deficit to surplus of $733,064 for the year which brings the total surplus deficit to $850,308 as of June 30.

The net operating loss for the year amounted to $294,639. Other items making up the total deficit for the year were inventory shrinkage of $106,724, reserves for contingencies of $273,544 less miscellaneous income credits of $41,834. President H. J. Taylor said that inventories were marked down to cost or market and that adequate reserves were made for all contingencies.

The balance sheet lists current assets of $1,464,302 as compared with current liabilities of $564,545. The current assets consist in part of $88,917 in cash and inventories of $345,369. Installment accounts receivable, less reserve for doubtful accounts are carried at $781,531.

Net Worth $1,052,691.

Total assets are carried at $1,754,335 and net worth listed at $1,052,691, equivalent to $3.88 per share on the 271,240 shares of common stock outstanding. The issue closed yesterday at 3¼.

"Each month the results of operations have shown constructive progress toward operations at a profit, with overhead expense being lowered, unprofitable expense eliminated, inventories reduced and personnel strengthened," Mr. Taylor says in his report. "The results of operations for July, 1930, show an improvement over the same month of last year and, with present trends continuing, it is believed that the company will be on a profitable basis before Jan. 1, 1931."

Every Investor Should Consider Bonds

Debenture bond prices have not advanced appreciably above the levels of 1929—the year of lowest prices since 1925. Present market conditions and low interest rates indicate a strong bond market in the near future accompanied by rising bond prices.

For safety and a good return we recommend Associated Gas and Electric Company Gold Debenture Bonds, due 1968—priced to yield over 5¼%.

Farm Gross Lowest Since 1922.

BY O. A. MATHER.

There is no doubt that the income of the farmer and the industrial worker alike will be lower this year than it was last year. This will be due to drought, on the one hand, and to less favorable employment conditions on the other hand. But the prolonged decline in commodity prices will give income greater purchasing power. These facts have raised discussion as to how purchasing power will compare with other years and what effect it will have on business recovery.

"While ironbound conclusions relative to the probable amount of farm purchasing power resulting from 1930 crops are still impossible," the Standard Statistics company says, "sufficient data are now available to indicate conclusively that this year's agricultural income will fall substantially below that for 1929. We estimate on the basis of latest official crop forecasts and prevailing price levels, that the decline will be in the neighborhood of $3,000,000,000, or approximately 12 per cent.

Gross Lowest Since 1922.

"Gross value of all farm productions probably will be the lowest since 1922, although the indicated decline, as compared with 1929, will not be as serious as the drop of $5,000,000,000 witnessed in the 1921 depression period. Then, too, consideration must be given to the fact that purchasing power of the farm dollar has been increased by the severe decline in non-agricultural commodity prices.

"Largely because of the severe depreciations of the drought, crop conditions are unusually spotty at this time and will result in a wide divergence of returns. Thus reduced values of the corn, wheat, cotton, live stock, and produce yields will adversely affect trade in the respective growing areas. Conversely, favorable results from the fruit and vegetable crops should be somewhat of a palliative factor. Unquestionably the decline in aggregate farm income will be a decided deterrent to early recovery in general business. However, if the 1921-'22 experience can be used as a reliable example it should not prove an insurmountable obstacle."

Data relative to the decline in commodity prices is presented by the Alexander Hamilton institute.

Living Costs Decline 2.8 Per Cent.

"The cost of living in the United States declined 2.8 per cent during the first half of 1930," its analysis says. "With the exception of a few months in 1922 when it was only slightly lower, the cost of living in June this year was at the lowest level since 1917. It was 23 per cent under the post-war high in June, 1920, but it was still 66.6 per cent above the pre-war average in 1913.

"The drop in the cost of living during the first half of 1930 was due chiefly to a decrease in the cost of food, which represents 38.2 per cent of the average family's total expenditures. Retail food prices on the average declined 6.4 per cent, a considerably larger decrease than that shown by any other of the items which make up the cost of living.

"The cost of clothing, which represents on the average 16.6 per cent of living expenditures, declined 1 per cent during the first six months of 1930. Rents, which account for 13.4 per cent of the total cost of living, declined 1½ per cent. Fuel and light prices declined 3.3 per cent, and they represent 5.3 per cent of total expenditures. The cost of house furnishings, which account for 5.1 per cent of expenditures, declined 1.1 per cent.

Miscellaneous Items.

"The cost of miscellaneous items, which represent 21.4 per cent of the money the average family spends, was the only cost which increased. The cost of miscellaneous items is relatively much higher than the cost of any other factor in living expenditures and therefore is especially susceptible of deflation.

"The prospect is that the total cost of living will continue to decline during the coming twelve months despite the firm position of food and the supporting factors in the rent situation."

Eaton Tells Steel Merger Background

Youngstown, O., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The interlocking connections of Cyrus S. Eaton's investment companies with the constituent steel firms that made up the consolidated Republic Steel corporation were disclosed by the Cleveland financier today during his cross-examination as a plaintiff's witness in the suit to enjoin the Youngstown Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem Steel corporation merger.

Newton D. Baker of defense counsel hurled questions at Eaton all day long in an avowed effort to test his credibility as a witness and in the hope of proving to Judge David Jenkins that the financier opposed the Bethlehem deal because he had other plans for Sheet and Tube.

Beginning with Eaton's interest in Otis & Co., Cleveland brokers, as a partner, the cross-examination traced his connections with Trumbull Steel company, and the old Republic Iron and Steel company, the absorption of Trumbull by the latter and the founding of Continental Shares, Inc., Commonwealth Securities and Cleveland Cliffs corporation.

Merger Constituents.

The four constituent companies in the Republic consolidation were dissected to the smallest component part and Baker announced at adjournment that he was ready to show tomorrow how Central Alloy, Donner Steel and the Berne-Fuller company were welded into the Republic merger.

Starting with Trumbull, Eaton testified that Otis & Co. took responsibility for an $18,000,000 financing to get that concern out of difficulty a few years ago. Then he related how five wealthy groups and firms bought control of Republic stock to bring about an absorption of Trumbull.

These five included Otis & Co., Continental Shares, Foreign Utilities, Ltd., a syndicate composed of Trumbull executive committee members, and the Trumbull company itself, which, Eaton testified, invested $775,000 out of its own treasury to buy up stock of Republic and the Inland Steel company of Chicago.

To Aid Absorption.

Eaton admitted that the $150,000,000 Continental Shares corporation was formed partly to aid the Trumbull absorption, and declared its aims were broader than merger promoting, as Baker suggested. The witness said he resigned from the boards of Trumbull and Republic before consummation of the deal.

Eaton said that Commonwealth Securities was formed, with himself as chairman, to create an alliance between Ohio markets handling steel and rubber and Detroit consumers.

Baker read from a letter to stockholders to show that the Cliffs corporation, a holding company, was formed to align the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company, an ore producing concern with a "strong financial group headed by Eaton."

REPORT OF FOX FILM CORPORATION SHOWS INCREASE IN ASSETS

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The complete semi-annual report of the Fox Film corporation, mailed to stockholders today by Harley L. Clarke, president, shows a complete reversal of the company's financial position, as a result of the refinancing and change in management which grew out of efforts to have a receiver appointed.

HARLEY L. CLARKE

Total current assets were $30,444,121, against current liabilities of $12,229,245 on June 30, compared to current assets of $23,408,565 and current liabilities of $46,101,586 on Dec. 31. Cash on hand June 30 totaled $6,965,126. As previously reported, earnings for the first half set a new high record at $4 a share, and ability of the company to show further gains in income during July led the management to predict total 1930 earnings of about $9 a share.

Pillsbury Flour Mills Profit Recedes Slightly

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Pillsbury Flour Mills, Inc., today reported for the fiscal year ended June 30 net profit of $2,225,197, equal to $4.05 per common share, compared with $2,814,564 in the preceding fiscal year. Net profit in the preceding fiscal year was equal to $4.70 a share on the common after deducting dividend payments on the preferred.

Warner Bros. Deny Charges of Nelson's

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 25.—Charges that Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., was being mismanaged, and that the subsidiaries of the company owed $50,000,000, which were contained in an application for a receivership for the company which was filed last week at Wilmington, Del., by Ira L. Nelson of Boston were denied today by officers of the company in their reply to the suit.

The reply, which was filed with the Court of Chancery in Wilmington denied all of Mr. Nelson's charges. It declared that the company's debts were far short of the amount mentioned by Mr. Nelson, and that its line of credit with banks was more than $10,000,000.

To Pay Interest.

Interest payments on the company's $40,000,000 of debentures will be paid on Sept. 1, when due, the answer declares. Replying to the charge that the company's studios had been closed, the answer declares that this is a regular seasonal occurrence.

The accusation that Warner Brothers had entered into a conspiracy with Renwar, Inc., as a result of which the latter company sold real estate at exorbitant prices to Warner Brothers Pictures, was also denied.

"Falsely, Maliciously Made."

Mr. Nelson's application for a receivership was followed last week by a statement by Harry M. Warner that Nelson's allegations were "falsely and maliciously made," with a view to affecting the price of Warner Brothers stock. Warner Brothers Pictures stock has declined more than 55 points from the high price, 80¾, of 1930. The company, which has assets of $200,000,000, has expanded rapidly this year through the purchase of theater properties. Recently the directors passed the dividend on the stock to conserve its cash position.

Rumors that the bankers for the company would delay payment on the company's stock offering of about 750,000 shares until after the settlement of Mr. Nelson's suit were denied by the bankers.

SET $7,500 CREDIT FOR BROKERS TO PAY INTEREST ON

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—To avoid coming under provisions of the revised New York state banking law, several brokerage houses have notified clients that they will no longer pay interest on credit balances of less than $7,500.

The New York Stock exchange has recommended such a step and in financial circles it is expected that brokers generally will follow it.

The state banking law was revised by the New York legislature early this year and the changes arose from the failure of the private banking firm of Clarke and Brother for some $5,000,000. The revision brought within the category of the private banking act those who pay interest on credit balances of less than $7,500.

NEWS ON GRAIN GOES STALE, SO PRICES PAUSE

Day's Events Seem to Favor Bears.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Factors in the grain market seem to be about so evenly balanced that the news on either side has gone stale, with the result that prices on wheat futures held within a range of around 1c for the day, with the close ⅝@⅝c lower. The decline was due in a large part to northwestern hedging pressure. September finished at 89@89¼c, December 92⅞@94c to 94⅛c, and May $1.01⅛@1.01¼.

The large movement of spring wheat had a depressing effect on northwestern markets, with Minneapolis declining 1¼c and Winnipeg ⅜@1c for the day, and both were credited with selling here. Taken as a whole the general run of news was rather favorable for a lower level of values. Liverpool failed to reflect the advance in North America and closed ⅛@¼d higher, with persistent offers of Russian grain and a slow milling demand the main influences.

Talk Larger Wheat Feeding.

To some extent the prospects of a record amount of wheat being fed to live stock this season offset the bearish news. Latest returns to Statistician Nat C. Murray were said to show a surprisingly large amount of wheat being fed, while a local house had a request from an Iowa point to quote feeding wheat. Numerous reports are being received from the west and southwest indicating that feeding of wheat is becoming general.

Requests for information as to the relative value of wheat and corn for feed have become so widespread that southwest commission houses are sending out all available data to their customers. The Missouri State Agricultural college at Columbia, Mo., has conducted experiments for several years on this point.

Lack of export business is counting against the maintenance of advances in wheat futures here and in Canada. A Winnipeg message said there was no business there, and cables from abroad were very discouraging. The pool, it is understood, has been selling futures on all advances.

An increase of 8,255,000 bu in the domestic visible supply had little effect on the market, although the total is now 182,275,000 bu, against 176,827,000 bu last year.

Corn Has Narrow Range.

A good part of the trade in corn was of a local character, and while the general run of crop comment was

FREIGHT CAR REPORT.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—The American Railway association reported today that 55,660 new freight cars were placed in service by class 1 railroads during the first seven months of 1930, as compared with 42,552 for the same period last year.

A similar increase in new locomotives also was shown in the report, 484 having been placed in service in the seven months, compared with 371 last year.

Of the new freight cars, 28,616 were box cars, an increase of 8,069 over last year, and 21,463 were coal cars, compared with 14,475 last year. The railroads on Aug. 1 had 19,627 new freight cars on order, compared with 36,335 on the same date last year.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 25.—Playboys from the bear camp knocked the props from under another likely looking little advance on the stock market today and again prices wound up in the ruck. The declines ranged from a fraction to 3 points or more and were pretty generally distributed through the list.

Selling was particularly heavy in the oil division, the offering apparently being for the most part a resumption of the liquidation which came into the market on Saturday coincident with the poor showing of half year earnings by several companies. Evidently followers of the oils have come to the conclusion that the outlook is not so good for this industry.

Specialties Under Fire.

Various specialties were under heavy fire at times and some of the sharpest losses of the day were among shares of this classification. Vanadium broke more than six points, Motor Products 4, and various other issues 2 and 3 points. Goodyear Tire was another particular weak feature, selling off nearly 6 points. Tobacco stocks were generally on the defensive and the motors had their troubles as usual.

There was little or nothing in the way of news to warrant the fresh selling and commentators agreed that most of it was due to the operations of professionals working for a decline. Railway statements for July such as came to hand continued to be disappointing and there was little change in the credit situation. One bright spot in the situation was the reported picking up in wholesale and retail purchasing.

Buy INCOME Now

■ The true purpose of investment is to obtain income either present or future. If that were not the case, money would be cached in tin boxes and safety deposit vaults.

When a man buys common stocks presumably for capital appreciation he is still in the last analysis buying income—a rising income—because the market value of a stock rises in the long run only because of increased payments to stockholders. There would be no market for the stock at higher prices unless the prospective purchaser was satisfied that the income to be obtained through it immediately or later was going to be worth the price.

It is apparent if the fundamental purpose of investment is kept in mind that this is an exceptional time to invest. The income obtainable from bonds and stocks is unusually good. Not only is it high on a straight dollar basis, but the steady decline in the cost of living has made the dollar worth more in purchasing power than it was worth last year.

Among the securities we recommend at this time are the following investment stocks whose yields at present prices afford a distinct buying opportunity:

■ Abbott Laboratories Common Stock Yielding about 6.00%

■ Construction Materials Corporation Preference Stock Yielding about 8.50%

■ John Morrell & Co., Inc. Common Stock Yielding about 8.30%

■ National Securities Investment Company Units Yielding about 6.75%

■ The Parker Pen Company Common Stock Yielding about 7.60%

SHEEP—Western range lambs yesterday .....$ 7.75@10.10
One month ago.....8.00@ 9.00
One year ago.....12.75@13.50
Top yesterday, $10.25; average, $9.25.

Receipts at Chicago today, 7,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs and 26,000 sheep.

Better grades of hogs were scarce and held steady, while others ruled steady to 25c lower on yesterday's session. The extreme top and general average prices were unchanged at $11.25 and $9.80, respectively. Quality of hogs was better than on the week-end session, but was the poorest of the season for Monday due to the larger proportion of "grassy" stock in yesterday's arrivals.

Activity was lacking, but few of the 6,000 left at the close were good hogs. Larger houses filled fair sized orders at the reduction late in the day, Armour, Swift, and Wilson handling a total of 14,000, including 10,000 directs from other points.

Hog Futures Higher.

Trading in hog futures was active and mostly 10c higher after a generally steady opening yesterday. Buying centered on December hogs, which sold freely at $8.90@9.00, opening at $8.95 and closing at $9.00. Ten carloads of light and mediums sold for next December delivery.

On the "to arrive" market, lightweights for today's delivery were held $11.00, mediums $10.65, and heavy grades $10.25. Bids of $7.60@7.50 were made for about 4,000 medium wool mountain feeding lams, averaging 57@65 lbs, for delivery during the first half of September.

Cattle Scores Gain.

Additional gains were scored in cattle on moderate supplies yesterday. Heavy sold to the best advantage on the 25@50c bulge, showing an advance of $2.50 since the low spot two weeks ago. Yearlings have advanced $1.25@1.50 in two weeks, going to a peak of $12.00 on yesterday's session. The price was paid for several carloads averaging 826@1,060 lbs, being the highest paid for cattle since July 7.

Prime 1,382 lb beeves brought $11.90. Bulk of beef steers brought $9.80@11.25, comparing with $8.65@10.35 the previous Monday. Cows and heifers were in demand at mostly 25c higher prices. Calves ruled weak to lower. Country buyers were paying 25c higher prices for the supply of stockers and feeders.

Sheep Receipts Large.

The biggest sheep receipts since October, 1928, at 35,000, flooded the market with all classes of sheep and lambs yesterday and prices broke 25@50c, youngest stock showing the most loss. Half of the receipts were from native states, while westerns made up the other half. Washington alone had 14,000 lambs at Chicago. Sorting was severe at the sharp price cuts. Ewe and wether natives sold at $9.75@10.25 and most buck lambs at $8.75@9.00. Westerns were sorted 35 per cent at $10.0C. Aged sheep slumped 25c. Yearlings were off 50c in sympathy with the decline in lambs. Feeding lambs ruled steady to 25c lower, top kinds going at $7.90.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 7,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs, and 26,000 sheep, against 6,497 cattle, 19,130 hogs, and 18,806 sheep, the previous Tuesday, and 8,224 cattle, 28,684 hogs, and 24,482 sheep, a year ago.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Under increased offerings raw sugar declined 2 points today to the basis of 3.12c for spots, duty paid. The demand, however, was not aggressive. With tomorrow first notice day for September delivery, there was more aggressive liquidation in the raw futures market, particularly in the September delivery, and that position sold off to 1.06c or 2 points below the previous close, and at a new all time low record. Other positions were unchanged to 2 points lower at the outset in sympathy and under Cuban selling, promoted by the easier spot market. The close was 2 points lower for September and October, and unchanged to 2 lower for later months. Approximate sales, 61,600 tons, including nearly half in the form of exchanges. No. 3 contracts were neglected and closed unchanged to 2 lower at 3.02c for September, and 3.14c for December. Prices follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.

GRAIN PRICES AT STANDSTILL AS NEWS GOES STALE

Events as Whole Seem to Favor Lower Values.

decidedly bullish, the market made a poor response and closed unchanged to ¼c lower, with September finishing at 98¼@98¾c; December, 93¼@93⅝c, and May, 97⅛@97¼c.

George M. Le Count, the Stein, Alstrin & Co. crop observer, who has just completed a 3,500 mile trip over the corn belt says he found conditions a great deal worse than expected, and during his 24 years of experience there is nothing to compare with the present situation. Rains came too late to greatly change the situation. Late corn will show improvement, but the late grain is generally poor, with small ears, and all the rain that might come will not make large ears out of nubbins. A very serious and important feature of the situation is the barren stalks and poorly filled ears that are found in every field in every locality.

Corn from Argentina.

Argentine corn was reported offered to arrive at New York on Sept. 20 at equal to $1.02 f. o. b. duty paid at $1.02, and for arrival Sept. 30 at $1.01. The price was only slightly above the figures paid in the Chicago sample market for No. 2 yellow. An increase of 634,000 bu was shown in the domestic visible supply for the week, due to larger receipts, making the total 3,287,050 bu, against 5,793,000 bu last year. Country offerings to arrive were small, and the eastern demand was somewhat less active, with sales of 62,000 bu.

Some of the recent buyers of oats were credited with being on the selling side yesterday, and, with hedging pressure prices declined and closed ⅛@⅜c lower. September finished at 41⅝c and December at 44⅜@44⅞c. Commission houses bought on resting orders. Market showed fair activity from the start. Country offerings to arrive remain small.

Rye showed more firmness than wheat and closed unchanged to ¼c higher on a fair class of commission house buying. September was 62¼c at the last and December 67⅝c.

OIL INDUSTRY IS IMPROVING, REESER FINDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 25.—With the exception of the distributing division, the oil industry is improving its position in an encouraging manner, said E. B. Reeser, president of the American Petroleum Institute, today. Mr. Reeser said that distribution of oil products had become such a highly competitive business that it is in almost a chaotic condition.

"However, we have corrected overproduction of crude oil and have made excellent progress in correcting overproduction in the refining division. That gives ground for the hope that we shall also be able to remedy conditions in the distributing branch," commented Mr. Reeser.

Mr. Reeser arrived in New York from Oklahoma this morning. He said conditions in Oklahoma are better than the public might be led to believe from what has been said regarding them.

"The producers in that state held a monthly meeting last Friday in Tulsa and agreed to keep production down to 550,000 barrels a day in that state," he said. "That is the amount of crude which the oil purchasing companies said they would need during September. The limit is only on for that month pending developments thereafter. A daily average of 550,000 barrels compares with an allowable production in the state of 650,000 barrels a day under the state corporation commission's order. Producers cut that by 100,000 barrels, subject to ratification by the commission."

Mr. Reeser confirmed advices from Oklahoma that fifty-nine operators in that state had been cited by the commission for contempt, but explained that the citations were technical and had been dismissed excepting in the case of a very few operators who probably would meet conditions laid down by the commission.

Mr. Reeser said that conditions in Texas were getting better as a result of an order issued by the state railroad commission, effective Aug. 27.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

There was no snap to the foreign demand for cash wheat, and sales of both hard winter and Manitobas were limited. Persistent offers from Russia are having some effect on the attitude of foreign buyers.

Demand for winter wheat in the Chicago market was fairly good, with the basis on red winter ¼@½c higher. Hard winter and northern spring were steady to ¼c higher. No 1 red, 2⅝@2¾c over; No 2 red, 1⅜@2c over; No 1 hard, 1@1¾c over; No 2 hard, ¾@1c over; No 1 northern, ½@1c over; No 2 northern, September to ½c over. At Omaha the basis was easier, No 1 hard selling at 6c under Chicago September.

Larger offerings had a depressing effect on the cash corn basis, which was off ½c as compared with September. Premiums as compared with the future follow: No 1 mixed, 1¼c; yellow, 1½@1¾c; white, 5@5½c; No 2 mixed, 1c; yellow, 1 c; white, 5@5½c; No 3 mixed, ½c; yellow, 1c. Shipping sales aggregated 62,000 bu, while the country sold 17,000 bu to arrive.

Sales of 50,000 bu oats were made to go to store, with 26,000 bu sold for shipment. The spot basis was steady, with No 2 white September price to ¼c over and No 3 white ½@1c under. No 2 red sold at 6@6¼c over for Iowa, while Illinois was quoted at 8@9c over September. Shipping sales were 5,000 bu.

LARD OFFERINGS LIGHT

Limited selling pressure from longs and packers was a feature of the provision market. Commission houses were fair buyers of deferred futures and they closed 5 points net higher. Cash lard was said to be in good demand and all the September was picked up readily.

Hog prices were 10@15c lower, with larger receipts than expected, but the western run fell below last year's.

Liverpool lard was unchanged. Export clearances of lard from the seaboard for the week were 104,23,000 lbs against 9,662,000 lbs last year. Clearances of bacon were 7,64,000 lbs, against 3,871,000 lbs a year ago. Prices follow:

BUTTER AND EGGS

Butter futures gained ½c on the Chicago mercantile exchange yesterday, strong buying support aiding in the forward trend. Egg futures reflected the uncertainty prevalent in trading circles and held unchanged at 28⅝c in the lightest trading day of the year.

Added purchases by some of the large butter holders worked to offset realizing sales on a somewhat broad scale during the day. Active selling was well absorbed and the November delivery closed within the day's peak price. Statistical information was inclined toward the bullish side, there being considerably less butter placed into storage in the four principal cities than a year ago. BOND MARKET IS IRREGULAR; TRADING QUIET

High Grade Issues Firm; Weaker Are Lower.

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—High grade investment issues held a firm trend in the bond market today, but second grade and semi-speculative obligations, more sensitive to general news developments, worked lower.

The market was highly irregular in a quiet trading session in which the volume of business slumped to $6,711,000.

There were no developments in the money market, with call money remaining at 2 per cent. The only offering was a municipal issue. It was learned in bond circles that among the new financing which is expected to be offered shortly are several large issues, including $10,000,000 first 5s to be offered by the Iowa-Nebraska company around 96½; $5,000,000 Western Pacific 5 per cent bonds, priced about par. The State Line Generating company contemplates offering $17,000,000 4½s and $8,000,000 debenture 5½s. A large piece of financing is in prospect for the Pennsylvania-Ohio-Detroit railroad, subsidiary of the Pennsylvania.

Attracts Attention of Business.

The strength shown by the bond market during the quiet summer period is attracting attention from business circles, where a rise in bond prices is regarded as a forerunner of business recovery. A well known statistical service said today, in an analysis of the situation, that "institutions and high grade investors will make their purchases in the bond market until the average level reaches a higher point than it has since 1910 and 1911.

About a dozen carrier issues climbed to new 1930 highs. The 1⅝ point advance of New York Central 3½s B on a large turnover, and a similar gain by Big Four general 4s, were among the best gains in this group. Pennsylvania 3½s B, Atchison general 4s, Union Pacific 4s, Chicago and North Western refunding 4½s, Northern Pacific lien 4s, Southern Pacific 4½s [Oregon Line], Baltimore and Ohio gold 4s, Chesapeake and Ohio first 4s [Richmond and Allegheny], and Missouri, Kansas and Texas first 4s were others to register new peaks for the year.

Brooklyn Edison Firm.

The firmness of Brooklyn Edison 5s, Cincinnati Gas and Electric 4s, General Public Service 5½s, and New Orleans Public Service 5s B stood out in the irregular movement of utilities. Western Union 4½s established a new year's high. Brooklyn City Railway 5s, Public Service Electric and Gas 4½s, and Northern Ohio Traction and Light 6s worked lower.

Industrial bonds showed a mixed trend. Oil bonds were very active, with selling dominating the trend, to carry Humble 5s, Skelly Oil 5½s, Texas Corporation 5s, and Transcontinental 6½s downward. Bethlehem Steel 5s were weak. Pacific Coast 5s, Lorillard 5s, and National Dairy 5½s were in demand.

Weakness of Peruvian bonds, reflecting the uncertainty over political conditions, featured foreign bond dealings. Perus 7s and 6s sagged 5 and 4 points to new lows. European bonds were steady. U. S. governments were more active and firm.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Grain markets, as viewed by one of the largest local operators who has been interested in all of the markets of late, are largely a merchandising situation. He believes that when conditions reach the proper stage and the demand overtakes the supply, prices will respond with good appreciations. Until that time arrives, trading markets are to be expected. Outside interests are less active and buyers of last week were testing the market by taking profits on moderate lines.

All reports on the corn crop are bullish but the trade has anticipated them and are not getting the outside help. There are interests in the market who are bullish and talking higher prices for corn futures.

Editor Mark Pickell in company with one of the largest farmers in central Illinois, toured the corn country and after careful examination reports 71 per cent of the acreage having barren stalks and nubbins, all ears below 6 inches being counted as nubbins, and 29 per cent good corn.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Motor Car Prices.

Wall street does not seem to be perturbed over the tendency of late to reduce the prices on motor cars. The economist for one of the larger houses in the financial district states that such reductions have been made to meet certain circumstances. There is no general scaling down of prices, he contends, such as have been made, being confined mainly to special models. He believes that production is well under control and that the stock of cars on hand is not unwieldy.

Oil Shares.

Recent passing of two oil company dividends is being followed by talk of elimination of reduction of a third Oil shares recently have improved on continuous reduction in output in the midcontinent fields, but the gasoline high consumption season is running out and supplies are uncomfortably high. Evidently the oil companies are not going to have a particularly good earning year, and if prices flatten out further before the end of the season there will be some inventory readjustment to make.

Tipsters Busy.

Heavy selling of Vanadium sent the stock 6 points lower yesterday. Early in the trading tipsters were busy with the word that the pool, or some members of it, which had for a long time operated in Vanadium, had abandoned it for United Aircraft, which stock was buoyant. Tips are so scarce these days that this one, given at least a semblance of plausibility by the action of the two stocks, found some subscribers.

CANADA WHEAT POOL TO PAY 60C ON 1930 CROP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 25.—The Canadian wheat pool and the Canadian banks finished their ten days conference this afternoon and announced through the wheat pool president, A. J. MacPhail, that the initial payment on the 1930 wheat crop will be 60 cents a bushel. Last year it was $1.00.

The pool will also pay on coarse grains as follows: Barley, 25 cents a bushel; oats, 30 cents; rye, 35 cents, and flax, $1.25.

Grigsby Back from Europe, Comments on Radio Suit

B. J. Grigsby, president of the Grigsby-Grunow company, who has just returned from Europe, issued a statement yesterday touching on suit of his company which is pending against the Radio Corporation of America. In part, the statement said: "The American electrical, radio, and utility interests have today, by virtue of trade and patent agreements, a stranglehold on those industries in Europe, and which act just as effectively against exportation by the independent industry in the United States."

The MURDER at the VICARAGE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS.

Dr. Clement, vicar of a country village in England, at luncheon tells his wife, Griselda, and young nephew, Dennis, who lives with them, that any one who murdered Col. Protheroe would be doing the world at large a service. The colonel enjoys making himself unbearable for his daughter Letitia, and his second wife, and fusses about the running of the parish. He suspects that there are defalcations in the church accounts and is more worried over the next evening to go over them with the vicar. Griselda, nearly twenty years younger than her husband, refuses to take anything, including the parish, seriously. Dennis, the vicar, returning from parish visits, stops in at the studio on the vicarage grounds. He is greeted by Lawrence Redding, an artist, for whom Griselda is sitting, and is shocked to discover the artist and Mrs. Protheroe in a passionate embrace. He retreats to his study, followed by Mrs. Protheroe, who tells him of her desperate love for the artist. She begs Lawrence to leave the village.

The next day started out badly for the vicar. At 5:30 he is called to visit a dying parishioner and leaves word for Col. Protheroe, who is expected at 6:15, that he will be back in a returning at 7 the vicar meets Lawrence Redding coming out of the house in an agitated state, and in his study he finds the colonel sprawled across the desk, shot through the head, murdered apparently. Dr. Haydock is sent for and he says Protheroe has been dead half an hour and calls the police.

INSTALLMENT VIII.

INVESTIGATIONS.

The thought of Lawrence Redding's white face and staring eyes came into my mind. I was spared answering by a noise of shuffling feet in the passage outside.

"The police," said Dr. Haydock, and rose to his feet.

Our police force was represented by Constable Hurst, looking very important but slightly worried.

"Good evening, gentlemen," he greeted us. "The inspector will be here in a minute. In the meantime I'll follow out his instructions. I understand that Colonel Protheroe's been found shot—in the vicarage."

He paused and directed a look of cold suspicion at me which I tried to meet with a suitable bearing of conscious innocence.

He moved over to the writing table and announced:

PLAN OF THE STUDY AT THE VICARAGE

I repeated my story of discovering the body. When he had got it all down, which took some time, he turned to the doctor.

"Shot through the head at close quarters."

"And the weapon?"

"I can't say with certainty until we get the bullet out. But I should say it is all probability the bullet was fired from a pistol of small caliber—probably a Mauser .25."

I started, remembering our conversation of the night before, and Lawrence Redding's admission. The police constable brought his cold, fishlike eye to bear on me.

"Did you speak, sir?"

I shook my head. Whatever suspicions I might have, they were no more than suspicions, and as such to be kept to myself.

"When, in your opinion, did the tragedy occur?"

The doctor hesitated, for a minute before he answered. Then he said:

"The man has been dead just over half an hour, I should say. Certainly no longer."

Hurst turned to me.

"Did the girl hear anything?"

"As far as I know she heard nothing," I said. "But you had better ask her."

But at this moment Inspector Slack arrived, having come by car from Market Benham, two miles away.

All that I can say of Inspector Slack is that never did a man more deliberately strive to contradict his name. He was a dark man, restless and energetic in manner, with black eyes that snapped ceaselessly. His manner was brusque and overbearing in the extreme.

He acknowledged our greetings with a curt nod, seized his subordinate's notebook, perused it, exchanged a few curt words with him in an undertone, then strode over to the body.

"Everything's been messed up and pulled about, I suppose," he said.

"I've touched nothing," said Haydock.

"No more have I," I said.

The inspector busied himself for some time peering at the things on the table and examining the pool of blood.

"Ah!" he said in a tone of triumph. "Here's what we want. Clock stopped when he fell forward. That'll give us the time of the crime. Twenty-two minutes past six. What time did you say death occurred, doctor?"

"I said about half an hour, but——"

The inspector consulted his watch.

"Five minutes past seven. I got word about ten minutes ago, at five minutes to seven. Discovery of the body was at about a quarter to seven I understand you were fetched immediately. Say you examined it at ten minutes to—why, that brings it to the identical second almost!"

"Good enough, sir, good enough."

"About that clock——"

"If you'll excuse me, sir, I'll ask you any questions I want to know before long's short. What I want is absolute silence."

"Yes, but I'd like to tell you——"

"Absolute silence," said the inspector glaring at me ferociously.

I gave him what he asked for.

He was still peering about the writing table.

"What was he sitting here for?" he grunted. "Did he want to write a note—hullo—what's this?"

He held up a piece of note paper triumphantly. So pleased was he with himself that he permitted us to come to his side and examine it with him.

It was a piece of vicarage note paper, and it was headed at the top 6:20.

Dear Clement (it began):

Sorry I cannot wait any longer, but I must . . .

Here the writing tailed off in a scrawl.

"Plain as a pikestaff," said Inspector Slack triumphantly. "He sits down here to write this, an enemy comes softly in through the window and shoots him as he writes. What more do you want?"

"I'd just like to say—" I began.

"Out of the way, if you please, sir. I want to see if there are footmarks."

He went down on his hands and knees, moving towards the open window.

"I think you ought to know——" I said obstinately.

The inspector rose. He spoke without heat, but firmly.

"We'll go into all that later. I'd be obliged if you gentlemen will clear out of here. Right out, if you please."

Hours seemed to have passed—yet it was only a quarter past seven.

"Well," said Haydock. "That's that. When that conceited ass wants you can send him over to the surgery. So long."

"The mistress is back," said Mary making a brief appearance from the room. Her eyes were round and agog with excitement. "Come in about ten minutes ago."

I told her everything and she listened attentively.

"The letter is headed 6:20," I ended. "And the clock fell over and has stopped at 6:22."

"Len," said Griselda. "But that clock, didn't you tell him that it was always kept a quarter of an hour fast?"

"No," I said. "I didn't. He wouldn't let me. I tried my best."

Griselda was frowning in a puzzled manner.

"But, Len," she said. "That makes the whole thing perfectly extraordinary. Because when that clock said twenty past six it was really only five minutes past, and at five minutes past I don't suppose Colonel Protheroe had even arrived at the house."

We puzzled over the business of the clock for some time, but we could make nothing of it. Griselda said I ought to make another effort and tell Inspector Slack about it, but on that point I was feeling what I can only describe as "mulish."

Inspector Slack had been abominably and most unnecessarily rude. I was looking forward to a moment when I could produce my valuable contribution and wipe off his discomfiture. I would then say in a tone of mild reproach:

"If you had only listened to me, Inspector Slack——"

I expected that he would at least speak to me before he left the house. To our surprise we learned from Mary that he had departed, having looked up the study door and issued orders that no one was to attempt to enter the room.

Griselda suggested going up to Old Hall.

Good morning!

KIND: Jejune jail movie.

QUALITY: Mediocre.

ACTING: Good. Excellent cast throughout.

DIRECTION: So-so.

PHOTOGRAPHY, SETS, SCENERY: All right.

SOUND: Satisfactory.

DIALOGUE: Well spoken, but seldom interesting.

STORY: About life in jail and thereabouts. Introduces a youth who has been "framed" and is serving a term for counterfeiting; his friends; the girl who waits for him; the man who did him wrong, and a thoroughly bad egg named Callahan, vividly impersonated by Mr. Ralph Ince, than whom none can look or act meaner. You get some sidelights on the "honor system."

REMARKS: This film's on the order of "The Big House" and nowhere near as good. Producers never know when to stop. They put over a winner and then glut the public for months afterward with rank imitations. Which is one of the reasons for vacant seats in the picture houses.

See you soon.

Science Museum to Aid Scouts in Nature Study

A program of nature study, utilizing all exhibits of the Chicago Academy of Sciences in Lincoln park, to coöperate with nature study work of the 17,000 Boy Scouts in Chicago was announced yesterday by Alfred M. Bailey, director of the museum. Under the direction of the museum staff, the scouts will study taxidermy, astronomy, ornithology, herpetology, botany, and allied subjects.

WIFE IN AMERICA IS "LEASED TO HUSBAND," WOMAN'S PARTY SAYS

While listing disadvantages accruing to married women under the laws of many states, the booklet, edited by Burnita Shelton Matthews, Washington attorney, condemned as "contrary to the law of nature" the legal attitude that an illegitimate child has no father.

Miss Matthews declared that while the father of a leigimate child usually has "paramount rights," the child born out of wedlock has no legal guardian but the mother. She cited a recent court decision under which the estate of a bachelor who died intestate was taken over by a state on the ground he had "no lawful kin," although an illegitimate child he had supported from birth sought to obtain it.

Marriage laws, she wrote, placed women under a disability on the theory of protection to herself, "as though marriage on the part of a woman indicated lack of judgment."

Ten U. of Chicago Students Elected to Phi Beta Kappa

Ten University of Chicago students were elected yesterday to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholarship fraternity. They will be initiated into the society today.

Nine of them are seniors and will be graduated at the university's 161st convocation Friday. There are James T. Brunot, 18 Glenlake park, Hammond, Ind.; John R. Fall, 1912 Eighth avenue, Maywood; Chicagoans—Ruth Davidson, 3723 Clifton avenue; Louis Feinberg, 1366 North Hoyne avenue; Virginia Pope, 5635 Dorchester avenue, and Zoe Singer, 6856 Oglesby avenue; Eric Grimwade, Yorks, England; William J. Lyons, Duluth, Minn.; Martye Poindexter, Arlington, Texas.

John M. Stevenson, Maple Park, Ill., a junior, was elected for having maintained an average of better than "A minus" for three years.

Mrs. Zoe Singer, who took all but three majors in the University college downtown evenings, achieved a record of 17 "A's" and 3 "B's" in 20 majors.

Prof. Henry W. Prescott, head of the Latin department and president of Phi Beta Kappa at the university, will supervise the initiation i nthe classes building at 4 p. m. today.

King Alain I. Hopes to Start Island Utopia

M. Gerbault, Tennis Expert, Tells of Project.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A proposal to form a new colony in the south sea as a sort of tropical utopia was made today by Alain Gerbault, famed for his world trips in his thirty-six foot boat, Firecrest.

M. Gerbault said he will found his ideal community next year, sailing to an uninhabited island in a thirty-four foot boat be is having constructed at Havre. He will select the pick of the natives in the south seas to start his colony, with the intention of building a super race.

"We shall live a harmonious life," he said, "and will try to raise a new standard of art and culture in that faraway land. I have not as yet decided how the island shall be governed, but it will be along ideas of my own."

On his recent world trip, Gerbault stopped at one of the Samoan islands, he said, and was invited by 5,000 natives to remain there as king. He declined, because he preferred to set up his own kingdom.

Moreover, he had a book to write. It tells the history of that voyage in the small schooner on which he was captain, crew and cook.

M. Gerbault, a former tennis champion of France, was with Jean Borotra on the Ile de France, and has been partially persuaded to enter competition in the men's national singles at Forest Hills next month.

He is here as the guest of the American Cruising club to witness the America cup race off Newport next month when Sir Thomas Lipton tries to gain possession of the elusive trophy.

Lutheran Pastor MayDebate Darrow Thrice About God

New York, Aug. 25.— (AP) —The American Lutheran publicity bureau announced today that the Rev. Dr. Walter A. Maier of Concordia Theological seminary, St. Louis, has accepted a challenge to meet Clarence S. Darrow in a series of three debates on atheism to be held, probably in Chicago, St. Louis, and New York in the fall.

The announcement said Dr. Maier received the challenge as a result of his indictment of atheism in an address delivered at a Luther day celebration at Ocean Grove, N. J., recently. It came from the Atheist society of Chicago and invited him to debate either with Mr. Darrow or Olin J. Ross of Columbus, O.

"Waltzing 30s" Name of Present Era, So Dancing Masters Say

Back ten years ago a glance at dancers on a ballroom floor gave one the impression of a school of insects bobbing up and down as on springs, as the then popular flea hop, a hangover from the world war, held sway. During the "hopping '20s" the fad continued to delight the collegiate and to dismay their youthful minded but less agile parents.

Now it appears that the "waltzing '30s" are in style. Distinctly out, like last year's evening gown, are the hops and the jumps. In vogue is the old fashioned waltz as dreamily romantic as in the "Merry Widow" days, but much more smart. And as long as long skirts stay long the waltz and glide will be the fashion, according to the dancing masters, who yesterday opened the 17th annual convention of their Chicago association at the Stevens hotel.

"The skirt line is a barometer for dancing," Arthur Kretlow, chairman of the board of directors of that association, explained. "A girl can't do the hopping and kicking that has been in vogue when she wears skirts down to the floor. So the pendulum has swung back to the waltz away from the Charleston and the flea hop. There is no exaggeration in the smart dancing this fall, and we promise the young people that the fun will not be taken out of their dancing, either."

George Gleason, a vice president, held that the radio is in part responsible for the change in tempo on the dance floor.

"The dreamy music played over the radio has had its effect on dancing," Mr. Gleason said. "One can't tune up a radio to faster time so one can do eccentric gymnastics. Dancers naturally fall into the smooth glide without the stacatto rhythm."

Mrs. Gleason, who demonstrated some of the new dances with her husband, was of the opinion that the radio also has made dancing more popular in the home.

Chief among the new dances is the university drag, proclaimed a prize-winning favorite last week at the national meeting of American Dancing Masters in New York. This was demonstrated by Mrs. Anna Keenan and her 20 year old son, Walter, of Philadelphia. They showed how both generations could enjoy it—a slow drawn out glide, more of a waltz for the older dancers, and a peppy manipulation of the same steps with a rising motion on the toes, for the college and university crowd.

A dreamy waltz predicted for Boston next winter is a smooth combination of Spanish tango, "The Boston," and regular waltz step. It employs ronde de shambe turns, a term borrowed from ballet dancing, and signifies a graceful swaying side turn.

Dr. Barton, Authority on Lincoln, Leads in "Who's Who" Lines

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—"Who's Who in America" for 1930-'31, which was issued today, adds 3,498 new names to its roster of Americans of eminence and achievement.

The new volume contains sketches of 29,704 persons, an increase of 899, as against the preceding edition issued two years ago. During the last two years death removed 1,497 from the list and 1,102 were dropped or expelled for what "Who's Who" calls "obvious reasons."

Samuel Untermyer, who had a greater number of lines than any one else in the 1928-'29 edition slips back into third place this year. He was passed by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and the Rev. Dr. William Eleazar Barton.

With 108 lines to his credit, the Rev. Dr. Barton bulks as the greatest of all Americans in space in "Who's Who." Dr. Butler is next, with 105 lines. Mr. Untermyer has 102. For several years it has been a close race among these three for leadership in this chronicle of contemporary merit.

Dr. Barton, an authority on Abraham Lincoln, has won first place because of his enormous literary output.

"Who's Who" is hospitable toward literary, scientific, theological and academic lights, but is inclined to let merchant princes and captains of industry cool their heels a long time in the anteroom before admitting them.

Fourteen of James W. Gerard's list of sixty-four rulers of this country are not listed in "Who's Who." Not one of the Gerard big men appear in the list of thirty-five most eminent Americans, according to the "Who's Who" space allotments. Six of the seven Fisher brothers are not in "Who's Who" and the seventh—Frederick J. Fisher—makes his initial appearance in this edition. Four of Gerard's Du Ponts receive no mention in "Who's Who." Harry M. Warner, head of the company which revolutionized the motion picture industry by introducing the sound films, has failed to storm his way into the red book of American worthies. George W. Hill, head of the American Tobacco company, and Sidney Z. Mitchell, head of the Electric Bond and Share company, are left in oblivion.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

FOR theatergoers addicted to "mystery plays"—a highly specialized form of entertainment symptomatic of the state of paresis into which the drama has fallen—the piece of make believe called "The House of Fear," new at the Playhouse, may be cordially recommended. It is a wild eyed specimen of laughing lunacy, acted in the trustful neighborhood stock company manner which is appropriate for such innocent and chuckle headed diversions.

For a long stretch in the first act "The House of Fear" runs along normally enough, and somewhat slowly, causing one to suspect that the plot has been mislaid. The characters are just a group of ordinary young people at a house party, strong for cocktails and kisses, although their hostess, Mme. Zita, chants weirdly now and then about "vibrations," "elemental spirits," and "mahatmas."

Suddenly, however, the stage is darkened; a ghost dagger plunges through the air; and after the screaming is over and the lights go up, a mysterious stranger in a black cloak is weltering in his gore. Enter, the detective; lights off and on again; and lo! the body has disappeared.

The second act is pure bedlam. I made note of a fiery hand, another phosphorescent dagger, a skeleton in fire, dancing the rumba; a manifestation of ectoplasm that floated out over the audience; a package of mysterious documents that flopped out of one secret panel and into another; a hidden passage behind the wall; a mysterious emanation of the perfume of lotus blossoms; naked arms reaching out through closed curtains; and blood stains upon a message written by a ouija board. All of these things, with the shrieks that accompanied them, and the wise cracks of the soubrette who bounced about as if attending an initiation into a high school sorority, threw me into a daze. In my state of mental confusion the play became a monotonous repetition of the ominous words: "Who hit Billy Patterson, and why?"

These mystery plays have a habit of beseeching their customers and their critics not to reveal the secret of the plot. But even if offered a large reward, I could not betray this one. I hurried away before the sinister enigma was solved, and I haven't the faintest idea who killed Kyrena, the magician's assistant, and why Zora the Great, who loved her truly, was railroaded to Sing Sing for that foul deed.

To solve these mysteries I have a formula, which works in most cases. The archfiend and master mind of crime is either Hives, the faithful old butler, who has been with the family for years, or else the wuff wuff detective, who has been detailed on the case by headquarters. But perhaps the formula does not apply to "The House of Fear." Good old Hives does not appear in the story. The detective, however, will bear watching. If he fails me I shall fall back on the theory that the mischief that is afoot in this bit of hanky pank is caused by the disembodied spirit of Harry Houdini.

Miss Cecil Spooner, returned to the stage to keep the old family tradition of the thespian Blaneys alive, is the comedienne of the cast, and while all her colleagues are being frightened frigid, she is having the time of her life as a vaudeville trooper in a checkerboard dress, dabbling in the rôle of lady detective. She has all the old school tricks of the lively lass who knows her hokum. The others, although recruited from the minor leagues of acting, fit well into the picture and inspire a friendly feeling for their futures. Gordon Westcott, who plays a sleek young fellow who always gets his woman, has a quiet, pleasant way of smiling villainy that should carry him into the more important forms of dramatic criminology.

Larger Enrollment Likely in Schools Outside City

More than 100,000 students are expected to enroll in the 600 county schools during the next two weeks, County Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Tobin said yesterday. Last year the total enrollment was approximately 98,000. One-half of the schools will open next Tuesday, Sept. 2. The remainder will start sessions one week later. The teaching staff of 3,300 teachers is approximately the same in numbers as that of last year.

Africa Yields Early Copy of Part of Bible

Book of Ecclesiastes Manuscript Found.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

What are held to be the earliest manuscripts of the Book of Ecclesiastes known to man have been discovered in Abyssinia by the Rev. Samuel A. B. Mercer, formerly a professor in Western Theological seminary, Evanston. In making the announcement of his discoveries upon his return from his search, Dr. Mercer stated that the manuscripts include the book of Ecclesiastes and probably date from the 13th century. The earliest previously known manuscripts of this book are of the 15th century.

Dr. Mercer's expedition was undertaken to search for biblical and liturgical writings and to study liturgical usages as they are practiced in Abyssinia today. He was also interested in the ethnological study of the present day population and made an exhaustive search for epigraphical material on the ancient city sites of the country.

The former Chicago professor stated that the expedition was greatly hampered by war conditions. He declared that he is convinced that Abyssinia still hides many important writings which would be of great value for present day study if a search for them were to be made. Dr. Mercer urged the organization of a new expedition to follow his search.

"My most fruitful trip while in Abyssinia," said Dr. Mercer, "was to Addis Alem. It was there that I identified and photographed the best and earliest text of Ecclesiastes known to exist. It will form the basis of a critical text of the book which will soon be undertaken."

Dr. Mercer told of his additional study of the Falasha Jews and learned from them a great deal about their beliefs and origin. He declared that a more extensive study of the Falashas should be made. Dr. Mercer's photographs of the vestments of Abyssinian Christian priests, together with his study of the various liturgical uses in that country reveal customs of historical significance, according to scholars. Dr. Mercer is now professor of Old Testament at Trinity college, Toronto.

De La Salle's Lost Ship Found Wrecked 251 Yrs. After Storm

SEHGUANDAH, Ont., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The water logged hulk of the first commercial vessel to ply the Great lakes has been discovered in Mississagi Strait, off Manitoulin island in Georgian bay.

A commission of three Canadians, after a close inspection of the wrecked craft, announced today they are convinced the vesssel was "Le Griffin," commanded by a Danish pilot named Lucas, which was lost in a storm 251 years ago.

The commission has received permission from the Ontario department of public works to salvage the wreck. The department had denied a similar permit to an expedition from Wyandotte, Mich.

"Le Griffin" was the boat in which Rene Robert Cavelier Sieur de La Salle, expected to find an opening from the great lakes to the Mississippi river. After sailing Lakes Erie and Huron, La Salle in 1679 took on a load of furs at Washington island, Lake Michigan and started it back to Niagara.

The vessel was last seen as gales drove it through the Straits of Mackinac. Later La Salle, who had continued down Lake Michigan seeking a route to the Mississippi, made a circuit of Lake Huron but aside from small bits of wreckage, could find no trace of the craft.

Several expeditions have searched for the wreck of the Griffin in recent years and a number of sunken hulks have been examined without avail.

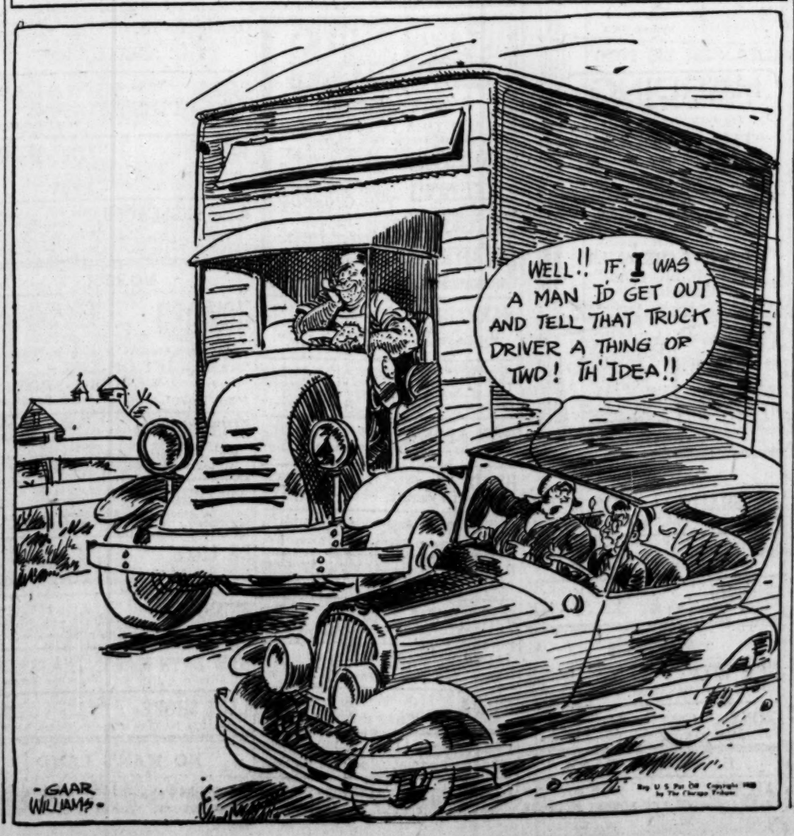
A STRAIN ON THE FAMILY TIE



Keep Trimly Shod Feet and Ankles on Permanent Parade

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Some one commenting on our "hard times" says that we Americans cannot know what hard times really are—not as the foreign poor know it, not as our early settlers knew it. Attention was directed to the shoe and stocking bill of the humblest little working girl. She is not confined to one pair of shoes nor to two pairs of stockings.

And as the income is raised the more money goes into keeping the feet well shod, until you have a good salaried individual with a half dozen pairs of shoes, at least, and her stocking drawer consistently well filled. You have shoes for the blue ensemble, shoes for the black, and so on. Anyway, you have shoes that should not be left about to be kicked around on the closet floor. That's what we are getting at today—not only extending the life but preserving the beauty of the foot coverings so that the feet shall be on parade all of the time.

It was observed by a friend the other day that you see comparatively few pedestrians with run down heels any more. But while she talked we looked—and a few passing heels put rather a crimp in the statement. The higher the heel, it was noted, the more the tendency was to run over, and with the running over in every case was a noticeable wide spread of the shoe at the heel.

But to get back to preservation of shoes for constant trigness of appearance. First, you want to get the habit of slipping trees into shoes immediately they are removed from the feet. Then place the shoes at a point near the window, where they can get a good airing before they are put into closet or shoebox or laid on the door shoe rack. While the leather is warm and flexible is the time to remold the shape with trees. Walking shoes or street shoes are best adapted to the foot shaped wooden trees. The lighter shoes may be gently reshaped with flexible trees or those heart shaped velvet pads that you can buy cheaply now.

The cardboard box into which you can put separate pairs of shoes in four or six or eight drawers are the neatest disposition of them. Or you may prefer the closet door rack. It does not matter which, so long as the shoes are put away carefully between wearings.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Seeks Smaller Chair.

"An elderly woman I know is crippled and has difficulty getting about the house. She cannot use a wheel chair because it would be too large to get through the doorways but an ordinary arm chair would be fine for her. Perhaps we could put casters on it and she could push it around herself. Do you think you could get an arm chair, not a rocker, through your column? E. L."

Surely, this is a simple request and one which a number of you should be able to fill. The chair will mean new freedom and comfort for the unfortunate woman.

Sally Regrets That Summer Parties Near End for This Year

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Are you as grieved as I am, boys and girls, at the news that our summer parties are drawing to a close? However, having as delightful a day as we are planning for the last one removes a bit of the sting and, of course, theres' always the happy and solacing thought of next summer and more good time.

Our farewell frolic on Thursday afternoon, which includes the Marx Brothers' picture, "Animal Crackers," now being shown at McVicker's theater, strikes me as being a proper and fitting one, for it means the jolliest kind of a time. There is rare comedy, excellent singing and dancing, Harpo's music, Chico's performance on the piano, and much clowning by that inimitable quartet, the Marx brothers themselves. One couldn't ask for more in the way of entertainment for this picture includes such a variety of it, every one is bound to be pleased.

Your invitation has been mailed to you if you were a winner and the postman will be bringing it to you almost any minute now.

Food Talk.

Next to milk eggs are one of the most important protein foods in the diet of the growing child. And the most nutritious part is the yolk, which is highest of all food excepting fish oils in anti-rachitic value [vitamin D]. According to the most recent theories of child nutrition, babies of 6 months should be fed egg yolk daily. As the child grows older the whole egg may be fed. Any mother who gives her child one egg yolk daily need have no fear of rickets.

Eggs continue to be a valuable food throughout life. While they are lacking in calcium and vitamin C, they are rich in growth promoting substances. They are good sources of vitamins A, B, and D and the minerals, phosphorus and iron. The protein of egg is of excellent quality and bears a close resemblance to that of milk. Both are complete proteins, independently capable of supporting growth and valuable in increasing to the full efficiency protein not so valuable, such as the protein of cereals. But eggs should never take the place of milk. Rather, they should be used as a supplement.

In planning the daily diet, eggs although expensive at times, should be included. On a limited income the children should be given eggs at least three or four times weekly. Adults may receive them less frequently.

As a food, eggs may be used in a myriad of combinations. Like milk, we may use them in the preparation of many tempting foods all the way from soup to dessert. Fried, scrambled, boiled, poached, shirred, creamed, and coddled, they may furnish the main protein dish of the meal. But no matter how we prepare them or how we may disguise or adorn them, eggs retain their place at the top of the list of nutritious foods.

CODDLED EGGS.

Do you coddle eggs? I presume that many of you do and know how delicious they are. In case some of you do not know, I am giving the instructions. The method is exceedingly simple: Have a two quart sauce pan almost full of boiling water. Put six eggs in it and let them remain there for six minutes.

Treated in this manner, the whites and yolks have the same consistency. Both are thoroughly cooked, but the white is not so hard and indigestible as it is when actually boiled.

Last of Bar Visitors Leave Chicago for East

The last of the American Bar association delegates and guests who had lingered in Chicago for social and sightseeing attractions, left Chicago yesterday on two sections of the Liberty limited of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Snap out of it!

DON'T stand for the ball and chain of sickness. It isn't natural for you to feel low, depressed, tired! Your doctor will tell you that what holds most people back is internal poisoning—we all have it—but that there's a sure, easy way to avoid this.

You won't get those sickening waste poisons out of your system by dosing with strong cathartics or drugs. They give you only temporary relief. But if you will steadily use the inexpensive Nujol treatment you will find that in a few days your body will be freed to work and play at full power. Crystal-clear Nujol is nothing but internal lubrication which your body needs like any other intricate machine. It is colorless and tasteless as pure water.

Make up your mind to get some fun out of life! Throw away the blue spectacles! Begin Nujol tonight!

P. L. Coonleys to Spend Part of Winter Here

BY THALIA ——.

It is pleasant to realize that the Caroline L. Coonleys still identify themselves with Chicago society, despite the fact that they have been residents of New York for several years, since their removal to the east they have kept in constant touch with their friends here, and have entertained a number of them at Folly farm, their lovely summer estate in the Berkshires at Great Barrington, Mass.

Now they are planning to spend part of the winter in Chicago in order that their younger daughter, Miss Eleanor Coonley, may make her debut here. She is to be presented with her sister, Miss Constance Hasler, daughter of Mrs. Edward L. Hasler, at a tea and reception on Sept. 13 at the Hasler residence in Lake Forest.

The debutantes will be assisted during the afternoon by a group of contemporary buds, including Miss Hortense Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Huntington B. Henry; Miss Beatrice Kirk, the Walter R. Kirk's daughter; Miss Elsa Armour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour; Miss Caroline Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon A. Smith, and Miss Corinne Brewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Harris Brewer.

Mrs. Walter S. Brewster will give a dinner dance following the tea at her Lake Forest residence for the debutantes and their assistants and escorts. Miss Coonley is a graduate of the Hutton school in Massachusetts. She joined her sister, Miss Alice Coonley, returned to Great Barrington recently after a month's stay at a ranch in Montana. Miss Alice Coonley made her debut in Lake Forest in 1925 and was presented last year at the Court of St. James's in London.

Miss Husler attended Westover and studied last year at Mlle. Le Boucher's school in Paris. She traveled in Europe with her mother, who is Mrs. Coonley's sister, after the close of the school term this summer, and spent some time with the Coonleys at Great Barrington before returning to Chicago in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr. are to give a garden party next Sunday afternoon at Castle Hill, their estate at Ipswich, Mass., for their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Crane, and for their daughter, Miss Florence Crane. Invitations have been issued to 400. The Cranes are also to give a dinner dance on Sept. 6 for the young Cranes and Miss Florence.

Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw of 1550 Lake View avenue and her daughter, Miss Frances Theodora Shaw, who have been abroad since June, are expected to be back in Chicago shortly after Labor day.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Cushing of Lake Forest are spending a fortnight in the east. They were at the Ambassador hotel in New York City for several days last week.

Mrs. Frederic Ives Carpenter of 1133 Woodlawn avenue and Mrs. Frank Hugh Montgomery of 5545 Woodlawn avenue were passengers on the liner Minnewaska, which arrived in New Yourk yesterday from London and Cherbourg.

One of the principal social affairs of last weeks in the Thousand Islands was the party Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McNally of Evanston gave at the Thousand Islands Yacht club. Their son, Andrew McNally III., gave a dressed-up-baby party for the younger people. Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Noble of Greenwich, Conn., won the first prize for costumes. Miss Florence Lowden, who is with her parents, the Frank O. Lowdens, at their summer home, and Miss Virginia Vilas, who has been visiting the McNallys, were among the Chicagoans among the guests.

Miss Anne Schuttler was at the Wianno club at Wianno on Cape Cod last week for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Farnum are as their guest at Sun Dial cottage, their summer place at Magnolia, Mass., Mrs. Anthony Haswell of Dayton, O.

Mr. and Mrs. Rush C. Butler will spend next week-end and Labor day at the Lawaonia Country club at Green Lake, Wisconsin. The Riverhills team of Milwaukee is to play some exhibition polo games at Lawsonia on Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Ford Rodman Carter Jr. of 1210 Ritchie court has returned from Europe and will spend about ten days in New York before coming to Chicago.

Mrs. Herman Baker of the Windermere East hotel has returned from Europe with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Krakeur, to their home at Neck, L. I.

L. Coonleys Spend Part of Winter Here

BY THALIA

It is pleasant to realize that the Mr. L. Coonleys still identify themselves with Chicago society, despite the fact that they have been residents of New York for several years. Since their removal to the east they have kept in constant touch with their friends here, and have entertained a number of them at Folly farm, their summer estate in the Berkshires near Barrington, Mass.

Now they are planning to spend part of the winter in Chicago in order that their younger daughter, Miss Joyce Coonley, may make her debut here. She is to be presented with her cousin, Miss Constance Hasler, daughter of Mrs. Edward L. Hasler, at a formal reception on Sept. 13 at the Hasler residence in Lake Forest. The debutantes will be assisted during the afternoon by a group of constance buds, including Miss Horton Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horton B. Henry; Miss Beatrice Kirk, the Walter R. Kirk's daughter; Miss Elsa Armour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour; Miss Ellen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon A. Smith, and Miss Joyce Brewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Harris Brewer.

Mrs. Walter S. Brewster will give a dance following the tea at her Lake Forest residence for the debutantes and their assistants and escorts. Miss Coonley is a graduate of the Miss school in Massachusetts. She and her sister, Miss Alice Coonley, returned to Great Barrington recently after a month's stay at a ranch in Montana. Miss Alice Coonley made her debut in Lake Forest in 1925 and presented last year at the Court of St. James's in London.

Mrs. Hasler attended Westover and Miss last year at Mlle. Le Boucher's school in Paris. She traveled in Europe with her mother, who is Mrs. Coonley's sister, after the close of the school term this summer, and spent several weeks with the Coonleys at Great Barrington before returning to Chicago in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr. will give a garden party next Sunday afternoon at Castle Hill, their estate at Ipswich, Mass., for their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Crane, and for their daughter, Miss Florence Crane. Invitations have been issued to 400. The Cranes are to give a dinner dance on Sept. 4 for the young Cranes and Miss Crane.

Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw of Lake View avenue and her sister, Miss Frances Theodora Shaw, who have been abroad since June, are expected to be back in Chicago shortly after Labor day.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Cushing of Lake Forest are spending a fortnight in the east. They were at the Plaza hotel in New York City several days last week.

Mrs. Frederic Ives Carpenter of 1 Woodlawn avenue and Mrs. Hugh Montgomery of 5548 Kenwood avenue were passengers on the liner Minnewaska, which arrived in New York yesterday from London and Cherbourg.

Many of the principal social affairs of the next weeks in the Thousand Islands will be the party Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McNally of Evanston gave at the Thousand Islands Yacht club. Their son, Andrew McNally III., gave a coming-of-age baby party for the younger set. Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Noble of Greenwich, Conn., won the prizes for costumes. Miss Florence Noble, who is with her parents, the Hugh O. Lowdens, at their summer home, and Miss Virginia Vilas, who have been visiting the McNallys, were among the Chicagoans among the guests.

Miss Anne Schuttler was at the Blue Hill club at Wianno on Cape Cod last week for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Farnum are at their guest at Sun Dial cottage, their summer place at Magnolia, Mass. Mrs. Anthony Haswell of Dayton, O., is also a guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Rush C. Butler will spend next week-end and Labor day at the Kenosha Country club at Green Bay, Wisconsin. The Riverhills team of Milwaukee is to play some exhibition polo games at Lawsonia on Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Fred Rodman Carter Jr. of Hinsdale court has returned from Maine and will spend about ten days in New York before coming to Chicago.

Mr. Herman Baker of the Windermere East hotel has returned from Europe with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Krakeur, at Great Neck, L. I.

Applause for Music Festival Is Echoing Still Through Mails

The audience of more than 150,000 people who attended the Chicagoland Music Festival concert program Saturday night in Soldiers' field is growing daily, in a manner of speaking, as witness the hundreds of letters pouring into THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE bringing praise for the radio broadcast over W-G-N, the Tribune radio station, and through the National Broadcasting company nation-wide hookup.

Added to the letters of congratulation also are envelopes containing money for the admittance of persons who entered free when, owing to the crush, the gates were thrown open.

Mrs. J. F. Colburn, 2606 West 63d street, writes:

"Inclosed is money order for 50 cents for admission into the musical Saturday for my son and myself. We happened to be among those who were in line to go in without a ticket, due, I understand, to the fact that you could not serve the crowd fast enough. Knowing that, I feel it is my duty to send you the 50 cents."

Mrs. Colburn was greatly helped by the concert. She tells of her having some worries, and then states: "I had within me a spirit of fear and mistrust, but after attending the Tribune Musical I have born within me an entirely new life. I feel that after seeing such a crowd and hearing all of them sing together proves to me that all the people need is the right kind of a leader, and you must be a good one; you have with you the right spirit or you could not have been such a magnet."

The Hammond Lake County Times, one of the newspapers in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Michigan associated with THE TRIBUNE in the Chicagoland Festival, is proud of the honor of carrying away more awards than any other city in the festival. Sidmon McHie, publisher of this daily, is exceedingly proud of the musicians in Hammond and towns and villages in Lake county.

To read letters commending THE TRIBUNE on the festival would be to take an imaginary trip throughout the United States. One letter comes from Frank E. Strom, 400 5th street, Brooklyn, N. Y., reading: "Your Chicagoland Music Festival tonight certainly did stagger the imagination and thrill us through and through."

The organization receiving the greatest number of telegrams Saturday night was the winning Cedar Falls, Ia., city band. Everybody in Cedar Falls and in Waterloo took time out that night to send their congratulations to the musicians. Among those who wired were the Waterloo Tribune, the paper sponsoring the trip to Chicago; M. J. Morgan, mayor of Waterloo; Mayor Cross of Cedar Falls, and H. T. Wagner, sheriff at Waterloo.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Henry Symes Lehr is expected back on Wednesday from Newport, where she has been the guest of Mrs. Lawrence T. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Schumacher will introduce their daughter, Miss Mary Schumacher, at a dinner-dance at Sherry's on Dec. 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gawtry and Miss Olive Van R. Gawtry have arrived from their summer home at Huntington, L. I., and are at the Ambassador for a short stay.

Mrs. John J. McCook will return from Virginia Hot Springs next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sloan returned from Europe on the North German Lloyd liner today.

Mrs. William A. Kissam, who returned recently from Europe, had guests at luncheon in the summer garden of the Plaza.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—The secretary of state and Mrs. Stimson, who have been for some weeks in their summer home on Long island and in Canada, are returning here tomorrow. They will be among the hosts for foreign visitors who came for the American Bar association meetings. The foreign lawyers, etc., will arrive here tomorrow for a three days' visit.

Princess de Ligne, wife of the Belgian ambassador, and their daughter, Princess Elizabeth returned tonight from Newport. They were entertained at dinner last night in Newport by Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt.

Gen. John J. Pershing, who landed in New York yesterday, will come to Washington this week before going west.

Col. and Mrs. Mark Brooke arrived here this morning from Jamestown, R. I., to be present at the funeral tomorrow of Mrs. Brooke's mother, the widow of Commander Francis M. Gunnell, late surgeon general U. S. N., which will take place tomorrow at Arlington. Mrs. Brooke was formerly Miss Marie Barnes.

First U. S. Kindergarten, Lacking Pupils, Will Quit

New Harmony, Ind., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—There will be no kindergarten this fall in New Harmony, the community that first taught America how to educate its children. There are not enough children here now to warrant continuing the children's school, started in 1825 by Robert Owen.

Children started attending the first kindergarten at the age of 2 and stayed twenty-four hours a day until they were "graduated" at the age of 5. Tuition for nonresidents was $100, and resident children were admitted free. Children came from New York, Philadelphia, and all parts of Kentucky, Indiana, and Illinois. They had no vacation, as the school lasted the year round. Under the laws of the colony, the children became the property of the community.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 25.—The following Americans registered today at the Paris bureau of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE: From Chicago—Oscar Olson, Max Riese, Edna Riese, Virginia Decker, Virginia Berry, Mrs. George Schweitzer, Mr. and Mrs. Felis Simon. From other places—Pearl Friedman, Newark, N. Look Ahead to Changing Years of Middle Teens

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

Do you realize the need for preparedness in connection with the children? Haven't you noticed how much it helps to be ready ahead of time, in almost anything concerning them

"The next time Billy has a tantrum," you say to yourself, "I'll be prepared. I won't make the mistake I did last week. In the first place, I won't let him get overtired if I can help it. But if he does get so, I won't choose that time to discipline him. If he is almost exhausted, as he always is after a day at the Jones', I'll soft pedal and overlook everything, because the poor baby isn't responsible."

Or you may say to yourself or write to me, "my baby is only six months old, but I want to be ready when she is old enough to ask me where babies come from and questions like that. It is hard to meet difficult things when they're sprung at you and you're not prepared."

Such preparedness is wise and many mothers are trying to keep at least one lap ahead. But there is a general opinion among those who have a perspective on mothers and children that parents are especially unprepared for one phase of growth in their children—that is the time is their children's lives from about 12 to about 18—the age known as adolescence. And it is the middle of this period that seems to be the hardest.

At 12 and 13 the little child in boys and girls predominates, while at 17 and 18 many young people have gained poise and understanding of themselves. But it's the time in between—those middle teens—that are the most puzzling to parents. It is their very bewilderment over the entirely natural changes in their boys and girls that causes parents to make mistakes that are often serious in their results. Too much babying, too great restraint or the opposite too great freedom—these are a few of the results of not sensing the meaning of adolescence.

Federated Charities Plan for Tag Day Monday, Sept. 6

Chicago will be urged to have a heart on Monday, Sept. 8. On that day the Chicago Federated Charities will attempt to raise $100,000 for the maintenance of forty institutions. Thousands of women and girls will sell tags on the busy street corners of Chicago and suburbs.

Have-a-heart tag day is one of the tag days endorsed by the association of commerce and the city council, and is a hundred per cent charity. At the close of the day's sales, the boxes are taken unopened to the First National bank. There the contents are counted and checks disbursed to the presidents of the various charities in proportion to the amount collected by each group's workers.

Among the institutions to benefit are Lydia Children's home, Northwest Side Sisters of Charity, Life Boat Rescue home, Chicago Consumptive Aid society, Chicago Industrial Home for Children, Independent Sisters of Charity, Martha Washington Home for Crippled Children, Service Council for Girls, and St. Columbkille's day nursery. Miss L. Ellen Babcock is president of the Chicago Federated Charities.

Secretary Davis Retires as Active Moose Official

Sharon, Pa., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, now Republican nominee for United States Senator, today retired as an active official of the Loyal Order of Moose.

The secretary of labor will continue, however, as a member of the endowment fund committee and of the board of governors.

Paris Tailors the Chiffon Ensemble

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Half of chic consists in using ordinary stuff in an extraordinary way. Give most women a few yards of chiffon and they will evolve something fluffy and frilly in the way of a costume. It's instinct and they can't get away from it. That is why the new Paris way of making chiffon into tailored ensembles is so thrilling and so extremely distinguished. Nobody but an expert can make this cloth that is at most no heavier than a summer mist behave like heavy man's wear woolen.

Molyneux, one of the best, if not the best hand at tailored creations in Paris, started this business of tailoring chiffon, and he has created one of his smartest tailored chiffon evening ensembles for Mary Garden. It is shown in the sketch. Tulips, bigger than the most grandiose dream of a horticulturist, are scattered over a pearl gray ground, and the tulips themselves are in black, gray, and mauve. The jacket of this ensemble, which may be worn for both afternoon and evening, is cut on the lines of a frock coat. A bolero back is added from shoulders to waistline, in the interests of grace, and the long sleeves are flared from the elbow with petaled borders. There is a flat, tailored collar at the cutaway closing.

The frock has a double bodice, the inner one fitted like an underslip and the outer bloused at the normal waistline and tied in a big chiffon bow in front, below the deep V decolleté. The skirt is quite plain, and flared from the hips by circular cutting, so that it is wide around the hem, although it does not stand out. The hem is petaled.

DOROTHY DULIN PARIS

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Heat and drouth have been an aid in one way at least to the farmers in the eastern portions of the corn belt. There the entomologists of the United States department of agriculture have found that unusual weather conditions have curtailed the number of the corn borers through destroying many moths and reducing the number of eggs that the surviving moths were able to lay.

At the same time the federal men are receiving reports that the same conditions have increased the number of mosquitoes along creek and river beds where the shallow, slow running water has proved ideal for hatching out new crops of the pests and in many places forming half dried pools of mud suitable to the mosquito for propagation.

Dr. A. L. Quaintance, associate chief of the bureau, says: "The complexity of the problem makes it hard to draw conclusions as to the effect of weather on pest populations because temperature and moisture are so intimately associated with parasitism, variations in food supplies for these pests, alternate hosts and competing animals, including insects."

He does, however, say that the Mexican bean beetle, which was pointed to early this spring as a threat to certain crops because it came through the winter in such unusual numbers, was reduced to a negligible factor due to high ground temperatures more than the drouth. Aphids, which suck plant juices, are less numerous, he says.

Konjola

MRS. ALICE JOZWIAK
3618 N. Nordica Ave., Chicago

... wonder why this new medicine has won more than a million friends?

The answer is simple ... Konjola makes good in case after case wherein all else tried has failed. Tens of thousands have indorsed Konjola willingly just to show their gratitude. One of these is Mrs. Alice Jozwiak, a lifelong resident of Chicago. She says:

"I had stomach trouble for seven years, with gas, heart pressure and severe pains after meals. At night I would have to get up and take something for temporary relief. Every morning I spit up a sour, hot liquid, and this was accompanied by a burning sensation from stomach to throat. But Konjola ended all this. I am eating as I should; have no indigestion, and am sleeping fine."

Buy Konjola at any Drug Store.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Uncle's Joke.

The telephone rang and I quickly answered it, expecting it to be the fellow I was engaged to. Instead, it was my uncle, who quickly realized my mistake and carried on the deception. I was not suspicious and invited him over to the house. The time came for his arrival and he didn't show up; another hour passed and nobody came but my uncle. Soon my boy friend called up and I quite angrily told him a few things. He tried to explain that he hadn't called but I gave him no time for explanation and hung up. My uncle heard it all and after I hung up explained the joke. I felt ashamed of myself for my actions, but my boy friend took it good naturedly and laughed at my error. M. L.

ADDISON MOORE, U. C. EDUCATOR, DIES IN LONDON

Stricken After Auto Tour of Continent.

Addison W. Moore, (4 years old, professor emeritus of philosophy of the University ... Chicago, died yesterday afternoon in London, England, of pneumonia following a paralytic stroke, it was disclosed in cable dispatches. He had just completed a 6,000 mile automobile tour of the continent.

His associates often referred to Mr. Moore as "a self-made professor." Coming to the University of Chicago in 1894 as a graduate student, he remained to advance through the various grades of assistant, instructor, etc., until in 1909, he won a full professorship. He was born in Plainfield, Ill., July 30, 1866, and was educated at De Pauw and Cornell universities. He had lectured on philosophy at Harvard, contributed to many magazines, and was the author of one book, "Pragmatism and Its Critics."

In 1891 he married Ella E. Adams of Terre Haute, Ind. She died in March of 1924. They had one daughter, Catherine Adams, who is the wife of Prof. Maurice Picard of the department of philosophy, Dartmouth.

Because of ill health, Prof. Moore resigned his chair in logic and metaphysics at the university and was made professor emeritus. He spent a winter in Florida and then left for his motor tour of Europe.

Prof. Moore arrived in London two weeks ago. He planned to attend the international philosophical congress, which opens at Oxford next week. The paralytic stroke sent him to a London nursing home, where pneumonia developed.

Prof. James H. Tufts, chairman of the department of philosophy, said that Prof. Moore was an unusually high type of educator. "He preferred stimulating his students to think, rather than simply lecturing them," said Prof. Tufts. "His classes were always open for argument and discussion."

W. R. SPILLMAN, CHIEF POSTAL INSPECTOR, DIES

Rangeley, Me., Aug. 25.—(AP)—William R. Spillman, chief postal inspector and superintendent of the postoffice service of the United States, was stricken with a heart attack while vacationing here today and died before a physician could attend him.

Spillman was at a picnic midway between Rangeley and Oquossoc when stricken. He was taken by boat across the lake to Pickford's camps, where he died just before a physician arrived.

Dr. Thomas P. Shaw, 86, Authority on Law, Dies

Lowell, Mass., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Dr. Thomas P. Shaw, 86, a distinguished authority on both medicine and law, and former tutor to the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, died here today after having spent the last forty years of his life in a wheel chair, a helpless cripple, due to a fall which injured his spine.

In a collision between two automobiles on a highway near Benton Harbor, Mich., Reuben Goldberg, 45 years old, 3707 Montrose avenue, was killed and six others injured. Berrien county police said Goldberg was driving on the wrong side of the road.

WILL BURY DUKE WITH ROYAL POMP IN WESTMINSTER

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The duke of Northumberland, who died on Saturday, will be buried in Westminster Abbey on Wednesday.

Since the days of Charles the Second this house—the great house of Percy—has shared only with the royal family the right of burial within the abbey. The right has not always been exercised, but 37 members of the house have been buried within the famous precincts.

The chapel of St. Nicholas, in which is the Percy vault, is closed today pending preparations for interment. The duke's body is to be granted the right of ceremonial entry by the great west door—a right ordinarily reserved for royalty.

Gaylor N. Saltzgaber, 85, Former G.A.R. Head, Dead

Van Wert, O.—(AP)—Gaylor M. Saltzgaber, 85, United States commissioner of pensions under President Wilson and national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1923, died today.

JOHN R. GORDON, U. S. EMERGENCY FLEET HEAD, DIES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26 (Tuesday).—(AP)—John R. Gordon, president of the Emergency Fleet corporation, died late last night in Garfield hospital following an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Gordon had been ill about a week.

He became president of the fleet corporation last year at the time the office was separated from the presidency of the shipping board. The corporation is the operating agency of the board.

RENEW PROTEST TO ALCOCK ON REED POLICE JOB

The Citizens' Association of Chicago yesterday renewed its protest to Acting Police Commissioner Alcock against the appointment of John P. Reed as assistant chief operator in the police department. In answer to a letter from Alcock explaining that the appointment had been made in the "customary manner in which temporary positions are filled," Shelby Singleton, secretary of the association, wrote:

"In accordance with your suggestion we have called the matter to the attention of the civil service commission and have pointed out the desirability of holding an examination immediately for the position of assistant chief operator. In the meantime the Citizens' association renews its suggestion that, as a matter of common decency, Reed should not be reappointed at the expiration of the sixty day period for which he was appointed by you on July 7."

In a previous letter of the association it was pointed out that Reed had been charged in 1925 with retaining excessive fees from police widows for the collection of pension money.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—An inventory of the late earl of Balfour's estate gives the gross value of the movable estate as $790,575, and the gross value at $1,395,575. According to Scottish law, movable property is that which passes to the executor-in-succession and is removable. It comprises such things as money and furniture. The heritage comprises such things as land and houses which go to the heirs-in-succession.

GIRL WHO DIED BY POISON HERE BURIED IN EAST

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Marjorie Angermeier, who ended her life by taking poison in Chicago last week when she realized her romance with Lord Montagu had been broken, was buried here today in Woodlawn cemetery. Funeral services were held this morning from St. Mark's Episcopal church in Jersey City.

Lord Montague Denies Romance.

EDMONTON, Alberta, Aug. 25.—A denial that he had ever given Miss Margaret Angermeier, who killed herself in Chicago, any cause to believe he loved her, was given here today by Lord Montagu.

"I met Miss Angermeir two years ago in New York," he declared. "I regarded her merely as a friendly acquaintance.

"It is ridiculous to speak of a love affair."

More than a year ago Lord Montagu married Miss Norah Potter, an Edmonton girl. They have a baby daughter.

Boy Born with Heart on Wrong Side Dies at 17

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Born with his heart no the wrong side, Mike Callos, 17, confounded physicians by living an active life until yesterday. The abnormal organ finally weakened and he died. Although the boy's heart never functioned normally, he went through grammar school and continued at high school until last fall, when his condition prevented further studies. His heart beat slowed down steadily and last night ceased altogether.

ANNA GEIL, 92, RESIDENT HERE 74 YEARS, DIES

Mrs. Anna Geil, who died Sunday morning at the age of 92 after witnessing three-quarters of a century of Chicago's growth, is to be buried Wednesday beside her husband in Graceland cemetery.

Mrs. Geil, who passed away at her home, 4543 North Seeley avenue, came to America from Austria in a sail boat in 1856. She came directly to Chicago and resided here continuously until her death. Two children, six grandchildren, and three great grandchildren survive.

JUSTICE STEVENS OF WISCONSIN'S HIGH COURT DIES

Madison, Wis., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Justice E. Ray Stevens of the Wisconsin Supreme court died early today at his home here. Doctors said a heart attack precipitated by an illness of a few days caused death. He was 61 years old.

He is survived by the widow, Kate Sabin Stevens, and two sons, Myron R., an attorney here, and Henry S., a law student at the University of Arizona.

Charmean, Aged 19, Wants a Husband, Home, Children

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"First of all, I want a man, young, tall, and strong to take care of me and love me more than anything else in the world," writes a lonely, disillusioned girl of 19 (self-described).

"Second, I want a real home with a yard and flowers and a fireplace. And two children that I can mother. Do you think it is old fashioned for a girl to want these things?

"CHARMEAN."

Not any more old fashioned, Charmean, than wanting food or fresh air or an education or a good job; or anything to make life pleasanter. You may have to compromise on the yard and the flowers and the fireplace for a few years, anyway, and be content with a small apartment. Yet that may not be necessary, either, if you are willing to go suburban and simple suburban, if necessary. You make the real home—not the walls or its furnishings do that. Equipped with the perfectly normal and lovable desires you speak for yourself as having there is no reason why you can't have all the things you want, unless the fates are unkind.

You see you have the advantage of being able to express aloud what you want, even to the children, a frank mama to have expressed at nineteen. Also, you can go out and get what your heart is set on getting, another advantage of your generation.

I'm convinced that a young woman who knows what she wants in life and bestirs herself to get out and get it stands more than an even chance of coming off victorious. Especially if youth is hers and she has a reasonable endowment of charm and brains. Unquestionably the time to set out with a home and garden, fireplace, and children before twenty-five ambition is when you are young. Your house dream may not come true at once, but if you hold it and you get a fair break on the man you can pretty nearly count on it.

However, not by pampering yourself into a "lonely, disillusioned girl of nineteen" are you going to have any part of your dream come true. You have to believe to make things materialize. You have to believe in yourself, in young men, and the more of this you can bring to the places where young men are met the surer you are to attract the type of nice some darling you are looking for as the big feature of the dream.

Quits U. S. Service, Joins Movies' Foreign Staff

Paris, Aug. 25.—(AP)—F. W. Allport, commercial attaché at the American embassy here, resigned today to represent American motion picture interests in Paris. He probably will conclude the negotiations with German companies begun some time ago to settle patent differences.

Patterns by Clotilde

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMEN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

The bodice of this attractive looking dress is wrapped in tuxedo style, using a contrasting color for the straight collar, and the long moulded line makes it especially desirable for the larger woman. The curved seaming of the joining of the bodice to the circular skirt does much towards minimizing the width through the hips. Wool jersey, crêpe de chine, flat silk crêpe, and challis are smart materials.

The pattern, 2560, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 2¾ yards of 39 inch material with ¼ yard of 27 inch contrasting.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Too Young.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 20 and go with a girl of 17. She feels we are too young to think of being serious. Please do advise.

"MICKEY."

Just Kidding.

"Dear Miss Blake: The fellow I love says I am very cute, but never asks me for a date. Does he care?

"DREAMY EYES."

TREAT that corn intelligently

"Good skin gone wrong:" so doctors describe a corn. To cure it, get rid of the disturber without harming the tender tissues beneath. For 30 years Blue-jay has been the recognized safe, gentle 3-day treatment for banishing corns. It ends pain, guards the sensitive spot from pressure. Made by a noted producer of surgical dressings. At all druggists. 6 for 25c.

REPOSSESSED USED CARS Sold at Only a Fraction of Their Value!

MICHIGAN-FEDERAL FINANCE COMPANY
LIQUIDATING EVERY FORECLOSED CAR

THE STUDEBAKER SALES CO. OF CHICAGO has agreed to act as seller of all the foreclosed cars of the Michigan-Federal Finance Co. These cars will be disposed of regardless of original cost, and at prices that will enable you to make a sensational saving.

NASH ROADSTER, 1927, with rumble seat, bumpers, snubbers, spare tire, etc. The motor is very efficient and the appearance is snappy. $295.

AUBURN 8 SEDAN, 1929 that was owned by a wealthy family in connection with five other cars. This Auburn was driven very little, so it's in new car condition today. $795.

BUICK SEDAN, 1929 Mast. 6 that is an exceptional bargain if there ever was one. Only driven a few thousand miles and your neighbors would not tell it from a brand new Buick today. Has side mounts and several wood wheels. $845.

STUDEBAKER BROUGHAM, 1930 Commander 8 that was only driven a few thousand miles. It's finished a smart canary yellow with black trimming. It's in such good condition that it carries a new car guarantee. Has wire wheels, fender wells, and very essential extra. Offered at a very low saving.

DODGE SEDAN. This car must be seen to be appreciated. The motor runs smoothly as quietly and the upholstery, tires, and finish like new. $170.

DIANA 8 SEDAN. Here is a distinguished looking car that still has years of satisfactory performance in it. Painted an attractive two-tone green. Many extras. $395.

STUDEBAKER VICTORIA, Spec. 6. From the standpoint of performance and appearance this car will satisfy you in every respect. The tires, finish, and upholstery are in splendid condition. $95.

HUDSON BROUGHAM. This is the last word for sparkling performance and attractive appearance. Has every essential extra. $165.

NASH COUPE, Std. 6 that is finished in maroon. The owner of this car only used it to drive to the golf courses and back. Consequently it is splendid condition today. 4 wht. brakes and many extras. $185

PEERCE-ARROW TOURING. Here is probably the best open car buy in Chicago. The motor runs very smoothly and every detail of its appearance and interior is in splendid shape. Many extras. $195.

PACKARD SEDAN. Here is an expensive car at an inexpensive price. Was chauffeur driven so it's in topnotch condition now. Has a wealth of extra equipment. $195.

OAKLAND COACH. A school teacher owned this car and she drove it very carefully. We checked over the motor, equipped it with new tires, and priced unbelievably low for quick sale. 4 whl. brakes and many extras. $250.

CADILLAC SEDAN. 7 pass. that was owned in by an elderly couple who gave it unusual care. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. It will give you new car satisfaction today. $350.

STUDEBAKER DICTATOR. Late 5 pass. Sedan that will stand the most exacting inspection you could make. The blue finish is like new, as it were freshly applied, and the upholstery is expensive mohair. Motor by Al. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire. $450.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER SEDAN. 1929 that's absolutely 100% throughout, equipped with shock absorbers, driving mist bumpers, spare tire, etc. It's a beauty and will look just long as your special request price of $495.

CHRYSLER CABRIOLET. Late Conv. mod. with a spacious rumble seat, and a wealth of extras. Has an attractive paint job and the upholstery appears unworn. New tires. $345.

New York, Aug. 26.—[Specia
Early this morning we were very spirited when we saw the fog ept the sunlight in Halifax thought that we should again be layed in arriving at New York. S Reykjavik we have lived for not but this wonderful city. As for I had planned for the flight for years, but I did not tell Zimmer Franz and Fritz until we reached land, because I did not wish authorities to find out and to stop flight.

Last Day the Best.

But, tonight, what I have dre of for a life time is accompli We had a splendid trip today, the of the crossing, except for two h of fog off the Nova Scotian c And then, when we saw New from the air, the immense build the thousands of tiny dots thronged the streets, the busy w ways, it was what we call in th country wunderbar. I followed police plane down and touched water just off what they told me the battery. The landing was difficult, though there were boats in the harbor and I had careful not to let the old plane any driftwood, which is very ous to a seaplane.

Operator Sticks at Key.

But we are here. And now are I want to say how well c stuck at that key in the after co and to tell you how faithfully Hack climbed up each hour of fli look at the thundering motor M. W.6, we call them, 500 horse motors built by the Bavaria works. They are new, but th itself is the same old Dornier-Wal Amundsen and Courtney used. ward Zimmer, one of my stude the Deutsche Verkehrs Fliegers was at the stick with me, and I was navigating Zimmer on the course.

Because the plane is old, w do a lot of what you call im before we started. It is not fortable plane to be in a long The forward part of the hull h anchor and the towing lines a such gear as that. And the pilot's cockpit, Zimmer and by side.

I made all the landings the stick at the takeoffs, too. there is only one throttle and on my side. Back of the pilot' pit was a little place where my navigating gear—the nav cockpit, we call it, though i over—and I had to use t cockpit to take my sights. along a bubble sextant, lots but not enough, as I found four compasses. Three of the magnetic and one was an ea ductor compass, which behave well.

A Wind Driven Generato

Between the navigator's cock the radio cockpit further aft hull, is the tank room, where the gasoline. We could only through there, so we rigged u wires and a carrier so that send messages to Fritz witho ing from the forward part plane. Fritz had his sending wiring gear back there, a wind generator for the sending set auxiliary patrol driven ge Frans Hack, our mechanic, s times in the tank room or in Fritz, and every hour, as I ha would climb up to the great and look them over.

We left List, our little flying on the isle of Sylt in the No last Monday morning, just n ago. I can hardly yet be it seems more like months hours of flying we have sai 4,000 nautical miles; over angry waters, over Greenl those other countries I had c about, and now at last we and it is warm again, alm warm.

When we left Sylt we sh
